HOOVER NEAR OPEN BREAK WITH SENATE

Tieup Perils Tariff and Dry Bills.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 17.—[Special.]—Determined action by the President to break the senate legislative jam that threatens to kill the tariff bill and hamstring the administration's most important legislative program was foreshadowed today by developments that followed swiftly on Mr. Hoover's return from a peaceful Florida fishing expedition.

It is considered highly possible that a three cornered battle with the President and the house lined up on one side and the senate on the other may be the outcome of the present embarrassing legislative situation, which has the senate deadlocked on the tariff and apparently unworried by the impending danger that faces the President's dry legislation.

The failure of administration senators to rush to the defense of Charles Evans Hughes when his confirmation as chief justice was the subject of attack in the senate is regarded as one of the complicating factors that may bring the present situation to a head.

Calls Breakfast Parley.

A personal appeal by Representative John Q. Tilson [Rep., Conn.], majority leader of the house, that the President come to the rescue of the senate situation as followed to disclosures that Mr. Hoover had invited prominent senate and house Republican leaders for a breakfast conference tomorrow.

Among those who have been invited are Senators James E. Watson [Rep., Ind.], Republican floor leader; Reed Smoot [Rep., Utah], chairman of the finance committee and the man in charge of the tariff bill, and Charles L. Hawley [Rep., Ore.] of the committee on agriculture. House leaders include Speaker Nicholas Longworth [Rep., O.], Tilson and Representative Willis C. Hawley [Rep., Ore.] of the house ways and means committee.

Hoover Expects to Act.

Unless a way can be worked out at the meeting to clear up the embarrassing legislative situation which Mr. Tilson complained of to the President today, friends of the President predict that Mr. Hoover will not hesitate to act to save his dry legislation and other important bills now jeopardized. Just what form the President's intervention will take was a matter of speculation tonight.

White House attaches indicated that President Hoover was deeply impressed and concerned over Mr. Tilson's report that the legislative situation in the senate was "the most despicable" that had ever been called to his attention.

The majority leaders told the President that conditions have reached a point where it will soon become useless for the house to pass any more legislation unless the senate gets rid of the tariff and takes up other measures now hanging fire.

House May Take Rest.

It was indicated by Mr. Tilson that the house will pass the remaining four appropriation bills during the next three or four weeks and that it may then take three day recesses until the senate disposes of the accumulation of legislation which already has been sent over from the house. Mr. Tilson entered the hope that congress would be able to adjourn about June 1, but he admitted that little legislation would be enacted unless the senate speeds up.

While Mr. Tilson declined to comment on his talk with President Hoover at the White House he discussed the matter frankly with newspaper men later. Mr. Tilson, the reporters learned, returned from the White House feeling strongly about the senate.

Mr. Tilson said that he had not advised the President as to what he would be able to do to remedy the present situation, but he admitted that he was in the President's position he would speak out and then qualify his statement by saying that if the President said anything on the subject "they" (meaning senators) would bark at him for two weeks.

Cites 3 Day Hughes Debate.

In his talks with newspaper men, which reflected what he had said to the President, Representative Tilson cited the three day debate on the nomination of Mr. Hughes to be chief justice of the United States as an instance of the dilatory procedure in the senate. He would not furnish any estimate of the President's opinion

FUND TO BRIBE OFFICIALS CITED BY PROSECUTOR

Accuses U. S. A. Co. in Plea for Records.

Bribery of public officials from a $1,000,000 fund is charged in an amended petition filed by the state's attorney's office yesterday before Acting Chief Justice John P. McGoorty of the Criminal court, asking for the records of the U. S. A. company, electrical contractors. The company performed considerable work for the sanitary district during the period when, it is charged, the taxpayers' money was spent recklessly.

The bribes, according to the petition of the prosecutor, were in the forms of silver service sets worth $1,700, indoor golf outfits worth $1,000, furniture, movie cameras, and various useful household articles, all listed by the prosecutor.

One incident cited by First Assistant State's Attorney John E. Northup in a plea before the judge, was the alleged purchase of an elaborate silver service set for the wife of one of the district trustees. She was told that if she did not like the "token" it could be exchanged for cash, according to Northup. It is reported the exchange was made.

Books Held by U. S.

Prosecutor Northup has been trying for several weeks to obtain possession of the U. S. A. company books, which are impounded in the United States District court as a result of recent income tax case indictments against George L. Chamberlain, president of the company, and others. The federal authorities will release the books to the state prosecutors on a subpoena duces tecum, if one can be obtained.

Judge McGoorty refused a subpoena last week because the petition was not in the proper legal form. Another petition was filed Saturday and Attorney Thomas D. Nash, representing the U. S. A. company, opposed the motion because of legal technicalities. In his argument yesterday Attorney Nash said that the petition should be denied because it did not set forth sufficient facts to warrant the issuance of a subpoena. It was then that Prosecutor Northup filed his amended document containing the charges.

New Petition Is Filed.

The new petition filed by the prosecutor says, in part:

"Your petition represents that the cash journal contains a record of the bank deposits and the bank withdrawals of the U. S. A. company, and that said cash journal is more necessary for the consideration of the grand jury for the additional reason that George L. Chamberlain, as president of the company, during the last three years, withdrew from the banks more than $1,000,000 in currency checks payable to himself; that the sums were not used for paying material bills or labor bills or other construction costs, but constituted part of a vast sum for the bribery of public officials and for the enrichment of favored contractors and subcontractors of the Sanitary district.

"Your petitioner further says that at least $40,000 of the deposits withdrawn was used in purchasing lavish presents for friends and associates of Chamberlain and that presents ran from fancy and artistic silverware and furniture to indoor golf outfits worth $1,000 each."

Northup Answers Nash.

"Does that sound like a fishing expedition?" Northup asked Attorney Nash as he filed his new petition. Nash had made such a charge.

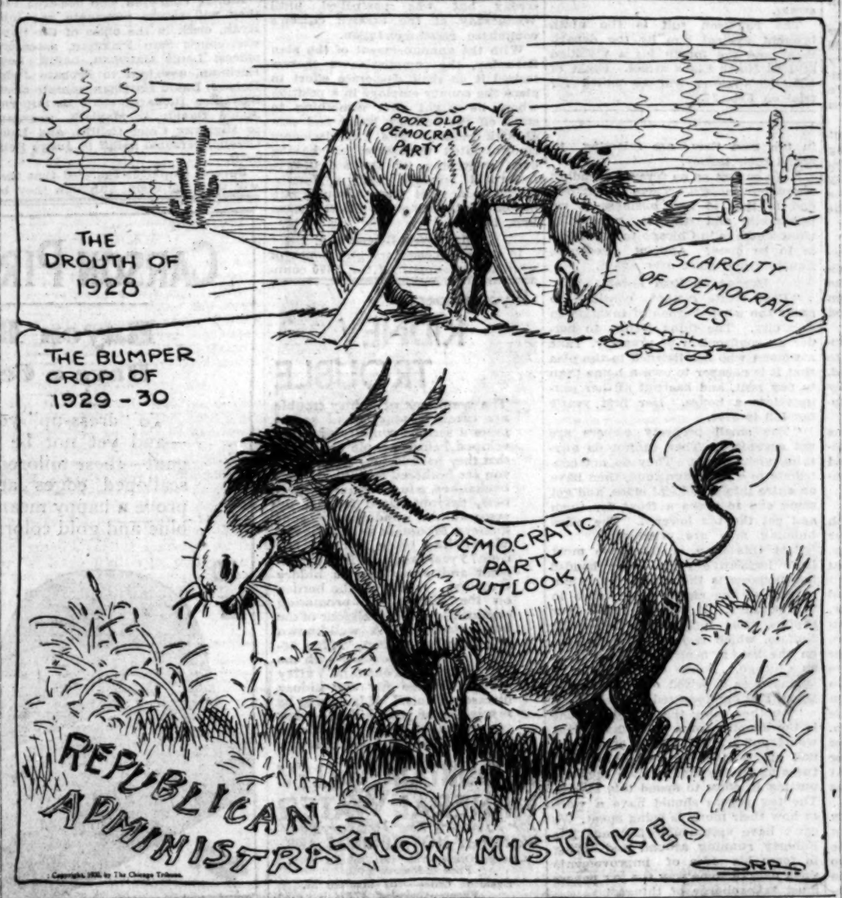
"And I want to say that when it gets down to a question of bribery, the law is that we can grant immunity and make people talk," continued Northup. "I could set out enough in a petition, if I wanted to, to burn up the files, but I am not going to. My petition is now in its final form.

"I am not going to be held up in this matter. I will apply to every judge of the Superior, Circuit, and Criminal courts, if necessary, to get my petition. I am not going to have this proceeding wrecked before we get out of the harbor."

Northup's anxiety is due to the fact that in May the statute of limitations will prevent prosecution with regard to most of the items involved. He fears that the defense attorneys will try to block him by legal technicalities until that time.

Arguments on the petition will continue today.

IT'S WONDERFUL WHAT A CHANGE OF DIET WILL DO



Frown to Greet Damage Suits of the Lovelorn

Bad news in this story for the heart balm seeker. Terrible news for the maiden-jilted-at-the-altar. Devastating news for the husband or wife who wants money for a broken up home. Disheartening news for the shyster lawyer to whom a love letter means a breach of promise suit.

For the praecipe, that mysterious little document beloved of those just mentioned, appeared to be doomed to an early death yesterday. Breach of promise and alienation of affections suits, with their chief prop thus removed, may soon be obsolete.

The praecipe is a rectangular piece of bright yellow paper about eight inches by six. It contains the simple statement that A is suing B for a certain amount. The name of A's lawyer is attached. That is all.

No Details Are Included.

No details of the suit are included. There is no need to substantiate the righteousness of the plaintiff's claim. Yet, with the filing of a praecipe, especially in breach of promise and alienation of affections suits, it has been the custom for the lawyer and his client to comment freely on the case without the restrictions which might curb their imaginations in court.

Judge Denis E. Sullivan, head of the chancery division of the Superior court and vice chairman of the judicial advisory council, which has undertaken the reform of the judicial code, yesterday announced that the council had under serious consideration the abolishment of the praecipe.

Breach of promise and alienation of affections suits in the future must be accompanied by what is termed in law a declaration, a full statement of the case and the reasons for which it is brought, if the change goes into effect.

May Need New Law.

"We may be able to make this change merely by a rule of court," said Judge Sullivan. "Or we may have to go to the legislature for a new law.

"In any case, it must be admitted that, under modern conditions, abuses have crept into the suits concerning the affections which must be corrected. A large verdict in a breach of promise case brings a flood of persons complaining of bruised hearts.

"No doubt there are legitimate suits of this kind. It will be no hindrance to complainants of this sort to file a complete statement of their cases."

Judge Sabath Favors Change.

Superior Judge Joseph Sabath, who has heard 40,000 divorce suits, declared himself heartily in favor of the idea.

"Such a rule will reduce heart balm cases by one-half," he said. "I would go even further and make it necessary for a complainant to state his case to a judge before being given permission to file a suit which may blacken a character or reputation."

Attorney Nicholas A. Socrates, of the law firm of Socrates & Davis, dug into the law books to prove that the high courts have never looked with favor upon the breach of promise case.

Legal View Is Cited.

"The action for breach of promise to marry applies the most prosaic of remedies to the most sentimental and romantic of complaints," read one passage. "The ashes are weighed on the cold altar after the sacred flame has gone out. Tender confidences whispered protestations, the passionate phrases of love letters, all these mysterious signs and symbols which love dotes upon, are offered to twelve plain jurymen to decide a delicate matter."

Chinese Shot to Death as He Flees from Foe

Dong Poy, 22 year old Chinese of unascertained address, was shot to death by a gunman of his own race at 2 o'clock this morning at 22d street and Wentworth avenue. William Spero, a Checker cab driver dining in the Mandarin restaurant, 202 West 22d street, saw Dong fleeing from another Chinese, who overtook him at the corner, seized him around the waist, and pressed a pistol at his back, firing four times. The killer escaped. Pekin Inn police said Poy was a suspected opium peddler and that the killing had no connection with tong warfare.

Warmer Weather Catches Cold; It's Not Serious

Warmer Weather, 7 years old, colored, 838 Maxwell street, was taken to the county hospital yesterday afternoon suffering from influenza. Hospital authorities said that he was not seriously ill.

Crime of Day Totals Only 7 Minor Holdups

Seven petty robberies, no burglaries and no shootings was the gist of the crime report submitted to Chief of Detectives John Egan at midnight last night by the commanders of Chicago's 41 police districts.

The report covered a 24 hour period during which the city's 5,000 police rounded up 628 suspicious characters, including seven gunmen, 54 ex-convicts, and the Genna brothers, Sam and Peter, survivors of a clan whose feuds over alcohol resulted in many murders during 1920 and 1921.

Seize Gennas in Raid.

Noting lights glowing until daybreak for the last week in a flat at 921 Blue Island avenue, Sergt. Thomas Cooper and his squad made a raid last night which resulted in the capture of the Gennas and three of their lieutenants.

The flat was unfurnished except for a few chairs, a battery of recently installed telephones, and a desk where the squadmen found books leading to the deduction that the Gennas had recently converted the place into headquarters for an alcohol syndicate operating throughout the county.

Sam Genna, who gave his age as 43 years and his address as 856 Blue Island avenue, was seated at the desk when the raiders burst in. He made an ineffectual effort to hide the books in which the police found entries relating to transactions with alcohol cookers in Cicero, Chicago Heights and other suburbs.

Police Seize the Books.

The books were seized and a patrol wagon was summoned. Sam and Peter, who gave his age as 42 years, were taken to the detective bureau with Charles Intrieri, 26 years old, 836 South Hermitage avenue; Nick Guardina, 34 years old, 5407 South Francisco avenue, and Vito Giagoloni, 33 years old, 915 South Marshfield avenue. All were charged with disorderly conduct and released on bonds signed by Luigi Cardinale, who scheduled his residence at 1656 West Garfield boulevard at $40,000.

The body of the Negro gunman, killed by Sergt. Frank Reynolds and his squad last Saturday night after robbing a cab driver at 43d street and Wabash avenue, was identified at the county morgue by his common law wife, Dora Johnson, as Theodore Murray, 4420 South Michigan avenue. Six tradesmen of the Maxwell market and two cab drivers also identified the body, thus clearing up eight street robberies.

Between 10 and 10:20 p. m., in Evanston two gunmen stole a car parked by Mrs. Herman Reigold, 2411 Thornwood avenue, while she shopped, held up two pedestrians, Norman Rehm, 2615 Colfax street, Evanston, and William Goebel, 2226 Pioneer road, and were still at large early this morning. A Chicagoan, Charles Jutman, 2334 North Sacramento avenue, was also robbed in Evanston by a Negro gunman and a second car was reported stolen.

Prayerful Love Scenes Bared in $500,000 Suit

New York, Feb. 17.—[Special.]—Mrs. Frances Marion Josepha de Fonseca Brandon, nee Keller, an erstwhile assistant corporation counsel, who once contracted to write a scenario a week for the movies, unfolded before Supreme Court Justice Louis A. Valente and a jury today a story which would have impressed the most experienced movie censor as highly unusual.

Mrs. Brandon is suing George J. Gillespie, president of the city's board of water supply, for $574,165, alleging fraud and breach of promise to marry. She depicted him during the days of 1922 as "a holy man" of the most ascetic piety with an invalid wife, who appeared irresistibly lured against his conscience by the call of love.

Tells Their Big Scene.

The big scene in Mrs. Brandon's testimony came Jan. 30, 1922, in her apartment. He had told her, she said, that any intimate relations would mean commitment to marriage; and she had thought it fine than any religion could be so pure. This night "he said his wife was about to die, it was only a matter of days or weeks." The climax came when Mrs. Brandon returned from talking on the telephone and rebuked him for taking her seat on the davenport.

"He said, 'It's my seat now, but you can sit down.' I didn't want to. He was a holy man. He said 'You can kiss me.' I said I did not kiss men."

There was no piety in Mrs. Brandon's voice when she said "holy man."

That Holy Kiss.

"I kissed him on his cheek," she went on. She talked with her whole wide, full lipped mouth. "He said, 'You can kiss me on my brow.' I kissed him on the brow as I would a crucifix. He was holy.

"He said, 'If I am willing to trust my honor to you, you can trust your honor to me.' I put my hand in his as I would in the hand of a god. I don't know just what happened then."

During all this Mr. Gillespie, a small, sandy man, whose brown hair belies his sixty odd years, sat gazing at a pad of note paper through perfectly poised pince nez glasses. His face flushed a bit.

The Morning After.

In the morning, said Mrs. Brandon, she awoke to see Mr. Gillespie standing "with a little blue atomizer, sprinkling perfume all over himself." He bowed, she recounted, saying, "Madame, I've had a very good time. May I come again?" But then, she said, his attitude changed:

"He cried, 'You have ruined a pure and innocent man! I have read that this happened to other men, but never believed it could happen to me! You scarlet woman! Get down and pray for forgiveness!' So I prayed that day for forgiveness."

Mrs. Brandon said that after that, from what he had said, she felt that they were committed to marriage when his wife died. He called on her frequently, she said, and mingled love with prayers. "Once he prayed for three hours."

How He Proposed.

There were other melodramatic incidents in today's hearing, which will be continued tomorrow.

"When did he first propose marriage?" asked her lawyer.

Mrs. Brandon recounted that one day they were walking down the street. They had been sitting in his office and she had had her feet curled up in her chair.

"He said 'I'm not a worldly man, but I know what you're up to. You were trying to seduce me.'

"I said, 'To try to seduce a man as pure as you are would be as cruel as hurting a child.'

"He finally told me he loved me and he cursed the day that I had crossed his path and put such a load on his conscience."

SPEED FINANCE RELIEF; PLEAD FOR $74,000,000

Plan Takes Form to Sell Warrants.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Substantial progress was made yesterday toward a plan by which millions will be raised for the emergency use of the city, county, school board and sanitary district in the present financial difficulties. The scheme as outlined was evolved by Silas H. Strawn, Lewis E. Myers, Robert F. Carr and Ernest R. Graham, after consulting with Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National bank.

The plan will probably be developed to a point where an outline will be given to the public this afternoon or tomorrow. It contemplates that tax anticipation warrants shall be sold to practically all of the large and medium property owners of Chicago, with the banks doing more than their proportionate share. An official announcement might have been made last night had all of the local governments submitted figures which could have been readily analyzed, but the city submitted several lump sum amounts.

Needs Put at $74,000,000.

All four governments estimated their necessities to July 1 next at $74,051,671 at a hurriedly called meeting in Mr. Strawn's office yesterday afternoon. The conference will decide today whether this total can safely be trimmed.

They will also decide how much money they will undertake to raise, and then start at the task as soon as the program can be mapped out. After summarizing the requests of the different governments, the statement handed out from Mr. Strawn's office indicated a desire to expedite relief with this paragraph:

"Some further details were requested by the committee and are promised to be forthcoming from the officials tomorrow morning. Immediately upon receipt of the information requested the committee, realizing the desperateness of the situation, will use its best efforts to see what can be done to relieve conditions promptly."

County Delays Warrants.

The county will not hand out tax anticipation warrants today to employes in lieu of cash for salaries. It probably will defer action again tomorrow.

The county's representative at the conference, M. J. O'Connor, deputy controller, and J. Louis Jacobs, efficiency engineer, asked the private citizens about paying employes in tax warrants. They were told that the citizens had no suggestion to make on what the county should do. Pressed for advice, the private citizens said that the county board's plan might prove prejudicial with buyers later in the sale of tax warrants.

Yesterday's was the first conference at which representatives of all of the local governments were together at one time since the original gathering on Dec. 13. In addition to the county representatives, Auditor H. H. Brackett appeared for the school board, President Howard W. Elmore and Assistant Auditor J. M. Bush were there for the sanitary district, and City Controller George K. Schmidt and his chief deputy, Victor S. Petterson, represented the city. Others at the meeting were John O. Ress of the joint tax commission; Harris S. Keeler of the bureau of public efficiency; Prof. Simeon O. Leland of the University of Chicago, and Paul H. Moore, secretary of the Strawn committee.

No Strings on Money.

When the money is raised it will be turned over to the local governments without any strings. There will be no attempt to dictate how it shall be spent. However, the $74,000,000 requested will leave little cash, after pay rolls and bond principal and interest are paid, available for other purposes. It has not been decided whether an attempt will be made to raise $74,000,000. The highest figure mentioned heretofore is $50,000,000.

The Building Managers' association has agreed to raise $10,000,000 under certain conditions. The railroads have been counted on to contribute another $10,000,000, the public utilities a like amount or a little more, industries a large sum, and retail establishments a considerable amount. Even then it has been considered difficult to reach $50,000,000. But the canvass of the situation now in progress may suggest different figures for major lines of business.

Traylor Gives His Views.

"Chicago is a city of large wealth," commented President Traylor of the First National bank yesterday afternoon. "Its resources are ample to provide for all of its needs. It is not broke, although it needs money urgently at present. Its bonded indebtedness per capita is low, its budgets are small, its tax rates and its tax assessment are more favorable than in most large cities. The city needs aid at present, and loyal citizens will do their part."

That is more than any banker in Chicago has said since the city got so deep in the financial mire.

Nearly all of yesterday's conference in Mr. Strawn's office was devoted to a discussion of the urgent needs of the municipalities. First came the sanitary district, which asked for $9,668,812 with which to operate until July 1. Of this total, $7,185,813 is needed to pay off bonds and interest due; the district pay rolls will eat up $1,345,000, and power and other needed supplies $455,000.

Schools Ask for $28,350,000.

The school board estimated its needs at $28,350,000 to get the schools to the vacation period.

The county said that it needed $9,551,670, although it cannot issue tax anticipation warrants for more than $8,500,000. It placed its corporate pay roll at $5,250,000, nursing at the county hospital at $700,000, mothers' pensions at $630,000, pay of jurors at $490,000, its reassessment cost at $200,000, April primary expense at $650,000, bonds and interest at $2,422,670, forest preserves at $355,000, and other expense at $878,500. As an offset, the county estimated that it would get $1,925,000 in fees as income.

The city represented its needs to July 1 as $32,531,189, but trimmed its request to $26,531,189 because the license fees are expected to net the city about $6,000,000.

City Details Its Needs.

For the corporate pay roll alone the city asked $20,300,000, and then $4,250,000 for other necessary expense. That is the item about which the citizens desire more information. In addition the city asked $1,200,000 for the policemen's pension fund, $510,000 for the firemen's pensions, $1,019,000 for the municipal tuberculosis sanitarium, $720,000 for the public library, $1,824,420 for the sinking fund with which to pay interest on bonds outstanding, and $2,707,769 for interest on tax anticipation warrants issued.

The city continued paying employes yesterday for the first half of January in money dug up by City Treasurer Charles S. Peterson. All that remain to be paid now are the policemen, who call for $682,000, the firemen for $308,000, the health department for $75,000, and the corporation counsel's office for $22,000.

Several creditors of the county are said to have asked for tax anticipation warrants. Among these are the Capital Dairy company, to which the county is indebted $175,000 for milk and cream; the John Sexton company, which the county owes more than $400,000 for groceries, and the Wolf Packing company, which has $60,000 coming for meats, according to information from the county controller's office.

Warden Killed in Mexican Jail Break; Prisoners Flee

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 17.—(AP)—Prisoners in the municipal jail at Cusihuiriachic, state of Chihuahua, mutinied today, killed a warden and wounded several others. After an unsuccessful attempt to sack the town they escaped to the mountains.

UPTOWN LEADER LAYS PLIGHT OF CITY TO MAYOR

But He's Optimistic on Future Progress.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

In John C. Bowers, young real estate dealer of the Wilson avenue district, and head of the Central Uptown association, Chicago has a vigorous critic, but one with unbounded faith. In this dark day of civic history he is bubbling with such optimism as this, expressed yesterday in an interview:

"There is not a thing the matter with Chicago. If the Yellow Kid should come out of the penitentiary tomorrow and be made mayor of Chicago the city would still go ahead. We grow despite everything. Nothing can stop us.

"It takes faith and nerve to put twenty millions or so into a building like the Merchandise Mart, for instance. There it stands, for the city hall to plaster more taxes or expenses on when they think they can get the money."

Has Vision of City.

As a community leader, Mr. Bowers' interests and activities are directed first toward the welfare of the central uptown district, but his vision of Chicago as a whole is not clouded by this.

"Chicago's troubles are our troubles," he said. "They come home to each community and neighborhood. These troubles are not to be solved by a mere readjustment of loop assessments and political ballyhoo.

"There are plenty of good citizens in Chicago and plenty of money available if the citizens become convinced that it will be spent wisely and honestly.

Puts Blame on Mayor.

"There is complete lack of faith in the city hall crowd. The mayor certainly has made a mess of things. People around here seem to feel that they can do nothing about it until he is out of the hall. I do not feel that way. After all, he is our mayor. He might throw out all his department heads, good and bad, if there are any good ones, and put in a new cabinet in whom the people have faith. He can never do too much to redeem himself and undo the harm that has been wrought by those around him under his administration.

"It is not right, however, to refuse to do something for the city because it might help the mayor. He ought to get a little credit if anything goes right.

"The people have voted down every bond issue because they did not trust the administration to spend the money. They have even refused to pay the debt which is owing to the property owners along Ashland avenue."

Gives His Solution.

The citizens of the uptown district have been discussing the situation at their various clubs and meeting places. Various constructive suggestions for relief have been advanced.

"My own idea," said Mr. Bowers, "and everybody has jumped on me hard for it and called me radical, is that we should close up everything in the city government except the necessary police and fire protection. Close the doors, shut up shop for awhile, and then start over again with a new slate. This would awaken the people and force them to take an interest in the men they are selecting to spend their money.

"We cannot go on forever spending above our income. There is but one end to that in any business—a receivership, and this is practically what we have in Chicago today. What is to be done? Appoint receivers, liquidate and start over again.

Burden on Real Estate.

"Real estate cannot continue to carry the whole burden of taxation in this city. The thing begins to border on confiscation of property. Take a woman who has listened to the plea that it is cheaper to own a home than to pay rent, and has put all her savings into a house. Her first year's tax bill is $500.

"The small property owners are not organized. They cannot do anything about taxes. They do not contribute to a campaign fund, then have an entre into a political office, and get some one to make a front for them and get the tax lowered. The office building men are organized.

"At this time I think we must have legislative relief. Our bonded indebtedness is the lowest per capita of any of the eleven chief cities in this country. It is only $58.96 per capita, while New York is $212.76. Buffalo, which is just above Chicago on the list, is nearly twice as much as Chicago. Bonds could be issued, spread over a period of eight or ten years, and our indebtedness taken up.

"Another thing that could be done is the adoption of a sales tax. That would put a small tax on everything and might lead the people to think twice about the kind of men they are putting in office to spend this money. The tax payers should have a voice in how their mony is being spent. We can't have spectacular fatheads like Faherty running around and trying to force his idea of improvements upon us. In some way the tax payers must take charge of things."

SMOKE DEPARTMENT PREPARES TO FILE 8 NEW COURT SUITS

Frank A. Chambers, city smoke inspector, was preparing yesterday to file eight new suits against violators of the city's smoke abatement ordinance. The department also is preparing evidence to be submitted to Judge Arnold Heap on Feb. 24, when a large number of cases will be tried. The eight new suits will be filed against the following:

Mrs. Anna E. Lagbauer, 655 and 4161 Sheridan road.
Carl A. Erickson, 1004 North Clark street.
B. Michaelson Furniture and Clothing Credit House, 4227 Indiana avenue.
Hotel Del Prado, 5301 Hyde Park boulevard.
A. B. Thompson, 213 East Illinois street.
Palmer House, 17 East Monroe street.
Central Steel and Wire company, 4545 South Western avenue.
Lino Brothers, 3401 Broadway.
Housewife Approved Laundry, 3662 Elston avenue.

The Erickson suit is the ninth brought against him by the department and the fourth for a violation at 1004 North Clark street. Eight of Erickson's cases will be called for trial on Feb. 24.

EMPLOYES BALK AT COUNTY SCRIP; CALL IT USELESS

Many Plan to Refuse Tax Warrants.

The county commissioners, preparing to play the rôle of fairy godmothers under the plan to pay employés in tax anticipation warrants instead of cash, paused yesterday as criticism became outspoken among county employés. The payment in script was to have been begun yesterday but was postponed until Wednesday at the Strawn citizen's committee recommendation.

With the announcement of the plan Saturday, the commissioners characterised it as their desperate effort to place the county employé in a position where he might offer something to stave off the butcher, baker and candlestick maker. The commissioners congratulated themselves on having done something for the aid of the underpaid employé with a family, placed in a tight place through failure of the board to pay salaries since Dec. 15.

Plan Proves Boomerang.

If the commissioners had hopes of winning the support of the 3,600 county employés, they failed in most quarters. Their plan boomeranged into campaign cries against them.

"What good are the warrants?" asked one fair employé. "We ought to fumigate them when we get them because we can't cash them anywhere. If the commissioners had tended to their business and guarded public moneys instead of squandering money we would be drawing pay now."

"I blame the officials with independent incomes for the condition," another employé said. "These fellows didn't care how much of the public's money they spent. Now that we are not getting paid, they have run off to bask on the sands under Florida's warming sun."

Blame on Reassessment.

"It's the reassessment that has brought all this trouble," a third averred. "I don't want to be considered as excusing the officials, who are directly responsible, but if the reassessment had been carried on in reasonable time while the other assessment went on collecting taxes, the present pinch would not have occurred."

Among employés who declared that they will refuse payments are John Ryan, clerk in the office of the Superior court; Sam Flaxman, assessors' offices; Louis Gateman, bailiff; Leon Edelman, assistant to Probate Judge Horner; David Hartigan, minute clerk; Salvatore Romano, clerk to Superior Judge David; Al Maylath, secretary to Highway Chief Collins, and Louis Greene, personal bailiff to Judge Feinberg.

Several employés declared that they will take the scrip, although they believed some last minute action will forestall the plan of payment.

Can't Hold Warrants.

"I can't afford to keep them," Col. A. L. Brodie of the coroner's office said. "I have a family and will have to cash the warrants for what I can get."

The same view was expressed by Edwin Nelson of the sheriff's office, Steve Curran, deputy clerk of the Probate court, and Edward Coath, minute clerk.

Not one employé said that he would be able to hold the warrants, although the commissioners in their announcement had held out the proposition that the warrants, carrying 6 per cent interest, are a remarkable investment. As one employé put it, "We have to live. We are not working to invest our money. We want the old cold cash."

Prefer Outside Borrowing.

Many of the employés, who said that they did not wish to be quoted on their intention of refusing to fall into the warrant pay line, said that they preferred to borrow from friends and wait for their money.

"I'd rather pass the hat among my friends than get that pretty looking paper that doesn't mean anything when you try to get food and clothes," an employé for twelve years said. "It looks like a lot of oil stock that my father bought and that we have at home."

BABY FOUND DEAD IN CRIB.

Dorothy Virginia Lancaster, baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Lancaster of Hammond, was found strangled in her crib at her home yesterday, her head having become wedged between two bars on the side of the bed.

If you suspect
KIDNEY TROUBLE

The symptoms of kidney trouble are often obscure—and sometimes a serious condition has developed before people are aware that they have kidney trouble. If you are bothered with headaches, backaches, sluggishness, dizziness, nervous, tired feeling, investigate the condition of your kidneys. Mountain Valley Mineral Water has been famous for over 75 years as an aid in the treatment and prevention of kidney disorders. It relieves the burden on the kidneys by promoting elimination through all four of the body channels. A well-known physician has written, "It has become routine procedure with me to prescribe Mountain Valley Mineral Water for my kidney disease patients." It is wise to be suspicious of your kidneys—they can start a lot of trouble. Learn more. Phone for booklet today.

FRENCH CABINET FALLS ON TAX FOR MARRIED WOMEN

Tardieu Ill; May Form New Ministry.

BY JAY ALLEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Feb. 17.—On an absurd little issue involving the taxation of married women who are in business with their husbands, the French government tripped up and ignominiously fell. The ministry was beaten by six votes, 286 to 280.

At 8:45 o'clock the collective resignation of Premier Andre Tardieu and his cabinet was handed to President Gaston Doumergue at the Elysée palace.

Ill in bed from grip and fatigue after six weeks of labors at The Hague reparations conference and the London naval parley, Premier Tardieu could not go to resign in person, as he was supposed to do. So, the formality that deprives France of a government just at the moment when there are battles to be fought at the naval conference, and the Young plan is yet to be ratified, was accomplished by a messenger.

Tardieu May Try Again.

President Doumergue undoubtedly will call the vanquished Tardieu tomorrow and instruct him to get a new combination together with all speed. But involved is the political situation, and so illusory is the majority—if any—that it is not at all certain that Tardieu will be able to do so.

If M. Tardieu fails others will have to try. Raymond Poincaré? There is a chance. He is restored to health, and all set to get back into the political arena. He, perhaps, and he alone, could weld a solid majority out of the chamber of deputies, made up of many factions. The radicals worked with him from 1926 to 1928.

Hope French Work at Parley.

Aristide Briand, foreign minister in the retiring cabinet, tonight announced that it would be impossible for him to go to London to handle the French interests at the naval conference, and the grizzled veteran may play a big part in the cabinet crisis. Georges Leygues, minister of marine, will return to Paris tomorrow night. The naval conversations, as far as they involve France, must come to a close.

One thing is certain. The French position on naval tonnage will not be changed appreciably, no matter what is the complexion of the new government. The country was solidly behind M. Tardieu's demands for a big navy of new, fast ships.

Despite his enjoyment of immense success for his triumph in the Young reparations negotiations at The Hague, and being hailed as a sort of male Joan of Arc for his energetic defense of French interests at the London conference in the face of an Anglo-Saxon offensive, Andre Tardieu has had no majority on domestic issues in the chamber of deputies. That is why the left parties were able to ambush him in such a surprising fashion tonight.

Radicals Plot Cabinet's Fall.

For weeks the radical Socialists and right wing Socialists have been conspiring to bring M. Tardieu down and form a ministry of their own, or annex a big batch of the portfolios in some one else's cabinet.

Their chance came tonight. With Premier Tardieu, who had come back to London to scotch their plot, lying flat on his back, they set upon his minister of finance, Henri Cheron. M. Cheron for days has refused to grant the wholesale tax reductions which the radicals think the country's vast treasury surplus ought to permit.

"I will stand by my budget until the last. I will defend my sous," the paunchy, bearded old Norman, who is the delight of French cartoonists, announced with dogged despair when the session opened this afternoon in the chamber. Then the clause in the bill to tax married women came up. M. Cheron made it a question of confidence in the government and a few minutes later the Tardieu cabinet, which took office Nov. 2, 1929, had been counted out.

FOES OF EVANSTON MOVIES ON SUNDAY LOSE BALLOT PLEA

Opponents of Sunday movies in Evanston lost their fight yesterday to keep off the ballot at the April primaries a proposition to lift the present ban against open theaters on Sunday. Corporation Counsel William Lister ruled that only 3,000 petitioners were necessary to put the proposition on the ballot. Sunday movie foes had contended that 7,000 petitioners were necessary. A petition bearing 10,450 signatures has been submitted, and the anti-movie group were hopeful of reducing the list below 7,000 by challenging doubtful signatures.

ONCE WELL TO DO EXECUTIVE FACES ROBBERY CHARGES

Mind Went Blank, He Says in Cell.

CRIMINAL COURT.

August Sadukas, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary by Judge Harry Fisher.

Thomas Connelly and Walter Borman, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in Pontiac reformatory; Charles Smith, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in Pontiac reformatory by Judge Otto Kerner.

Earl B. Doty, 47 years old, once a prosperous business man, was herded into the lockup of the Felony court yesterday with scores of other prisoners to await disposition of three robbery charges against him. When it was his turn to face the judge he hung his head as the witnesses identified him as the man who had robbed three Loblaw groceterias in the past few weeks. He waived examination and apparently made every effort to hide his identity by taking the shortest method of getting out of the court.

Doty, however, was recognized by some of the spectators as a man who was once looked on as a successful and prosperous business man. He was four years ago controller and secretary of the Calumet Baking Powder company, it was reported, and later, in a jail cell, he admitted his identity, begging that his plight be kept secret.

Says Friends Will Aid.

The defendant said that his friends were coming to his rescue with a job and restitution and that he had hoped to escape notice in the court so as not to jeopardize his chances of liberty.

Doty said that one of the charges against him must be the result of mistaken identity, but as to the other two cases his memory is a blank as to what happened. He suffered, he said, from a sort of amnesia, on the day he is credited with robbing two of the stores. The other charge can be disproved by an alibi of substantial business men, he said.

Mind Becomes Blank.

On Feb. 11, the day he was arrested, Doty said his mind became a blank when he was informed that a position he had been promised failed to materialize because a younger man was wanted. On the day before the illness of one of his two sons had caused him to become melancholy. The failure to obtain the promised job was the last thing he remembered until he found himself in the Cragin police station, he said. His financial reverses started when he left the baking powder company. Several business ventures failed and he soon found himself without funds or work. He lives in Willow Springs.

EASTERN COLD WAVE WANES; DISRUPTS TRAFFIC; 15 ARE DEAD

New York, Feb. 17.—[Special.]—The coldest spell of the winter for the second time in two days sent the mercury down to 7 degrees above zero this morning at 4 o'clock. After that hour the temperature began to rise and the weather forecast gave promise of milder weather tomorrow. The frigid spell held practically the entire northeast in its grasp.

Railroad, rapid transit, trolley and trans-Atlantic steamship schedules were widely disrupted on account of the cold. Bodies of two of the crew of the coastwise barge, Carroll, drifting helplessly in the gale off the Delaware capes, were found in a lifeboat by the coast guard, who reported that the men had been frozen to death.

Tupper Lake, N. Y., reported the lowest temperature, 41 below zero. In New England fifteen deaths were attributed directly or indirectly to the cold. In South Foxboro, Mass., a recluse was found frozen to death in his hut, and in Providence, R. I., another man was found frozen to death in his unheated apartment.

MILD WEATHER AND SUNNY SKIES DUE FOR TODAY

Chicago enjoyed one of the mildest days of this winter yesterday and the outlook for today is for even more pleasant weather.

Although the sky was overcast, the temperature climbed steadily from 31 degrees at 8 a. m. to 44 degrees at 1 p. m., the highest point attained since before Christmas. The thermometer declined slowly after that.

Chicagoans took advantage of the mild weather to get outdoors. Meditative idlers occupied the park benches, mothers strolled the streets with their babies in perambulators, and children knuckled down to marbles or skipped rope after school, although the pavements were somewhat slushy.

South and westerly breezes assure a continuance of balmy weather today, according to the government forecaster, J. R. Lloyd. He also promised sunshine.

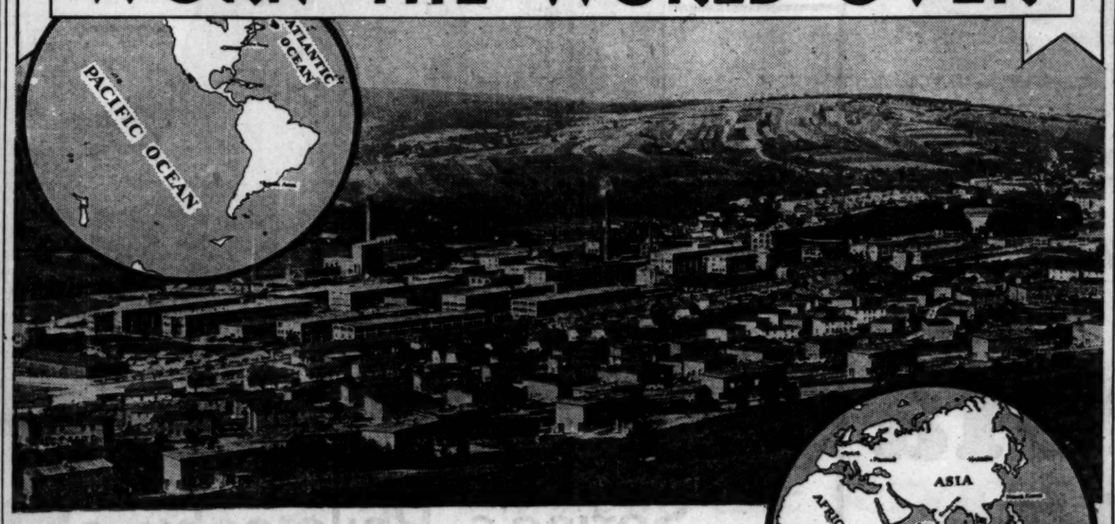
WORN THE WORLD OVER



Old World Craftsmen Bring Paris Styled Shoes to American Women

By Madame Zenaty

At last, a long awaited event is coming to pass and soon all you women of Chicago are going to be able to wear Paris styled shoes designed expressly to fit American feet. Bata Shoe Company is coming to Chicago and this week is opening up four stores in which you will be able to purchase the famous Bata Shoes that are worn by women the world over.

Shoes for American Women

Heretofore, you women of America, if you would wear an imported Parisian shoe, have had either to pay a very high price for your shoes or else have had to sacrifice comfort for style because European shoes cannot comfortably fit American feet. You are an athletic nation—your feet are strong and supple because of your activities and they need shoes that give freedom of action.

Bata Shoe Company with fourteen generations of experience as shoemakers in making women's shoes have made a most wonderful study of the feet of American women. We have taken great pains to bring the exclusive Paris styles to you in a way that not only give you the chic, molded lines of imported shoes that you so much desire, but also give you comfort—comfort assured by a study of 689 plaster casts of the feet of American women.

MME. ZENATY

Old World Craftsmanship

Because Bata Shoe Company is a very large organization and a very efficient one, we are able to sell you shoes for which, ordinarily, you would have to pay three or four times the price we ask. Our factory is located in Zlin, Czecho-Slovakia. In it we employ over 12,000 craftsmen—men whose fathers and their fathers before them have made shoes. They know as only old craftsmen know how to fashion shoes from pure leather so that every Bata Shoe is a quality product of the finest make.

Directing this big factory are fashion experts who, like myself, are always on the lookout for the new and the different. We see the new styles that Parisian designers sponsor and we adapt the new colors and the new lines expressly for the women to whom we sell. Bata Shoes for this reason have met with favor all over the world. We have 700 stores in 600 cities throughout the world—stores in France, England, Germany, Egypt, Persia, India, China, Argentina and America — every store selling shoes that are made to please the women of the many different nations.

A New Idea in Footwear

Now, we are coming to Chicago. After years of study, we know exactly what you American women want. Bata Shoe brings you style—the latest Parisian styles; Bata Shoe brings you footwear that will give your feet freedom of action; and Bata Shoe promises to give you women of Chicago the very finest quality shoes at such prices that will enable every one of you to have many pairs of stylish shoes in your wardrobe—shoes for every costume. This week we will open our stores—watch this paper for our opening announcement. You will be both surprised and I am quite sure most delighted with what Bata Shoe Company has to offer.

JAPAN STANDS PAT ON DEMAND FOR BIG FLEET

Stimson Plea for Cut in Cruisers Rejected.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 17.—Japan is standing pat on her demands for 70 per cent of the cruiser strength of the United States and for parity in submarines. This was learned tonight following a meeting between Secretary of State Stimson, Prime Minister MacDonald, and Reijuro Wakatsuki, chief of the Japanese delegation.

While Mr. Stimson retains his optimism regarding an eventual agreement, it is apparent from what has leaked out about the conference today that virtually no progress toward a compromise with Japan has been made. This fact, however, is not so significant as it might have been for the reason that Japan was not expected to make any concessions prior to the Japanese elections on Thursday. The present government in Japan would court defeat at the polls were it to recede at this moment from the position taken in the official proposals last week.

Conference at a Standstill.

For the time being the Japanese and the French have the London naval conference at a standstill. In neither of their proposals is there even a modicum of those reductions in armaments upon which President Hoover is insisting. The tonnage limitation figures proposed by the French would require the British to enter a new building program, unless England is prepared to abandon that measure of superiority on the seas which she has maintained in the past.

Japan's proposal for limitation would require considerable expansion by both the British and American navies, unless Japan is to be allowed a navy far stronger than that of the 5-5-3 ratio for capital ships that Japan accepted at the Washington conference.

Hope Japan Will Cut Demands.

At the present stage of the proceedings each delegation is banking on the leverage it believes can be exerted on the other delegations. The Americans are confident that the Japanese will come down to their figures rather than wreck the conference, because the Japanese can ill afford to begin building, by next year, the battleships called for by the replacement program in the Washington treaty. If the London conference fails, the powers presumably will proceed with the replacement schedule.

The Japanese are confident that Mr. Stimson will agree to their demands, because the failure of the conference would be a serious political reverse for the Hoover administration on the eve of a congressional election, the outcome of which will not be without effect upon the 1932 presidential election.

French Want New Pact.

The French believe that the British must yield either as to tonnage allowed to France or grant the security agreement that Premier Tardieu demands if the French meet the desire of the MacDonald government to avoid building battleships.

The American delegation has sought without avail to induce the Japanese to forego their demands for two more big cruisers in return for parity with America in small cruisers. Mr. Wakatsuka insists that Japan must have 14 instead of the present number of 12 big cruisers if the Americans are to have 18 of the large ships. Inasmuch as Great Britain is to have 15 big cruisers, the British are even more violently opposed than the Americans to allowing Japan 14 big cruisers.

The members of the American delegation were startled at the news of the fall of the Tardieu government in France, but withheld comment pending the disclosure of the exact effect this will have on the disarmament negotiations.

In any event, the fall of Tardieu and the formation of a new government will cause the virtual suspension of the conference for want of French delegates with whom to negotiate.

ITALY SEES NAVAL PARLEY IN JEOPARDY; HOLDS UP FIGURES

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 17.—Fearing the fate of the conference to be in jeopardy as a result of the French claims to a fleet 60 per cent as big as England's, the Italian delegation tonight decided to withhold publication of Italy's memorandum on its naval position, which was expected to be issued today.

The memorandum, which is drafted and has the approval of Rome, is said to be a formidable document, while not so specific as the French on figures. It sets out to show Italy's trade lines, imports, coast line and colonies, and especially the fact that while it had Britain and France as allies in the Mediterranean during the world war, it now is alone there and is, therefore, entitled to a fleet as big as that of France.

The Italians see little hope of settling the clash over the French figures, and the fear is held that the conference is likely to be the point of departure for a resumption of the traditional British policy toward the continent; namely, ruthless opposition to whichever continental power attempts to form a hegemony in Europe, in which rôle the Italians now see France. Further, it is not believed by the Italians that any new security pact will satisfy the French claims. The Mediterranean pact idea finds no favor with the Italian delegation.

BRITISH BOOST NAVAL TONNAGES TO MATCH FRANCE

Jolt Parley by Talk of Building New Ships.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 17.—The naval parity figures agreed on between Great Britain and America on the basis of 1,200,000 tons of ships for each have gone into the melting pot as a result of the French adherence to their demand for 724,000 tons. It was admitted by a British spokesman today that the British figures now before the five power naval reduction conference might have to be reconsidered in the light of this new factor. However, he emphasized that no hitch had arisen between America and Great Britain and none was likely to arise.

Nevertheless if the French still prove adamant in maintaining their claims to a big navy, Great Britain may demand more than fifteen big cruisers and fifty small ones, the figures agreed on between Great Britain and America.

That this crisis was bound to arise if any of the minor powers increased their figures should have been obvious to any one who bore in mind the speeches on relativity of naval strength at the opening of the conference. Speaker after speaker stressed the fact that a reduction in his country's navy was only possible if all were reduced in proportion.

Surprise for Delegates.

In spite of this obvious fact the news that the British are considering an increase in their first figures caused something like a mild hurricane of surprise in conference circles. The British attitude is due in some degree to pressure by the admiralty.

When the French introduced their figures last week Prime Minister MacDonald took the view that they should not be treated too seriously and that negotiations would continue on other details, leaving the figures aside for a time. The admirals, however, saw a chance to save some of their beloved paper cruisers, the ship builders saw a chance of the paper being translated into steel, so tremendous pressure was brought to bear on him to stand up to the French. The result was that the French became more stubborn than ever, and now, as far as reduction is concerned, the conference seems a failure.

Oppose Mediterranean Pact.

This does not mean, however, that a way out will not be found, and in the absence of the French, who are kept at home by the fall of the Tardieu government, the principal members of the American, British, and Japanese delegations met this afternoon for a couple of hours at St. James's palace to wrestle with the new situation.

No conclusion was reached so far as is known and it is not likely that any can be reached before the French are back here again. One way out which was suggested apparently will not be taken. That is the way of a Mediterranean guarantee pact for which the French are pressing.

The British spokesman today made it clear that Great Britain is as much opposed to this as the United States and would not have it at any price. This conference, he declared, was a naval conference, only called for the purpose of reducing naval armaments and not for the discussion of political questions.

If such a question is raised, he pointed out, it would be necessary to call in all the Mediterranean seaboard powers. These include Spain, Greece, Jugo-Slavia, Turkey, Russia, and to carry the matter to absurdity, the principality of Monaco.

EUROPE SEEKS MORE DEADLY WEAPONS AS SHE TALKS OF PEACE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 17.—An ironic commentary on European nations' candid opinion of the efficacy of the Kellogg pact and other such panaceas against international disputes is seen here today in the announcement of details of new and deadlier death-dealing devices for use in war.

The French have developed a new tank which carries armor 45 millimeters (approximately 1.75 inches thick).

France has also completed plans for battle cruisers of 20,000 tons displacement, with a speed of 32 knots. The armament will be either eight 12 inch guns disposed in two quadruple turrets or nine 12 inchers mounted in three triple turrets.

The latest aviation development of "at least one foreign power" is a single seater fighter mounting four or six machine guns instead of two. In addition to two guns firing through the propeller, which is now standard equipment, the new fighter will carry two more mounted on the tops of the wings, while the six gun planes will carry a third pair firing forward and upward above the propeller to enable the firing on a plane while passing under it.

SEA ENVOYS MAY FEAST ON ROYAL GOLDEN DISHES

King's Return to London Forecasts Banquet.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 17.—As a result of the return to London of King George and Queen Mary from Sandringham, discussion arose today whether a state ball will be held in Buckingham palace in the next fortnight for the naval conference delegates and their wives. This would be preceded by a state banquet at Buckingham palace, served on the famous Windsor gold plate, which is only brought to London on such occasions.

Owing to the recent death of her elder brother, the duchess of York will not attend the dinner and reception the marquis and marchioness of Londonderry are giving tomorrow night at their house in Park Lane.

Lady Astor to Be Hostess.

Lady Astor will act as hostess to 300 at a dance on Friday at the suffolk galleries in Pall Mall. The ball is being given by the English Speaking Union to the delegates and staffs of the conference.

Sixty-eight Americans have accepted invitations. Among them are Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams and Mrs. Adams, Senator David A Reed and Mrs. Reed, Senator Joseph T. Robinson and Mrs. Robinson, American Ambassador to Belgium Hugh S. Gibson and Mrs. Gibson, Admiral William V. Pratt and Mrs. Pratt, Rear Admiral Hilary P. Jones and Mrs. Jones, Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow, Mrs. Morrow, and Miss Elizabeth Morrow, and Hugh R. Wilson, American minister to Switzerland. All the high commissioners of the British dominions are to attend, together with the heads of all delegations and a number of ambassadors.

Entertain Japanese Women.

Mrs. A. V. Alexander, wife of the first lord of the British admiralty, gave a tea today at Admiralty house for the women of the Japanese delegation. She was assisted by Mrs. Arthur Wilson Page, Mrs. J. R. P. Pringle, and Mrs. Burnett from the American delegation.

The American women are invited to a tea at the house of commons on Feb. 23 by the lord chancellor and speaker, who will receive them in the Harcourt room. After tea they will listen to a commons debate.

GOTTLIEB FLI ACROSS ATLA REVEALED BY

Believed Broke on Australia.

Louis I. Gottlieb, lawyer and mortgage broker who absconded, leaving his clients with a loss approximately $500,000, is believed broke and on his way to Australia, it was announced at the state attorney's office yesterday after Gottlieb, Edward J. Gottlieb, was questioned for several hours. The after hours of questioning by Assistant State's Attorney Richard Ettelson and Attorney Benjamin Feldman admitted that he was with his brother in England and had fled with from the country.

"He was always complaining," the money was fast disappearing," said young Gottlieb. "He borrowed my passage from London and gave him on Jan. 25. I am sure he had funds at that time were very low because he only gave me $50 and above my transportation charges. When I left him he said he would go to Australia and try to make a fresh start."

Ran Mortgage Business.

Gottlieb operated a mortgage business and a sort of private banking institution at 1572 North Halsted street.

His clients were his friends who entrusted their money to him for mortgage investments. In many cases they did not even ask for receipts for their money. They gave him power of attorney to handle the money as he saw fit.

When some of his clients became suspicious and asked for their mortgages or money Gottlieb disappeared. It was then discovered that he had obtained a luxurious apartment on Sheridan road and there was also another woman.

Youth Found at Bank.

The son, however, said that he had his father left together and that the woman figured in their flight. They went to New York, sold their automobile and sailed for England on Jan. 27. They spent most of their time in London, the boy said. He was with his when he called at the Prudential bank to draw money out of a personal account on which a stop order had been placed by the state's attorney.

Catelier was arraigned in the criminal court charged with forging the name of Proctor Brevard, general manager of the American Barley corporation, 9 West Washington street; Miss Brevard and Thomas Elliott, a truck driver, and other employés, to checks totaling $29,000.

Miss Bond told Chief Investigator Patrick Roche of the state's attorney's office that she had received several letters from Brevard and that after she had found them in the office she was tempted to use them as a club to prevent Brevard from prosecuting her for forgery charges. Miss Bond

WARD LEADER HANGS SELF IN INDIANA CELL

Michael V. Berg, 45 years old, 224 East Huron street, a Republican precinct captain in the 42d ward, committed suicide yesterday in a padded cell at the Indianapolis city prison by hanging himself with his scarf. Berg was arrested on Sunday after he had leaped from a Monon train in Indianapolis while the police were searching it for gangsters and barricaded himself in a house near the tracks.

According to friends in Chicago Berg apparently was suffering from rabies as a result of a bite by a bull dog last month. They believed that he became violently ill while on the train on his way to Louisville to visit his father and a daughter, Mrs. Esther Snyder, and leaped from the train while temporarily deranged. He had no criminal record and his friends said he had no reason to flee from the police when they boarded the train.

Berg was bitten by a dog owned by Mrs. Ruth Millner, 216 East Superior street, on Jan. 26, and reported the case to the health department, but the dog was never found, according to Charles E. Pearce, 105 Bellevue place, a friend of Berg and Republican committeeman in the 42d ward.

BANK JUGGLING TO COVER THEFTS TOLD BY GIRL

Langguth and His Cashier Accused by Employe.

How Elmer P. Langguth as president of the People's State bank of Maywood and his cashier, Miss Laverne Lindgren, appropriated the bank's cash, was told yesterday by Miss Florence Campbell, bookkeeper. The girl said that for two years she has known that Langguth and Miss Lindgren were juggling accounts so they would pass the scrutiny of the bank examiners.

"I first suspected something was wrong when Mr. Langguth made a loan of $10,000 to Fred Wicke," Miss Campbell said to Assistant State's Attorney Charles J. Mueller who had been sent to Maywood to take charge of the investigation. "Then Mr. Langguth and Miss Lindgren would tell me to take sheets out of the depositors' ledger so the total deposits would balance with the figure they had prepared for the state examiners.

"I knew they were doing wrong but Mr. Langguth told me he had sufficient property to protect the depositors from loss."

Puts Shortage at $173,000.

In this way Langguth and the girl cashier covered up thefts of $113,150, Mr. Mueller said he had learned. A deposit of $40,000 by the village of Bellwood was never posted and there were forged notes so far discovered that bring the bank's shortage to $173,000, the prosecutor announced.

Miss Campbell is a self-effacing young woman of 25, Mueller declared, and she started with the bank three years ago for $80 a month. Her last salary was $120 a month. She lives at 1935 South 11th avenue, Maywood. The bookkeeper said that, unlike the cashier, she was never invited out by the president, and her knowledge of the peculations gained her no favors.

Mr. Mueller said the girl witness indignantly denied implications Miss Lindgren had any cause to be jealous over any attentions showed her by Langguth. There was no foundation for the story of a hair pulling match, Mr. Mueller asserted, and he said he had found nothing to substantiate statements that Langguth had been blackmailed because of his relations with Miss Lindgren.

Finds Summer Home.

Pat Roche, chief investigator for the state's attorney, said he had reports of a luxurious summer home and a yacht maintained by Langguth at White Lake, Mich., where Miss Lindgren frequently was a visitor.

"All I have had a chance to learn," said Mueller, "is that Langguth and the cashier are responsible for a large shortage. I learned that Langguth took a former policeman, Henry Frantz, into the bank and later made him president of a taxicab company. Frantz got two loans which he couldn't repay and Langguth called him in and had him sign the name of Fred Fritz, his uncle, to a blank note which Langguth later filled in for $2,080.

"Fred Wicke was a friend of Langguth and he was given $10,000 on his note, but when Langguth and Wicke broke their friendship Langguth called Wicke's note and Wicke told him to go to hell. Langguth then forced Wicke into bankruptcy."

Langguth Makes Offer.

Langguth, who has been in seclusion since he was held to the grand jury on $100,000 bail, which he furnished, called his former partner, A. C. Flothow, on the telephone yesterday.

"I don't care if I go to jail, but I wish they would let me fix things up at the bank," Langguth said, according to Flothow. "I could straighten things out so the depositors won't lose a cent. First there is the capital stock of $100,000 and $10,000 surplus. Then there is $10,000 of undivided profits and my bond of $50,000. That will nearly cover all losses."

The depositors are to hold a meeting tonight in Maywood to arrange a reorganization of the bank. A preliminary meeting was held last night in the offices of State Auditor Oscar Nelson, at which the liability of directors and stockholders to the depositors was discussed.

OBSERVER FOR HOOVER CRIME BOARD GOES ON N. Y. DRY RAIDS

New York, Feb. 17.—(AP)—The Wickersham crime commission has had an observer in New York accompanying federal prohibition agents and customs men in raids and searches, it was learned in official circles today.

Although officials refused comment it was learned that the investigator had accompanied Prohibition Director Maurice Campbell's men in their recent raid on the Hotel Manger and Deputy Surveyor John H. McGill on the search of several vessels.

The observer is said to have commented favorably on the methods employed and the cooperation of the various federal law enforcement agencies.

His companions escaped unhurt.

PLAN ELEVATED PLAY SPOT FOR N. Y. CHILDREN

Sponsors Aim to Cut Auto Death Toll.

BY TOM PETTEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 17.—[Special.]—A city built without consideration of its children is planning elevated playgrounds to reduce the number of street accidents, which have grown with appalling rapidity. An unnamed philanthropist has offered to pay for the first of these up in the air recreation centers and Harry Allan Jacobs, an architect, today described how they would be built when the city officially sanctions the experiment.

"Mortality statistics," according to Mr. Jacobs, "show that 340 children were killed and 13,588 injured in the streets here during 1929."

"Such tragedies could be avoided and juvenile delinquency greatly reduced," asserted the architect, "if playgrounds were provided in the poorer sections."

Of Concrete and Steel.

The elevated play spaces under consideration by the city would be built of concrete and steel at a height of about fourteen feet above the street. They would be about thirty feet wide and 150 to 200 feet long, depending on the length of the blocks in which they were constructed. The playgrounds would be placed in streets of sixty feet or greater width. Light wire cages would protect neighboring windows. In summer time there would be provided wading pools and perhaps sleeping space, and in winter ice skating rinks.

"The cost of such an elevated stand," said Mr. Jacobs, "would be approximately $25,000, and with supervised recreation in the elevated playgrounds nearby, cheap apartments would rent more readily. The plan has the approval of many playground organizations, architects and engineers.

Sees Profit in Them.

"I believe these recreation centers can be made to pay a profit to property owners in the vicinity. They can be surrounded by flowers and shrubs and made community assets rather than liabilities. They would be built at such a height as to shut off but little light from the adjoining buildings."

City officials considering the advisability of adopting the elevated playground idea have voiced the objection that the city might be subject to damage suits from property owners near such recreation spots.

Definite sites will be selected, it was said, and sponsors of the playground idea will canvass the vicinity to find if there is any objection by property owners or tenants. The findings will be reported to the city officials who then will either adopt or reject the plan.

Why every woman who values beauty needs the services and advice of a Professional Beauty Expert

DURING recent years, beauty science has been so highly developed by the experts in this comparatively new profession that every woman can now make the most of her natural loveliness.

Laboratories are workrooms for research. Schools of beauty culture have been developed to teach workers not only the methods of perfecting external beauty but also laws affecting good health.

Today—to add that finish, that perfection of grooming which distinguishes the truly fastidious woman from her less particular sisters—a certain professional touch is needed. The deft, well-trained, skilful touch of the beauty expert.

Since Cleopatra's time

The quest for beauty is not new. Neither is the science of beauty culture. Both began when history began. But in more recent years we have had greater leisure, more time for perfecting ourselves, less need for the crude, hearty makeshifts of pioneer days. And we have turned, naturally enough, to those whose experience qualifies them to help us—the beauty specialists.

Your beauty expert applies, to your individual case, the methods best suited to bring out your own natural loveliness.

Modern beauty culture has been making tremendous strides—today, it has become a science practiced by specialists whose sole task is to safeguard and accent beauty.

Go to Paris, home of beauty in all its forms; or to Rome, Madrid, London, Berlin, Budapest, Vienna! Wherever you travel—either here in the United States or abroad—you will seek out experts to help protect and revitalize your good looks.

And it is therefore particularly interesting that more than 19,800 of these experts today recommend Palmolive Soap. What a remarkable tribute to the purity, the blandness, the delicacy of this vegetable oil soap . . . which is based on an age-old formula combining palm and olive oils for beauty cleansing!

An aid to your beauty expert

Palmolive does not—nor would any one claim that it did—make all other beauty care unnecessary. It aids your beauty specialist by providing the finest natural skin cleanser, the greatest day-in-and-day-out safeguard for facial beauty. Its thorough, gentle cleansing, of course, makes the work of the beauty specialist easier.

And it is, for the same reason, an ideal bath soap. That is one of many reasons why 19,813 world-famous beauty experts recommend it . . . why they unite to urge "foundation cleansing by one means and one means only—the twice daily use of Palmolive Soap."

BLOW LID OFF RUM SCANDALS, BROOKHART AIM

Demands Quiz by Senate on Enforcement.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 17.—[Special.]—Prohibition suddenly became a live issue in the senate today, when Senator S. W. Brookhart [Rep., Ia.] announced that unless the judiciary committee favorably reports one of the two pending proposals for a sweeping investigation of enforcement methods and results he will carry the fight to the senate.

The Iowa senator's threat followed a canvass which indicated that both the resolution sponsored by Senator B. K. Wheeler [Dem., Mont.] and the substitute offered by Senator G. W. Norris [Rep., Neb.], proposing an even more comprehensive inquiry into the breakdown of Volstead enforcement, will be pigeonholed by the committee.

Seeks to Place Blame.

"We do not purpose to have this thing bottled up at the top any longer," asserted Brookhart when informed of the result of the poll of the committee. "If the judiciary committee does not favorably report one of the two resolutions—preferably the Norris substitute—a motion will be made to discharge the committee and the issue will be fought to a finish on the senate floor.

"If there is corruption in the prohibition forces, we've got to know it and know who is to blame for it," continued Brookhart, recalling the recent wholesale indictment of permittees in Chicago a few hours after Dry Commissioner Doran had reported to the house that the illicit diversion of industrial alcohol had been reduced to a minimum.

"The senate and the country," he concluded, "want to know and are entitled to know why this condition exists and who is responsible for it."

Wet Bloc Continues Active.

Meanwhile, house interest in the prohibition issue was maintained by developments on and off the floor, including the preparations of the wet bloc for resumption next Wednesday of the hearings on proposals to repeal the 18th amendment and Representative J. M. Beck's disavowal on the floor that he meant, in the course of his attack on Volsteadism last week, to charge fellow members with hypocrisy.

Only two more days for the presentation of their side of the controversy is allotted to the wets, and it is probable, it was announced today by Representative A. J. Sabath [Dem., Ill.], that the prominent Chicago citizens and police officials who have been invited to portray conditions in Chicago under prohibition will be used as rebuttal witnesses.

In addition to Col. Robert Isham Randolph, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce; Silas Strawn, chairman of the citizens' committee, which is seeking to pull Chicago out of its present financial plight, and Ralph M. Shaw, Strawn's law partner, it was announced that Representative A. J. Sabath had invited Superintendent of Police William Russell, Deputy Superintendent John Stege, Patrick Roche, chief investigator for State's Attorney Swanson, and Morgan A. Collins, superintendent of police during the Dever administration, to testify.

No Reflection on House.

In his brief statement Representative Beck assured the house that in alluding, last week, to "hypocritical Pharisees" he had no intention, as it was misinterpreted by Representative C. L. Beedy [Rep., Me.], of drawing a parallel between the "law givers" of congress and the law givers against whom the patient Galilean delivered his great invective.

"As a matter of fact," said Mr. Beck, "I was thinking, as I think the house fully appreciated, of that limited class of political preachers, and I was likening them to the teachers of a theocratic state against whom the Savior spoke. I was speaking of those who felt it their duty in the pulpit and elsewhere to impose, not by moral suasion, but by law, one system of morality upon others who do not share that system of morality.

During the day the first deficiency bill, carrying an appropriation of $302,000 for the addition of 30 new picket boats to the coast guard's rum chasing fleet in the great lakes, was brought to the house floor. The fleet expansion program contemplates the completion of 10 twin screw boats, each 36 feet long, at a cost of $10,000 each, and 20 boats, 54 feet long, at a cost of $7,500 each, within the next four months. Included in the $302,000 appropriation is an allowance of $42,000 for the enlisted and officer personnel required to man the new boats.

Another item in the deficiency bill would appropriate $32,600 to pay the expenses of arbitration of the claims submitted by the Canadian government as a result of the sinking of the Canadian schooner I'm Alone by a coast guard rum chaser about a year ago.

PLEDGE PEACE

ELVAS, Portugal, Feb. 17.—(AP)—In this historic citadel town, scene of many clashes in the past, Spain and Portugal today made solemn vows to live in peace forever.

The award of the Order of the Sword and Tower, Portugal's most honored distinction, coupled with inauguration of an international police station between Elvas in Portugal and Badajoz in Spain, brought thousands of spectators from both sides of the frontier.

Gen. Oliveira, the Portugese premier, and the military governor of Badajoz, exchanged toasts at a banquet to the health of King Alfonso of Spain and President Carmona of Portugal.

DRY WHO SHOT NURSE FACES 2 INVESTIGATIONS

Knoxville, Ia., Feb. 17.—(AP)—Two investigations into the shooting of Miss Nellie Church, nurse, by Charles Hindley, federal prohibition agent, nine days ago, were under way today.

The Marion county grand jury questioned principals in the case in a lengthy session here and was expected to announce its decision Friday. Meanwhile, Carl F. Dewey, chief inspector of the special intelligence unit of the federal prohibition department, was in Des Moines to institute another investigation.

Miss Church was shot while riding with Miss Rita Huff, another nurse; Willard Wolford and Paul K. Patton, the latter two of Des Moines. The shooting followed a scraping of fenders of Wolford's car with that of the prohibition agents, Hindley and Roy Moon. Both agents have been suspended.

If the grand jury returns an indictment, it will be on a charge of assault with intent to commit great bodily injury, H. E. De Rus, county attorney said.

HOLD UP RESTAURANT OWNER.

Two men in a black sedan drove up to a restaurant at 2557½ West Chicago avenue early yesterday and robbed the proprietor, Michael Adilliano, of $45.

SHAW TO BE LONE CHICAGO WITNESS FOR WET CAUSE

Swanson, Randolph Decline Bids at Capital.

Because the wets have only two days in which to present their remaining testimony in support of measures to repeal the 18th amendment before the house judiciary committee in Washington, it appeared last night that only one of the Chicago citizens and officials invited will be there to tell what he knows.

He is Ralph H. Shaw, member of the law firm of Winston, Strawn & Shaw, who is known to oppose the Volstead act as "unsound legislation." Mr. Shaw, for years, has been a contributor to the Association Opposed to the Prohibition Amendment. He expects to leave Chicago today, to be in New York tomorrow and to appear before the committee on Thursday, the last day on which the wets may present direct testimony.

Swanson Too Busy to Go.

State's Attorney Swanson announced that he would refuse to accept the invitation tendered him by Congressman A. J. Sabath, and he announced also that he would instruct his chief investigator, Patrick Roche, not to go. The prosecutor said both he and Roche were too busy to go.

Col. Robert Isham Randolph, head of the "secret six" committee of the Association of Commerce, now investigating the crime situation in Chicago, replying to the invitation, said, "I beg to advise that the principles and constituency of the Chicago Association of Commerce enjoin upon its President neutrality in such a controversy as now agitates our country."

Willing to Testify.

In telegrams from Congressman Sabath yesterday Police Commissioner Russell and Chief of Detectives John Stege were advised to hold themselves ready to appear in rebuttal after the drys have presented their case. They replied that they were willing to testify.

ARREST MABEL WILLEBRANDT FOR SPEEDING

Washington, D. C., Feb. 17.—[Special.]—Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt, dry firebrand and former assistant attorney general in charge of prohibition law prosecutions, was charged with speeding in a police court warrant sworn out today by a District of Columbia traffic cop. The motorcycle policeman informed Judge Ralph Given that the one time ace of the dry overlords had driven her sedan more than thirty miles an hour.

Trial was set for Friday, when Mrs. Willebrandt advised the court that an urgent business engagement made it inconvenient for her to answer the charge today. A moderate fine and a demerit mark is the maximum handed out by Washington judges in similar cases.

Mrs. Willebrandt was halted last Friday night at 19th and K streets and given a ticket by Policeman William B. Hopkins of the third precinct. The motor cop did not supply police reporters with the details of his conversation with the former dry prosecutor and Washington is looking forward to Friday to find out just what kind of an argument the capital's best known feminine lawyer handed out to the policeman.

GRAND JURORS' BALKING WORRIES U.S. PROSECUTORS

Reluctant to Indict on Government Evidence.

Few fewer true bills than usual will be returned by the present federal grand jury if it continues its reported attitude toward the government evidence presented to it.

United States Attorney George E. Q. Johnson is known to have characterized the grand jury as "the least amenable grand jury I have ever worked with."

Yesterday it was gossiped at the federal building that one of Johnson's assistants, dismayed at the coldness the jurors displayed towards evidence in an interstate theft case, complained: "Gentlemen, I cannot understand it. You are so reserved, so cold, so critical of this evidence."

"We only want to be sure," the jurors are said to have replied.

Jury Attitude Puzzling.

Just what has caused this sudden reluctance is the subject of many conferences. The preceding grand jury ended its work last week by returning indictments against 157 men and women and 31 corporations for dealing in industrial alcohol. The former grand jury cooperated fully with the prosecutors to return the true bill which had been in preparation for months.

The alcohol case indictment was returned before Federal Judge Carpenter a week ago yesterday. The middle of the week Judge Carpenter swore in the present grand jury accompanying the ceremony with a procedure strange in federal court annals. After instructing them as to their duties he called each of the twenty-three men into chambers, separately. What he told them has not been revealed, but rumor has it that he suggested that they concentrate on the higher-ups of crime.

Judge Raps Petty Cases.

Since he began to hear criminal cases several months ago, Judge Carpenter has criticized the police court type of cases brought before him. Celebrating the twentieth anniversary of his appointment to the federal bench the last of January, he declared that 90 per cent of the cases he had had the preceding month could have been handled by his secretary "as well as I could, if not better."

"I have had a fine petit jury idle for nearly the entire month," he added. "The big bootleggers should be brought in here, not the human derelicts they hire to work for them."

Later he attacked the prohibition agents for bringing in small fry and causing the series shortly thereafter of fining a grandmother $5 and no jail for possessing liquor.

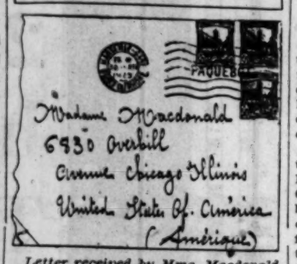
From Tunis, Africa



Letter received by Mme. Macdonald, 6830 Overhill avenue, Chicago:

This letter came from Tunis, not far from the site of ancient Carthage, destroyed by the Romans 146 B. C., thereby ending the last of the three Punic wars and fulfilling the purpose of their historic battle cry, "Delenda est Carthago."

Tunis is the capital of the French protectorate of the same name, the most easterly of the French colonies in northern Africa. The country was taken over by invasion in 1881 and placed under the regency of France by treaty in 1883.

Tunis has an area of 48,300 square miles and a population of 2,159,000. The total European population is about 175,000, of which 71,000 are French and 89,000 Italians.

SETTLE $757,000 LITIGATION OVER BALDWIN ESTATE

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 17.—[Special.]—A compromise agreement was sanctioned by Superior Judge Albert Stephens today, ending litigation between the son and daughter of the late Clara Baldwin Stocker on one side and Walter T. McGinley, business manager, and touring companion of Mrs. Stocker, on the other. The four suits involved $757,000.

McGinley is to withdraw legal action to foreclose a mortgage on oil property which, he says, he developed for Mrs. Stocker; and the son and daughter, suing as the Clara B. Stocker estate, withdraw suit to recover $400,000 from McGinley.

The Clara Baldwin Stocker estate recently was tabulated as exceeding $14,000,000 in a Probate court report.

MRS. HEFFERAN WINS REDUCTION IN SCHOOL COST

Contractor Cuts Price of Brick $9 a Thousand.

Mrs. W. S. Hefferan, a school trustee, won results yesterday in her fight to reduce school construction costs. For five months Mrs. Hefferan has held up building contracts because of what she termed the "exorbitant costs of building materials."

Since Sept. 25 when $1,431,356 contracts were let for the Parker Junior High school at Stewart avenue and 68th street, the board has rejected all bids for school construction at the request of Mrs. Hefferan. Mrs. Hefferan declared this school would be the costliest junior high school in the middle west.

Last November the board was asked by Paul Gerhardt, school architect, to approve a contract with the Material Service corporation for face bricks for the Parker school at $45 per thousand. Mrs. Hefferan protested that the price was too high and a special committee was formed to investigate.

Yesterday, Mrs. Hefferan told the board members the Material Service corporation had agreed to deliver the bricks for $36 per thousand, a saving of $9 a thousand.

"This is cheering news," said Mrs. Hefferan. "Why can't we do something to bring down the costs of iron, steel, stone, terra cotta and other materials that go into the construction of our public schools."

Later in the sesion the board ended the five month delay in carrying out its 1929 building program by awarding contracts totaling $356,785 for the construction of the new Volta school at Argyle street and North Avers avenue. The $253,000 contract for general work was given to Coath and Goss, the firm in which Virgil Coath, son of J. Lewis Coath, former school board president, is a partner.

Girl's Dress Takes Fire; Burns May Prove Fatal

Margie Reed, 5 years old, daughter of Mrs. Gladys Iglehart, 1741 Maypole avenue, was burned, probably fatally, in her home yesterday when her dress caught fire from the flames of a stove. Her screams attracted her mother who rolled blankets about the child after she had been severely burned about the face, hands and body. She was taken to the County hospital.

Cigaret Ignites Bed Clothes; Smoker May Die

Philip Snyder, 25 years old, was burned probably fatally last night when he fell asleep in his bed at 337 South Loomis street with a cagaret in his mouth, ignited the bed clothes. Other roomers in the house dragged him from the bed. He was taken to the county hospital, where it was said he probably would die.

SECOND VICTIM OF TRUCK-AUTO COLLISION DIES

Woman Is Killed in Triple Crash.

Charles Carlson, 48 years old, injured in an auto crash Sunday in which a companion was killed, died last night at the American hospital. Louis Larsen, 36 years old, 5834 Byron street, was driving his sedan west on Irving Park boulevard near Kenmore avenue when it collided head-on with an ice cream company truck. Larsen died shortly after being taken to the hospital. Daniel Fitzmaurice, 4037 North Mango avenue, another occupant of the sedan, was injured, but will recover.

Mrs. Katherine Von Oepen, 45 years old, 3055 North Sarak avenue, was killed and her son, George Von Oepen, 21, was injured yesterday in a triple crash involving a street car and two automobiles. An automobile, driven by the son, brushed another machine and collided with an east bound Belmont avenue street car, shaking up a score of passengers.

Sideswipes Other Auto.

Von Oepen was driving west on Belmont avenue at a high rate of speed to take his mother to Kenilworth, where she is employed in a home. At Damen avenue he sideswiped the auto of Frank West of 3980 Ellis avenue. The Von Oepen car skidded 150 feet and crashed into the street car with terrific force. The street car was not moving. The front platform of the car was caved in and a number of windows shattered, but the passengers escaped injury.

West, whose car had halted, escaped injury. Mrs. Von Oepen had two other children, Paul, 10, and Dorothy 19, who were at home.

The deaths of Carlson and Mrs. Von Oepen raised the Cook county motor toll for 1930 to 101.

Street Car Derailed.

Passengers on a Grand avenue street car were shaken up when a heavy cinder truck derailed the street car at Ogden avenue, and hurled it on to the sidewalk. The truck failed to stop for a traffic signal and struck the street car head on. Taber Nichols, 2154 Armitage avenue, a passenger, was cut by flying glass.

Marvin Swanton, 19 years old, 311 Noble street, Lake Forest, narrowly escaped death when his automobile was struck by an Elgin, Joliet and Eastern railroad train at the Rockland crossing in Lake Forest. Swanton was hurled through windshield clear of the train. He escaped with minor cuts and bruises.

FINED ON DRY LAW CHARGE.

John Walker, 1243 North Clark street, was fined $50 in the Chicago avenue court yesterday on a charge of possessing liquor after the police had seized 200 bottles of beer, a gallon of moonshine, and five pints of whisky in his flat.

Arrest Civil Engineer on Charge of Mayhem

William Hanley, 42 years old, a civil engineer for the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad, was arrested last night in his apartment at 2025 North Laporte avenue on a warrant in which another tenant of the same building, Herbert G. Putnam, 42 years old, charged mayhem. Putnam, the manager of an auto salesroom, said Hanley hurled a flask of ammonia into his face yesterday following a quarrel over Putnam's use of Hanley's broom in sweeping the basement.

7 Men Fashion Key from Seized Still, Escape Jail

Bristol, Va., Feb. 17.—(AP)—Fashioning a key from the coil of a confiscated still, seven men, three under sentence of from three to five years in the penitentiary and the remaining four waiting trial, escaped from the Scott county jail at Gate City, Va., twenty-eight miles from here, tonight, leaving behind them four comrades who refused to go. Among those who escaped were Carl Cleek and Charles Walling, under five and four year sentences, respectively, on a statutory charge.

DRYS MAY SEEK TO FORFEIT LAND OF RAIDED CAFE

New York, Feb. 17.—[Special.]—Prohibition Administrator Maurice Campbell's agents today raided the Bedford Nest, a Brooklyn restaurant, arrested a bartender, a waiter, and a doorkeeper, seized liquors, and stripped the place of $40,000 equipment with the aid of plumbers and electricians brought along for that purpose.

This was a procedure new to Brooklyn. It was undertaken under internal revenue revised statutes which, United States Attorney Howard W. Ameli of Brooklyn said, gave the government the right to seize all property found in a building in which taxable articles have been sold without the payment of the tax and with intent to defraud the government of that tax.

"We are going to make an example of this place," said Assistant United States Attorney Betram Wegman. "We are dismantling the fixtures and shall declare them forfeit to the government. We shall institute padlock proceedings at once and later may begin proceedings to declare forfeit the building itself and the ground on which it stands."

HOOVER NEAR AN OPEN BREAK WITH SENATE

Jam There Perils Tariff and Dry Bills.

of the opposition to confirming the Hughes nomination.

When Mr. Tilson was asked if the President intended to "crack the whip" he said that he could not answer that question.

May Doom Dry Bills.

Mr. Tilson said that prohibition enforcement legislation desired by the President's law enforcement commission might be held up if the legislative jam was not broken up soon.

Mr. Tilson thought the senate would eventually pass the bill transferring dry enforcement to the department of justice, but said he saw little use of the house to pass the measure giving United States commissioners authority to try cases of minor infractions of the prohibition statutes. If it did so, he said, the senate, on account of the situation there, would be unable to take action on it.

ALUMINUM DUTY CUT

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 17.—[Special.]—The Mellon "aluminum trust" fared badly today at the hands of the senate coalition of Democrats and radicals.

Duties on aluminum in crude form and in coils, plates, sheets and bars and aluminum utensils, were slashed below the rates of the present law, being placed back on the level of the Democratic Underwood act.

It was charged during the debate that the Aluminum Company of America is dominated by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and members of his family, that the company maintains a monopoly, and that the present duty is far in excess of the difference between costs of production in this country and in Canada.

Walsh Cut Approved.

An amendment by Senator Thomas J. Walsh [Dem., Mont.] to reduce the duty on crude aluminum from five cents per pound as in the present law to two cents, the Underwood law rate, was adopted by a vote of 41 to 39.

The fate on coils, plates, sheets and bars was cut from 9 cents to 5 cents per pound without a roll call.

An amendment by Senator A. W. Barkley [Dem., Ky.] to reduce the duty on aluminum table, household, kitchen, and hospital utensils from 11 cents per pound and 55 per cent ad valorem, as in the present law, to 25 per cent was adopted by a vote of 41 to 39.

No change had been made in these rates in the house bill or the bill as reported from the senate finance committee.

In the vote on the Walsh amendment 14 Republicans joined with the Democrats in voting for lower duties, while on the Barkley amendment 15 Republicans were for the cut in rates. Five Democrats voted against the Walsh amendment, but only one Democrat went on record against the Barkley amendment.

Radicals Are Elated.

The radicals showed greater elation over the blow dealt to the aluminum "trust" than on almost any other action thus far taken: The old rates of the Underwood act were increased in the 1922 law over the protest of the Democrats and radicals and the present duties have been under fire ever since.

Senator George W. Norris [Rep., Neb.] joined with Senator Walsh in leading the fight for the cut in duties.

"The Aluminum Company of America, having, to a considerable extent, a monopoly in the entire civilized world, is protected by a tariff," said Senator Norris. "We are told that if we reduce the tariff the greatest secretary of the treasury since Alexander Hamilton is going to pack his bag and move into a foreign country. I cannot believe that he is going to do this."

Big Profits Claimed.

Senator Norris asserted that the difference in cost of production of crude aluminum in this country and Canada is only 1½ cents per pound and that a 2 cent duty should provide ample protection. Senator Walsh declared that the Aluminum Company of America is selling its product for 34 cents per pound when its actual cost is not more than 12 cents.

Senators Charles S. Deneen [Rep., Ill.], Reed Smoot [Rep., Utah], and Royal S. Copeland [Dem., N. Y.] were the chief defenders of the present duties. Senator Deneen insisted that no objections to these rates had been made before the finance committee by consumers, competitors, or importers. Senator Copeland said he was concerned over what might happen to 10,000 employés of the Aluminum Company of America in New York state if the duties are reduced and the company moves its plant from Niagara Falls on the American side of the line to Canada as threatened.

JAILED PASTOR EXPECTS GIRLS TO DEFEND HIM

Faces Abduction Charge; Wife Supports Family.

Alton, Ill., Feb. 17.—[Special.]—Alonzo L. Shoemaker, former pastor of the Edwards Street Pentecostal church, is awaiting bondsmen in the Alton jail while two girls, Annette Harris and Edith Hankins, are at Lakeland, Fla., said to be willing to return and testify that he did not abduct them from Alton.

The girls, both 20, were saxophonists in a quartet of which the wife of the pastor was a member. The musicians rehearsed at the Shoemaker home, the parsonage of the Pentecostal church.

Resigned on Request.

Without warning distrust arose in the congregation. A home which the people of the church had built for the pastor's family had just been occupied when there came a request that the pastor resign. He was willing but wanted a little time, and that was given him. Last Oct. 11, Shoemaker, without notice, left Alton. The same day the two members of the saxophone quartet also left town.

While Shoemaker's deserted wife was trying to support her two daughters and herself by taking in washing and doing other work, the husband and father was picked up in Lakeland, where he had been conducting evangelistic meetings. With him were the two girls.

Denies Luring Girls Away.

When Shoemaker was arraigned at Alton he denied that he had taken the girls away from home. He had made the trip to Florida by easy stages, he said, and the girls joined him there, paying their own expenses.

The chief of police at Lakeland when asked to investigate a report that the former pastor and two girls were there conducting evangelistic meetings reported back that they were living in one room, with a kitchenette, and the girls were supposed to be his daughters.

3D TERM QUERY IN LOS ANGELES IRKS COOLIDGE

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 17.—[Special.]—The inevitable bunch of posies from the movie colony was presented to Mrs. Calvin Coolidge by 5 year old Martha Lee Sparks, tiny actress, together with two tickets to a movie premiere here when the train bearing the ex-President and his wife from New Orleans came to a stop this morning.

Mr. Coolidge's ire neared the surface when one reporter, returned after he had dismissed the newspapermen at his hotel, knocked at the Coolidge suite and asked for a quotation on a report that the ex-President might run for the highest office again.

"You know better than that," the ex-President said crisply and shut the door.

Guard Home After 2 Bogus Detectives Make a Search

The East Chicago avenue police last night were watching the home of Roy S. Ripple, 42 East Elm street, after two men posing as detectives had searched the house during the afternoon. Mr. Ripple, who is secretary of the Rockwood Sprinkling company, was absent from the city but the two men presented what they said were search warrants to Mrs. Anna Anderson, the housekeeper.

U. S. FLYERS LAND AT ARICA; HOP TO SANTIAGO TODAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LIMA, Peru, Feb. 17.—Lieutenants Will White and Clement McMullen, United States army aviators who are trying for a new speed record from New York to Buenos Aires, arrived at Arica, Chile, this evening. They reached Las Palmas aerodrome here to 10:55 o'clock this morning from Talara, and left for Arica at 13:10 o'clock. They will hop for Santiago, Chile, at daybreak tomorrow.

The flyers were welcomed at Las Palmas aerodrome by a small crowd of local flying men. Not even the usual whistles and sirens were blown. This was no intentional affront to the flying visitors, but is an indication of Lima's growing air mindedness, as the novelty of air travel is definitely wearing off.

Passenger and mail planes of the Pan-American Grace Airways and of the Faucett Aviation company are now arriving and leaving Lima north and south daily, and between 50 and 100 travelers are weekly using air instead of steamship lines. Air travel is regarded by many as far safer than by boat and launch owing to dangerous surf at several west coast ports.

"In home construction it is common sense economy to use only materials that will last". . .

WALTER E. FREW

BUILDING a home requires the same careful judgment and foresight that you use in your business investments. If you sacrifice permanent worth to initial saving, you are sure to lose. Bankers know this. That is why such men as Walter E. Frew advise you to insist on permanent, rust-proof construction.

Copper flashings, gutters and downspouts, Brass or Copper pipe and solid Brass or Bronze hardware and lighting fixtures are permanent. They cannot rust. They give lifelong service without upkeep cost in home or skyscraper.

The slightly higher first cost of genuine rust-proof equipment is doubly justified. First, by its economy in the long run. Second, by the increased value it gives your property.

The Building Service Department of the COPPER & BRASS RESEARCH ASSOCIATION, 25 Broadway, New York, will be glad to advise you without charge about the uses and proper application of these metals.

BALANCED BLENDING . . .
THE SECRET OF MANOR HOUSE FLAVOR

. . . imagine a painting done with colors straight from the tube.

. . . think of a violin solo being played on an instrument that is out of tune.

Harmony . . . is absent in the painting. It is equally true of the solo. Both are undesirable.

It is the same with coffee. If it is not properly blended, it lacks flavor harmony.

Manor House Coffee possesses an individual flavor that comes from balanced blending . . . every one of the six varieties used in making is in perfect "flavor harmony" with the remaining five.

Since 1854, when W. F. McLaughlin roasted his first pound of coffee . . . his name has been a guarantee of superior flavor.

The Steel was Right the Heat was Wrong

There was a certain manufacturer who found his power take-off gear-sleeves too brittle for the service required of them and he attributed the fault to the steel being used.

But an Interstate Metallurgist, invited to study the problem, found the fault in the temperature of the heat treatment.

The manufacturer now applies a certain lower temperature, recommended by this expert, and produces a gear-sleeve that withstands severe strain in a most satisfactory manner.

The same wide experience and sound advice of Interstate Metallurgists are available for your problems without cost or obligation.

CHARGE PACKERS USED 'BIG STICK' ON RAILROADS

Letters Bare Effort to Influence Buying.

Thirteen letters signed "Swift & Co." suggesting that the Santa Fé railroad buy certain equipment from a concern "in which the writer is interested" were entered yesterday in the first day of the federal trade commission's hearing of charges of unfair methods of competition in interstate commerce against the Mechanical Manufacturing company, makers of railroad equipment. The Mechanical Manufacturing company is controlled by members of the Swift family and other stockholders of the packing company.

R. H. O'Hara and W. A. Mayfield, manager and assistant manager, respectively, of the traffic department of Swift & Co., are also named in the commission's complaint. The complaint charges that the defendants compelled railroads to buy bumping posts, draft gear, and other equipment from the Mechanical Manufacturing company by promising that freight traffic would be shipped over the railroads by Swift & Co. if the purchases were made, or threatening to withdraw freight traffic if the railroads refused to buy.

Charges Made by Brookhart.

The charges are similar to allegations made in a United States senate resolution recently, in which Senator S. W. Brookhart [Rep., Ia.] accused Swift & Co. of using "an illegal and immoral" system known as "reciprocal buying."

The letters written by O'Hara and Mayfield were entered during the testimony of J. F. McCabe, assistant freight traffic manager of the Santa Fé lines, to whom they were written. Several pertinent passages were pointed out by James A. Horton and Everett F. Haycraft, attorneys for the federal trade commission.

"We should like very much," one of the letters read, "to have you put us in contact with the proper people in your organization, so that we may arrange to have them use these draft gears on at least 25 per cent of your new equipment. I notice that you contemplate buying $10,000,000 worth." you only five posts."

Asks for Patronage.

A later letter says that "in view of the large volume of competitive business that we are favoring you with, take whatever action is necessary to see that we secure your bumper business for the future."

Fred P. Houghton, vice president of the Santa Fé, testified that McCabe had bought supplies from the Mechanical Manufacturing company. Joseph R. Haynes, purchasing agent of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad, said that he had made similar purchases. The hearing is being held trade commission in the commission's office in the Transportation building.

BORLAND'S BODY FOUND IN SNOW BY SMASHED PLANE

MOTORSHIP NANUK, North Cape, Siberia, Feb. 17.—(AP)—The body of Earl Borland, companion of Carl Ben Eielson, noted arctic flyer, has been found near the wreckage of their plane which crashed Nov. 9 last, 90 miles southeast of North Cape. Borland's body was found last Thursday but bad weather kept Pilot Harold Gillam from bringing the news.

Working under severe weather conditions, 19 men today were digging in the snowdrifts near the wreckage in the search for the body of Eielson, who once was pilot for Sir Hubert Wilkins, the explorer. As the two airmen were side by side in the plane which was filled with supplies for the ice bound fur trading ship Nanuk, it was believed here the body of Eielson would be found within a short distance of Borland's which was under five feet of snow and ice.

ACROBAT FIGHTS WIFE IN COURT OVER CHILDREN

Henry Gaudsmith, an acrobat, yesterday appeared before Circuit Judge Lynch to demand custody of two children from his estranged wife, Mrs. Florence Gaudsmith of New York. Gaudsmith charged that his wife has been neglecting their children by keeping them in a basement apartment, although he pays $50 monthly for their support.

Mrs. Gaudsmith, who came from New York with the children, Kenneth, 9 years old, and Adolph, 6, averred that her former husband wants their custody solely because he wishes to make them acrobats. She demanded an increase in alimony payments, estimating Gaudsmith's annual income at $20,000. The judge continued the case until next Monday.

As noiseless as the good old icebox . . . and far less expensive

WHAT'S the use of putting up with old-fashioned refrigeration when you can have the very newest, finest automatic kind for less money?

Electrolux not only costs you less than ice, but is cheaper than any other automatic system. A bountiful supply of crystal cold ice cubes at all times for only a few cents a day.

Figure the saving yourself. It doesn't take long for this marvelous refrigerator to return you its purchase price.

And right from the first you have perfect automatic cold—cold that never stops and starts, that varies scarcely at all from the ideal point. You have pure, sparkling ice cubes, all you need, any hour of the day and night.

But never any care or worry. Never any responsibility. Electrolux needs no attention, almost needs no thought. You can't tell it's in your kitchen, except for the perfect service it gives.

No noise. Not a whisper of sound as long as you live, for there is nothing about this refrigerator to make sound. Not one single moving part does it have. Not a speck of machinery. And so, of course, no friction, vibration or wear—not any of the troubles that go with these evils. A tiny gas flame and a trickle of water do all the work, take the place of moving mechanism in Electrolux. They circulate the vital chilling liquid that actually makes the cold. The liquid alternately expands to vapor and condenses back again. That's all there is to it. This endless cycle goes on indefinitely.

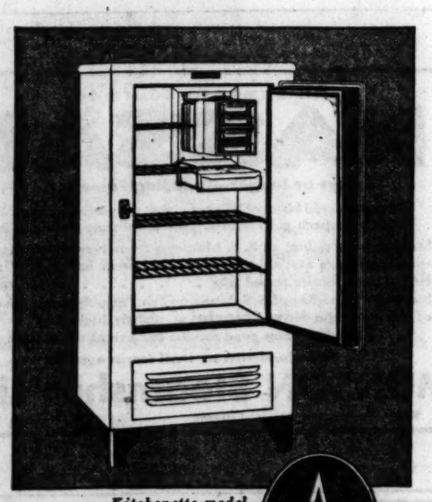
The liquid is hermetically sealed inside a rigid one-piece steel unit, with no openings of any kind. It never needs renewal. Even the tiny little gas flame is protected at all times. Should the flame ever go out, the gas automatically shuts off, and stays off until you are ready to light it once more.

With all these advantages you might think that the price of Electrolux is higher than other automatic refrigerators. It's not. $195 to $490 are the prices, covering a wide range of sizes and models.

You must see Electrolux before taking any action—at our display rooms. Or return coupon for complete illustrated information by mail.

QUICK FACTS!

1. Permanently noiseless.
2. Absolutely safe.
3. Only a few cents a day.
4. Lasts indefinitely.
5. No mechanism to wear, to vibrate, to need oil.
6. Free from trouble.
7. Perpetual, steady cold.
8. Plenty of pure ice cubes.
9. Tested and endorsed by national authorities



Kitchenette model shown above, freezes 35 large ice cubes at one time, and has 4 cubic feet of food space.

A tiny gas flame takes the place of all moving parts.

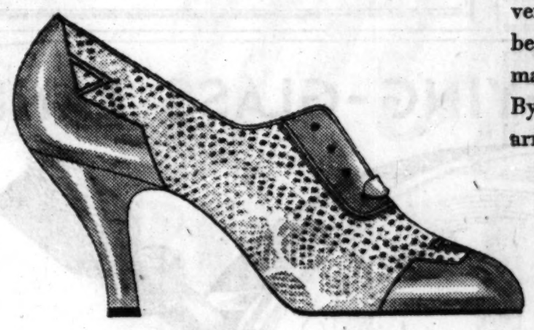
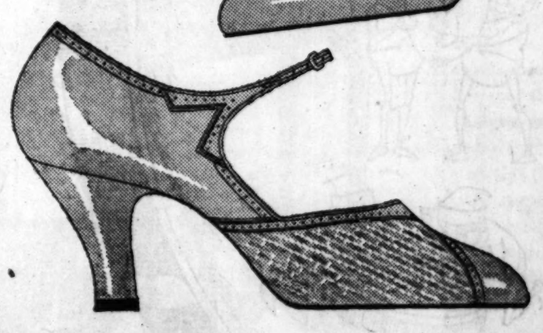
"Do you actually mean that EVERY SHOE in your Entire Stock IS REDUCED during February?"

. . . said a certain young lady as she walked through our Shoe Sections. Of course she was very excited at the idea and immediately she began picking out the most adorable shoes to match every costume in her Spring wardrobe! By the end of the hour she had collected this array of real "finds" in new Spring shoes . . .



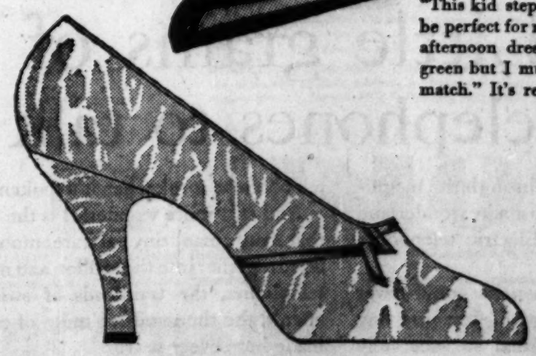
"A pair of beige watersnake oxfords trimmed in brown—just the thing for my new Spring suit", she murmured—and during the sale only $12

"And this cunning petite oxford. Will I choose it in green or white or beige for that little cap sleeved print that I am sure to want?" It is now priced, $14.50



"And I must have the beige and white woven vamp sandal to wear with that sports costume. Or is it more stunning in black and white?" Now only $11.75

"This kid step-in pump would be perfect for my crepe peplum afternoon dress. It's lovely in green but I must have blue to match." It's reduced to $16.25



"Because I never can resist opera pumps for evening I'll have to have this crepe and satin brocade dyed to match my newest gown." Luckily it's only $11.75

"My dear, these moire slippers will be just too perfect, dyed to match my little taffeta!" and then who isn't mercenary enough to be convinced at $13.25

LATVIAN PRIMATE HURLS CHARGE OF FORGERY AT REDS

Says Sergei Never Denied Russia's Church War.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Feb. 17.—Russia's attempt to use the leading churchmen still remaining within the soviets' boundaries to deny that it is making war on Christianity and persecuting followers of various religions is denounced today in Latvia and other Baltic states as a fraud.

These charges followed dispatches from Russia quoting an interview in the Moscow Isvestia with Metropolitan Sergei, the highest dignitary of the Russian orthodox church who is at present at liberty in Russia.

The document denied any campaign against religion, saying the churches had been closed, not by the government, but by the spontaneous action of the inhabitants and there is complete religious freedom in Russia. The document also denounced the pope, alleging that he is trying to organize a world war against the soviets.

Recalls Former Forgeries.

Archbishop John, head of the Orthodox church in Latvia, said he was not willing to believe the authenticity of the document signed by Metropolitan Sergei. He recalled that when Patriarch Tikhon was alive the bolsheviks never hesitated to forge his name to the most unbelievable documents. For instance, the one which legalized the marriage of higher clergy was a forgery.

"The fact that the soviet government appealed to Metropolitan Sergei for his opinions concerning the pope's message and the censure of other great churches is unheard of," he declared. "Hundreds of cathedrals, churches, monasteries and convents have been closed in Russia.

"But did any one ask Metropolitan Sergei about these things which have wounded the soul of every communicant of the Orthodox church? Not a single protest is heard, not a single word has appeared in the bolshevik press.

"The world must not take this document as a true statement of a Russian Orthodox church official. What makes the situation even more tragic is that no matter what opinion is attributed to Archbishop Sergei he can never have the opportunity of denying it in the communist press."

Close All Chita Churches.

CHITA, Siberia, Feb. 17.—(AP)—In response to the demands of 10,000 workers who paraded the streets today with anti-religious banners the soviet authorities closed all churches, synagogues and shrines in Chita.

No British Intervention.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 17.—Arthur Henderson, secretary of state for foreign affairs, spent a few lively minutes in the house of commons this afternoon with the opposition heckling him on the government's attitude toward Russia and attempting to commit him into taking some action against the anti-religious soviet policy. But Mr. Henderson refused to promise any intervention.

RUSSIA ORDERS 5,000 TO LEAD STATE OWNED FARM MOVEMENT

MOSCOW, Feb. 17.—(AP)—The central executive committee of the government today decided to mobilize 5,000 members of municipal councils to act as leaders in soviet village councils and in the regions of the mass collectivization of farms. Moscow is required to mobilize 2,000 such leaders, Leningrad, 1,700; Ivanovsk, 900, and Uralsk, 400. These men will be sent to districts in Siberia, Kazakskaia, Caucasia, Bashkiria and other places. The decision follows the recent action in sending factory workers to agricultural centers to insure the success of the collectivization of farms.

51 Hurt in Collision of Two Trains in Scotland

GLASGOW, Scotland, Feb. 17.—(AP)—Fifty-one passengers were injured, six seriously, in a collision between two trains during a dense fog here this evening. Several coaches were telescoped.

HOPE TO RESCUE CAPTAIN AND 23 ON DOOMED SHIP

Astoria, Ore., Feb. 17.—(AP)—The coastal steamer Admiral Benson, ashore in the mouth of the Columbia river, tonight was believed doomed to join the dozen ships abandoned during the last 75 years on Peacock spit, "the graveyard of the Pacific."

Only 24 members of the crew, including Capt. Charles Graham, remained aboard the vessel when rescue work was discontinued tonight. Thirty-nine members of the crew were removed from the ship today by lifeboat and breeches buoy, after the last of the 39 passengers was taken ashore.

Those remaining aboard the ship included all officers, some members of the deck crew, and most of the engine room crew. They were expected to be taken off the stranded steamer at low tide tomorrow, weather permitting.

PLANS TO WED AGAIN, SAYS DUKE OF MANCHESTER

New York, Feb. 17.—(AP)—The duke of Manchester, husband of the former Helene Zimmerman of Cincinnati, arrived today on the liner Mauretania from Havana, where he had gone to arrange for a divorce from the duchess.

The duke said when he arrived in Cuba he learned that the duchess already had instituted divorce proceedings in England, so he gave up his original plans. He said he would sail for England on March 7.

"Will you marry again," he was asked, "when the divorce action is completed?"

"Well, rather," he replied; "why not?"

"Have you any announcement as to who the bride may be?" he was asked.

"O, nothing to say as yet," came the reply; "a bit early, don't you think?"

a good place to raise a family

JERSEY CITY real estate is not mere land in a large city. Jersey City has much that is unusual to offer the public, in addition to the material advantages of residence; much in addition to the advantages of Nature for industry, marine and rail shipping, etc.

Jersey City is not a prudish city, but its municipal authorities are unyielding in that kind of regulation that keeps out commercialized vice and its by-products of underworld activities.

Pool rooms and dance halls strictly regulated and closed at midnight; dance halls closed all day Sunday; no "hangouts" as breeding places of idleness for young men. No commercialized vice at large; and no "district". A safe place for women and children at all times.

On the other hand, parks are open at all times for encouragement of athletics and outdoor life; theatres open Sundays after 2 P. M.; a broad, wholesome, well-governed city; established, not experimental. Not a sermon in 17 years against vice conditions; there are none.

Fine modern apartments with wide range of rentals; private houses and two-family homes.

Write the Chamber of Commerce or any Jersey City Realtor. Or if convenient, visit Jersey City.

ALICE IN MAGNIFYING-GLASS LAND

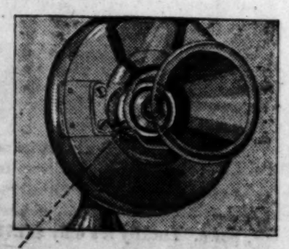
Little grains of Coal help telephones to talk

ALICE stepped through the magnifying glass into a new wonderland—where Western Electric telephones are made.

Without that glass she could never see what was going on. Imagine tiny grains of coal weighed so accurately that a butterfly's wing would tip the scales. In the "carbon button" of a mouthpiece these little grains help the telephone to speak when it's spoken to!

And still more wonderful is the way that many, many tiny parts are smoothly fitted together into the million and more telephones, the trainloads of switchboards, the thousands of miles of cable made here every year.

"You are so very careful with everything," said Alice, "that now I know why father's telephone always works so well."



Chicagoans at Western Electric know it's the little things that count in telephones. The careful making of the carbon button is typical.

FILE BRUNDAGE'S NAME IN BATTLE FOR U. S. SENATE

He May Run on League and Dry Issues.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Friends of Edward J. Brundage, former attorney general, filed his name at Springfield yesterday for the Republican nomination for U. S. senator. Possibilities loomed up at once of a four sided battle with Volsteadism as the predominant issue. Mr. Brundage declares the action was taken without consulting him and that he will take the five days before final day of withdrawals for serious consideration as to whether he will remain in the race.

Tells Possible Issues.

For months Mr. Brundage has been besought to become a candidate for senator on the issue of liberalization and a return to first principles of American government. Last night Mr. Brundage, without committing himself as to whether he will make the race, expressed himself upon possible issues should he decide to run.

"The consensus of those who have expressed their thoughts to me," he said, "is that our government and its policies are steadily becoming un-American.

"There are statesmen who seem to be giving more thought to Europe than to our own welfare.

"Many loyal Americans of the middle west still are suspicious of foreign entanglements and have no desire to be brought into a league of nations.

"They also feel the United States should be free to determine its own naval needs and build ships to meet them.

Gives Views on Dry Law.

"No sensible man can wish for the return of the American saloon, but thinking men and women, even those who do not indulge in intoxicants, believe it is time for a survey of the whole prohibition situation.

"Surely the experiences of other nations can be studied and our own failures considered without a fanatical determination to devote the whole energies of government to the forlorn attempt to enforce the impossible."

The name of Mrs. Bertha Baur, Republican national committeewoman, was filed for the nomination for congressman at large. Mrs. Baur, who has just returned from the south, said that during her absence her friends had proceeded on their own volition, and that "I will consider the matter of my possible candidacy very seriously." Brig. Gen. P. J. H. Farrell, likewise filed for Republican congressman at large, and there are a score or so of entrants.

LATEST ROSTER OF CANDIDATES WHO FILE FOR PRIMARIES

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 17.—[Special.]—Among the primary petitions filed today in the office of Secretary of State Stratton were:

United States senator—Republican: Newton Jenkins, 5623 Goodman street, Chicago; Edward J. Brundage, 3500 Sheridan road, Chicago; Abe Lincoln Wisler, 5562 West Jackson boulevard, Chicago.

State treasurer—Republican: Charles A. Gregory, Lovington. Democrat: Edward J. Barrett, 5723 South Maplewood avenue, Chicago.

"SLOW RACE" ENDS

Midnight in County Clerk Sweitzer's office saw the finish of the dawdlers' race to be the last in filing petitions for county offices and sanitary trustees. The rooms were thronged with candidates hopeful of landing tail end place on the ballots, which in the eyes of the politicians is rated next best to the top of the ticket. Shortly before the bell tapped, thirty candidates of the "People's Republican organization," led by William F. Gailing, marched in and filed their slate.

The Gailing candidates got the coveted last places, with the exception of one of the county board candidacies, which went to Mrs. Donald Graham, who filed as an independent at the last minute.

For the most part the final day brought in stragglers. Most of the various factional slates, already published from time to time, were filed some time ago. As there is a period of five days now for withdrawals, the lists are still open to possible revision.

Barbee Out for Tax Board.

One of the last minute filers was Robert E. Barbee, former alderman of the 17th ward, for member of the board of assessors. Barbee is a Deneen group candidate.

The "People's" slate, which was not made public until the time of filing, is headed by James E. Tomlinson, former police chief of Harvey, for sheriff. It has Robert J. Hunter, owner of an electric concern, for county clerk, and William C. Greatman for county judge; Irving Breakstone for probate judge, Joseph A. Wise for Criminal court clerk, Charles A. Wagner for probate clerk, Herman Schwake, past president of the Cook county farm bureau, and Eric Nelson Linn for assesors, and J. Leonard Undem, a coffee dealer, for board of review. Candidates for sanitary trustee are Charles H. Serum, Michael J. Murphy, Frank Trautman, Gerhard G. Schoneberger, and George W. Brunkhorst.

"People's" candidates for the county board are: President, Julian T. Fitzgerald; commissioners, Herbert Kuhagen, W. E. Gunderson, Otto Fetting, Joseph F. Kane, Fred J. Steuber, Jacob Bremer, Robert W. Stratton, Paul O. Miller, Lois A. Fischer, Hermas L. Shockley, Joseph Cerny, John A. Scribbins, Bernard H. Hoss, and Ernest Siebold. For chief justice of the Municipal court the group filed James H. Turner.

Wilson Files Slate.

County Commissioner Frank J. Wilson filed a slate for county offices in opposition to the Cermak group. Excepting for indorsement of the regular candidates, County Judge Jarecki, Probate Judge Horner, County School Supt. Tobin, and Probate Clerk Robin, the Wilson group presented a candidate for every office. The slate follows:

For county commissioners: Frank J. Wilson, president, and Robert J. Mulcahy, Victor, J. Schaeffer, Michael A. Foley, Hyman Geman, Michael F. Maher, Arthur Bennett, all of Chicago; and Daniel W. Dyan, Park Ridge; William F. Bromond, Oak Forest; Richard A. Goggin, Bellwood; Cameron Fish, Western Springs.

For sheriff, John P. Gibbons; county treasurer, Peter Bartzen; county clerk, John P. Dunne; clerk of Criminal court, Michal S. Giblin; board of assessors, John Rader, Frank J. Martin; board of review, William M. Quinn; sanitary trustees, Peter Schwinninger, Emanuel Berger, and Jerome P. Zelenka.

COURT ORDERS REMOVAL OF TWO SCHOOL LAWYERS

James Todd, attorney for the board of education, yesterday won the first step in his fight against the board's order appointing Frank Righeimer and Thomas V. Sullivan as assistant attorneys in charge respectively of condemnation suits and tax cases, when Chief Justice Thomas Taylor of the Circuit court issued a writ of mandamus directing the board to revoke the appointments.

The school trustees, in an afternoon session, voted to appeal the case and hired Attorney Charles Cutting to aid Righeimer in their defense.

Over the protests of Attorney Todd, the Thompson members of the school board last November named Righeimer and Sullivan to handle specific duties at salaries of $10,000 a year each. In his suit Todd claimed that he held the exclusive right to delegate the duties of his assistants.

C. A. Donnel Appointed to Succeed Henry J. Cox

C. A. Donnel, senior meteorologist at the local weather bureau, was appointed yesterday to succeed the late Henry J. Cox as chief of the bureau. Mr. Donnel has been in the government weather bureau service for 27 years, having started as observer at Norfolk, Va. W. P. Day, formerly of the central office in Washington, will fill the vacancy left by Mr. Donnel's promotion, and J. R. Lloyd will continue as relief forecaster.

START TRIAL OF SUIT FOR $60,000 PAID TO FORGER

The trial of a civil action against two banks to recover $60,000 out of a total of $200,000 paid out on forged checks during eight years was begun yesterday in Circuit Judge H. Sterling Pomeroy's court. The suit is brought by the F. J. Lewis Manufacturing company, now consolidated with the International Tar and Chemical corporation, against the Standard Trust and Savings bank, now consolidated with the National Bank of the Republic, and the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company.

Robert Shilling, an employé of the Lewis company, forged the checks and is in the Joliet penitentiary. He will be a witness. Shilling was employed by the Liquids Dispatch line, a subsidiary of the Lewis company. He forged 700 checks which the banks honored.

The forgeries began July 23, 1919, and were not discovered until January, 1927. Lewis contends that the banks should have detected the forgeries. Under the statute of limitations his suit is limited to the amounts obtained by Shilling during the last year of his operations. The banks contend they are not liable because officials of the company were negligent by failing to detect the forgeries.

So. African Diamond Trade Faces Ruin; Workers Leave

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, Feb. 17.—The Cape Town diamond cutting factory, which has lost nearly $100,000, has closed down and paid the fares of imported cutters to Europe. The Rand factories are also idle. The workers are steadily going to Europe, and it is declared here that if the government does not assist there is danger of the whole industry collapsing.

File Bankruptcy Petition for Camp, Thorne & Co.

Voluntary bankruptcy proceedings were instituted before Federal Judge Wilkerson yesterday by attorneys for Camp, Thorne & Co., investment brokers with offices at 29 South La Salle street. Fred E. Hummel was appointed receiver. Attorney Michael Gesas said the known liabilities are $575,000 with a possible addition of $500,000 which is in litigation. He said the assets consist of bonds with a par value of $750,000, but a present market value of about $200,000.

Blend for dessert, spread for appetizers or cooked in any dish using cheese—Velveeta rouses appetites

Eat all you want

of this new cheese goodness

Perhaps you've never once really satisfied your appetite for cheese! Now there's a delicious new cheese food you can eat to your heart's content. For you can digest it as easily as you would milk itself.

Velveeta is its name—an achievement of Kraft-Phenix, protected by patent. A secret process.

It's like milk, too, in its health giving properties. The valuable milk-sugar, calcium and other minerals. All are retained in Velveeta. And with them, flavor of the finest Cheddar cheese—smooth, satisfying.

You can use Velveeta in countless tempting ways. It spreads like butter for sandwiches and appetizers. Chilled, it slices firmly. For cooking it melts in a jiffy. Or toasts appetizingly—just "runny" enough.

New enjoyment for you—new flavor and satisfying goodness. Try Velveeta today. Order a half pound package.

THE PROTECTED GOVERNMENT KILLER.

Emmett J. White, United States customs patrol officer in Minnesota, tried for the killing of Henry Virkkula, has been found not guilty by a jury in the federal court in Duluth. The judge's instructions left the jury to consider whether the officer was within his authority and had used reasonable precautions or whether he was guilty of second degree manslaughter or third degree murder.

The national government, in accordance with its practices in such cases, had taken the trial from the state courts. The department of justice furnished the defense for the agent, his attorney being a United States assistant attorney from St. Paul.

Virkkula was killed while he was driving home at night with his wife and children. No liquor was found in the car. He had not stopped when he was hailed by the patrol, and, inasmuch as he did not regain consciousness after he was shot, there is no way of knowing what he thought the summons might indicate. On that trip at least he had nothing to fear from a lawful search of his car made by recognized officers. His failure to stop cost him his life, although he was not violating the law.

White, in testifying in his own defense, said that a stop sign was in the road and that an officer illuminated it with his flash light as the car was seen approaching, that he himself was nearly run down by the man and that his superior shouted to him to fire at the tires. Although he was an expert rifleman he said he was unfamiliar with the type of shotgun he was using and that he shot high in attempting to hit the wheels.

White had been coached to present himself to the jury as a conscientious officer acting under instructions and in the performance of his duty, and this preparation of the witness, it must be assumed as a matter of course, was under the direction of the federal attorney acting in his defense. Virkkula was represented as having deliberately ignored the stop sign and the calls of the officers. Thus, although innocent, he was held to have been the guilty one, and if the gunman did not intend to kill he was guiltless when he did kill.

The judge in instructing the jury denied that the federal agents had a right to shoot at persons in trying to stop a car and said that they should fire only as a last resort, and then in such a way as to hurt no one. If the gunman says he meant well but shot poorly it's nobody's fault but the victim's.

These cases in which the government protects and defends agents guilty of manslaughter expose citizens to all the worst consequences of lawlessness on the highways. If they do not stop at every call in the night, at the sight of armed men who are picked up on the road by their lights, they take the risk of being shot. If they do stop they take the risk of finding that they are in the hands of highwaymen. If they are with their families the women and children take the same risks.

It is prohibition doctrine accepted in Washington and taught to the quick trigger gunmen of the government that a citizen's life is in jeopardy whenever an enforcement officer wants to suspect him. The government will use its power then to prove that the agent, whatever he did, was right, and the citizen, however innocent he might be, was wrong and brought his death on himself. Citizens cannot win in that game. Their state governments cannot protect them by punishing the killers and discouraging the reckless shooting and the federal government is concerned only in protecting the men who kill. It is worthy of notice that these killings seldom have anything to do with the organized liquor traffic across the border.

The government still stands pat on the doctrine that everything goes under the eighteenth amendment. It is a repeal of rights and guaranties. The official gunman shoots and the responsibility is on the person who is shot. The only wholly guiltless person is the killer when brought to trial in the federal court. That is Volsteadism in the United States as it is written in the national laws and sustained in the national courts by the national department of justice. It is a government exhibit of American civilization.

THE REPORT ON NOBILE.

The report of the Italian ministry of marine on the case of Gen. Nobile is a rare example of official candor and integrity. Very seldom indeed does an official body in such circumstances resist the temptation to use a liberal amount of whitewash. The commission's report is the more noteworthy that it appears at a time when a special effort is being made to stimulate Italian pride of race and there is perhaps a special sensitiveness to foreign criticism. The temptation to obscure if not condone the faults of one who had been a national hero, whose exploits were expected to add luster to the Italian name, was bravely resisted.

This resistance was wise. The willingness of the commission to admit and condemn more than offsets the impression Nobile's faults might have been expected to reflect upon Italian character. The world will dismiss them as individual, while their open and frank condemnation will redound to the credit of the Italian government and Italian character. Also its effect upon the youth of Italy and upon national morale can hardly fail to be good. Every nation contains faulty individuals. What counts is the character and standards of conduct to which the nation holds itself. This Italian commission has shown a moral courage and standard of values which contrast sharply with the disposition to whitewash shown in so many instances in governments supposed to have their foundations in free opinion. Clearly the commission has scored one for the Fascist régime.

NINE FEET ALL THE WAY.

Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown, chief of army engineers, has given much encouragement to the advocates of a nine-foot channel to Minneapolis and St. Paul. Hitherto the army engineers have set their faces definitely against the proposal. They have said that nothing more than a six-foot channel was feasible from the mouth of the Illinois northward. Now the chief of the corps says that congress would be well advised to withhold legislation on the depth of the upper channel until a survey of the project is completed, but meanwhile he advises that all construction along the upper Mississippi be designed for ready adaptation to nine feet. He intends to submit estimates of cost of a channel of that depth when the survey is completed and he leans definitely toward the opinion that the deeper channel is preferable. He says:

"The improvement of the main stem of the Mississippi river between the Missouri river and St. Paul on a nine-foot basis goes logically hand in hand with the recently completed nine-foot project on the Ohio river and the ultimate opening of the Missouri river to the greatest feasible depths. It is an essential part of the Mississippi valley system and part of the route from that system to the great lakes."

Needless to say, the representatives of Illinois and the states below Illinois favor the nine-foot channel in the upper river. It is gratifying to observe that the government's engineers no longer regard the Mississippi system as a cluster of individual projects but as a single transportation unit stretching from Pittsburgh and Chicago on the east at least as far as Kansas City on the west, and from St. Paul on the north to New Orleans. To achieve the greatest values from the system the same equipment must be usable throughout its length. No railroad management, operating a system in the same area, would dream of building a narrow gauge line from St. Paul to St. Louis and standard gauge lines elsewhere, yet that is precisely what the army engineers hitherto have recommended.

The logic which will align the lower valley with the upper valley in support of the nine-foot channel will bring the upper valley to support the nine-foot channel to Chicago. A great transportation system which does not offer direct connections to Chicago, the concentration point of the nation's freight movements, is seriously handicapped. A railroad which taps Pittsburgh, New Orleans, Kansas City and St. Paul but does not reach Chicago would be as inefficient as if it were constructed at varying gauges.

THE MUNICIPAL AIRPORT AS A PORT OF ENTRY.

We hope the treasury department will approve the request of the American Air Transport association that the municipal airport be made an international port of entry for aircraft. At present much inconvenience is suffered by passengers embarking at Chicago for trips which cross international lines or who travel to Chicago from foreign ports. Permission must be obtained to fly from Canada direct to Chicago, and when the airport is reached the passengers must wait until a customs official is sent for to pass them. The alternative generally adopted is to interrupt the flight at a port of entry, thus considerably lengthening the time necessary for the trip.

Chicago is the second city of the country and is destined to be one of the great centers of air transport of the world. Its progress should not be retarded by unnecessary complications. The municipal airport is already important enough to have customs facilities on the ground.

Editorial of the Day

MR. SMOOT ON OBSCENITY.

[New York World.]

Senator Smoot, with a view to having reinstated the censorship provisions of the tariff bill, will ask a secret session of the senate shortly, at which he will read extracts from books that have already been barred by the customs officials. These provisions related to literature which customs officials hold "obscene," and literature "advocating or urging treason, insurrection, or forcible resistance to any law of the United States." They were changed, however, by the amendment introduced by Senator Cutting of New Mexico, which was passed, and which struck out all references to obscenity and toned down the treason clause so that it read, "urging forcible resistance to any law of the United States." We have said before that we are opposed to those provisions which Mr. Smoot wishes to rewrite into the bill. They compel the federal government to assume functions that belong properly to the states, or to subdivisions of states, like cities; and if there is one lesson that we should have learned by now, it is that when the federal government attempts to exercise a police power under the guise of regulating interstate commerce, or restricting immigration, or collecting import taxes, the result is always bureaucratic tyranny, shady dealing of one sort or another, and the imposition of silly penalties where they are not deserved. Furthermore, a government censorship of this sort would inevitably act to persecute persons who ought to be immune from persecution: scholars, artists, people of informed intellect. The temporary exclusion of Voltaire's "Candide" from the port of Boston gives an idea of what we can expect from a law like this with respect to classical literature; anybody who has examined continental treatises on psychiatry, philosophy and medicine knows what will happen to them if they happen to fall under the eye of some petty clerk. The proposed provisions of the bill are vicious, and they should be defeated.

"Rastus, how is it you have given up going to church?" asked Pastor Brown.

"Well, sah," replied Rastus, "it's dis way. I like to take an active part an' I used to pass de collection basket, but dey's give de job to Brothah Green, who returned from the war."

"In recognition of his heroic service, I suppose?"

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. —R. H.

WE'LL TELL 'EM A-PLENTY—

If they call us as a witness to testify before the judicial committee of the house of representatives. They're digging hard down there to get the real low down on this here now prohibition thing, and there's a lot we'd like to tell 'em. They'll maybe ask us whether we think things are better or worse as regards drinking than what they used to be. And if they don't ask us we'll ask ourself and then shoot the answer before they can stop us.

We'd have to tell 'em that we think things are worse because we believe that the barbed wire and paris green and old shoes and things that the government puts in the commercial alcohol to keep people from drinking it are destroying the love of music. Yessir! Why, in the old days when four or five fellows downed a few cocktails in a saloon they'd all get together at the end of the bar and sing "You're the darling of my heart, sweesh Adeline." Now, what do they do? Go out and throw bombs at a laundry or take a belated pedestrian apart to see what makes him tick.

Yessir, in the old days we said a man was probably drunk if he tried to kiss the bartender goodnight. Nowadays he tries to shoot the bartender's ears off. Why, the fond tear comes unbidden to the eyes as we recall four or five inebriated gentlemen in the dear old days beyond recall as they stood on a street corner with their arms around each other's neck singing so plaintively and tenderly that lovely old refrain, "Ze ole oaken bucket, ze i-run bound buck-et (hold 'er, fellers, hold 'er!), ze ole oaken buck-et, zat hangs in ze well." Then they would give their last dime to the poor bum down by the alley and ramble peacefully home. And now what do they need? Need we say? See daily papers.

Yessir, there's a lot we can tell 'em if they call us for a witness.

ADVICE TO MASQUERADERS.

Hang them away;
The jeweled crown,
The pantaloons,
The hooped gown.

Take off your mask
Of beauty or sin.
The jester's smirk,
The devil's grin.

Forget the moment
Though hard be the task,
When your real self
Shone through your mask.

Take it all off
And hide it away.
Then put on your mask
For every day.

KEEPER OF THE STARS.

THOSE TERRIBLE whisky smugglers have been bringing heaps and heaps of Canadian likker across the river on the ice in the Detroit river. Shameful. Ice was never intended to be used by wicked bootleggers. Ice is to put in the shaker when you make cocktails. But it must not be used by those terrible rum runners. Something should be done about this right away. Let another amendment be put in the constitution forbidding ice to form in the Detroit river. Tell you, that'll fix 'em!

THE CAPTAIN OF THE GUARD.

As Gilbert and Sullivan would write it.

(A Captain of the Guard is soon to be added to the White House establishment.—THE TRIB.)

THE CAPTAIN OF THE GUARD—
Yes, I am the Captain of the White House Guard.
CHORUS—
He is the Captain of the White House Guard.
THE CAPTAIN OF THE GUARD—
You see, my duties are particularly hard,
For I am the Captain of the White House Guard.
CHORUS—
You see his duties are particularly hard,
For he is the Captain of the White House Guard.
THE CAPTAIN OF THE GUARD—
I must caper about in a brisk maneuver,
To all who would call on Mr. Hoover.
If a senator comes in the White House yard,
With a brusque command I turn out the guard.
But if the senator's a radical—a radical—
Now, what's a good rhyme for radical?
CHORUS—
Oh, what's a good rhyme for radical?
CAPTAIN OF THE GUARD—
I give him a look most tragical,
And make him feel like a criminal.
CHORUS—
He gives him a look most tragical,
And makes him feel like a criminal.
CAPTAIN OF THE GUARD—
If I think a caller represents the farina,
I parade the guard and say, "Present arms!"
If it's a reporter and I know his desire
Is to see Mr. Hoover, I command, "Ready, fire!"
I know what to do with ordinary petitioners,
But my military books say naught about commissioners.
Everybody's on a board to investigate this or that;
I'll keep the drums beating ratty tat, ratty tat.
CHORUS—
Everybody's on a board to investigate this or that,
So he'll keep the drum beating ratty tat, ratty tat.

DRUGS AND THEIR USERS.

SOME twenty years ago the doctors engaged in a wordy war. The fight was over the question: Does a man drink whisky because he is nutty, or does a man get nutty because he drinks whisky? Finally, they declared a truce. It was agreed that both camps had enough right to fight for.

The same question is up as to the use of narcotic drugs. Again, both sides are right. The people who become drug addicts belong in two classes. One group are normal mentally and emotionally. They get into the clutches of a drug because of illness or for some other fairly good reason. The larger group is composed of people who were badly balanced before they began the use of drugs.

They are described as having "constitutional psychopathic inferiority," as "being in the twilight zone of mental ill health," as being "mentally and emotionally instable." Starting with this as the background the drug itself begins to paint in colors of its own.

The habitual use of any narcotic drug tends to change the personality, to affect behavior, to destroy ethical standards, and to degenerate mind and character. Some persons are more affected, some less. Some drugs are more degenerative, some less. The prolonged use of morphinic or other opiates affects the body surprisingly little. But it does change the mental processes. It affects judgment and attention considerably and memory but little. The subject lacks will power and feels discouraged, helpless, and pitifully depressed, especially when his drug dies down.

The chronic cocaine user has a greatly impaired judgment. He is apt to acquire delusions and to become paranoid. As a rule the use of any opiate tends to restrain a criminal from criminal acts, although the desperation of drug hunger may drive him to extremes to meet his need. On the other hand, the immediate effect of cocaine is to make the addict more aggressive and invasive. The use of any of these drugs lessens the tendency to sex crimes.

The drugs of the bromide group destroy character and upset emotional stability faster than do the opiates.

The immediate effects of drugs are overcome by eliminating and other drugs within a day or two. The cure of the urge to take up the drug again is a matter of mental, moral and character training and not of taking medicine.

A STANDING AFFLICTION.

Constant reader writes: I have fallen arches and the doctor wants me to have plates made for my shoes. I am 30 years old. Will these help me?

How long do you think I will have to wear them, as they are quite heavy and I stand most of the day?

My daughter, 13, is wearing them. Why is it that we both have the same trouble? Is is inherited?

REPLY.

Plates and other forms of arch supports sometimes give temporary relief. Worn permanently they sometimes make matters worse. You and your daughter should learn to walk pigeon-toed. You should build up the muscles of your legs and feet by exercise. This is the method of treatment for weak feet, slew-foot, or fallen arches. It is possible both you and your daughter have inherited a tendency for the toes to turn out. This mechanical arrangement is the cause of fallen arches.

LAW USUALLY FOUR WEEKS.

Mrs. M. G. writes: How long will I have to keep my boy in with chicken pox? He is 6 years old. When can I give him a tub bath?

REPLY.

The laws generally specify four weeks. The disease is especially communicable in the early stages.

As soon as he is free from fever you can give him a tub bath. Bathing is not particularly hazardous.

USUALLY NOT DANGEROUS.

G. A. D. writes: Will you kindly tell me the cause of shingles and is it dangerous?

REPLY.

Shingles is a form of herpes and is akin to cold sores and fever blisters. The cause is either a virus or a microbe. The infection is located in the nerve and its root.

The malady is dangerous only under unusual circumstances. Cure is spontaneous. Measures for relief are of service.

AND AS TO SPINACH.

Miss H. L. L. writes:

1. Kindly let me know the value of spinach.
   a. Is it fattening?
   b. Is it beneficial to the complexion?
2. Does inhaling cigaret smoke cause a growth of hair on the face?

REPLY:

1. It is a salad with a fair amount of vitamins, minerals and roughage. It has a fair calory content. It is especially advised for people who are somewhat anemic and also need vitamins. It runs a little high in oxalates, and that is a disadvantage.
   a. No.

HOLDS DEBTOR'S CLOTHES.

Chicago, Feb. 15.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A party left some clothing for a sum of money he owes me, agreeing to redeem same within two weeks. He has failed to appear. How long do I have to hold his belongings before I am allowed to sell them? G. K.

A creditor does not, merely by virtue of being in possession of goods belonging to his debtor, have any technical right to sell without legal proceedings, although the right of setoff would give him a qualified immunity if he sold without right. Hence, unless the value of the goods is small compared with the debt, so that they are not likely to be reclaimed, a safer course is to proceed under the 1922 statute which gives any person who has expended labor or material on a chattel or furnished storage at the request of its owner a lien analogous to the familiar mechanic's lien on real estate. Such lien ceases at the expiration of 60 days from delivery of the goods to the owner unless claimant files in recorder's office a lien notice. Such lien may be foreclosed by ordinary chancery proceedings or by advertisement and sale, the first step of which is to deliver to the sheriff a certified copy of the claim for lien, indorsed with request for foreclosure. Adverse parties may within ten days deny the lien, in which case foreclosure in chancery must be begun within an additional ten days. If no denial, the sheriff advertises and sells.

If your principal object is simply to get the goods off your hands, it is simpler to ask a storage warehouse to call for them for the owner's account. The warehouse can easily sell for its charges.

PREVIOUS DOWN PAYMENT.

Chicago, Feb. 15.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. If one sent a correspondence school $3 as first payment on a course of lessons in 1928 and then dropped the course, could this $3 be deducted on resuming the course? 2. Was the said amount forfeited when payments were stopped? 3. Also, in case of a minor, could he recover the $3 after a lapse of two years? M. G.

1. In general, yes.
2. Ordinarily the courts will not enforce a forfeiture where the other party has not been prejudiced by the delay.
3. Technically yes; but the amount is too small to make court proceedings worth while.

SANDUSKY, O.—The sentence of Lieut. B. Davis, the rebel spy, who was to have been executed at Johnson's island today, has been commuted by President Lincoln.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—The Richmond Whig says: "We learn upon good authority that our forces are falling back before Sherman's advancing columns in the direction of Columbia, S. C., and will probably make a stand on the Santee."

CINCINNATI, O.—Charles Francis Daniels, charged with being one of the conspirators to sack and burn Chicago last fall, and who escaped from the military authorities here three days ago, sent a letter from Hamilton, Ont., to the judge advocate of the military commission which is trying the plotters, ironically thanking Maj. Burnett for courtesies received and for the valuable present of jewelry [handcuffs]. He impudently invites the judge advocate to meet him at the Clifton house, Canada, during the next two months, where, he says, the past shall not interfere with their intercourse as gentlemen.

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—The Republican's Cairo special says: "Late New Orleans advices report that the Mexican, Gen. A dispatch from Lourenzo Marquez says that from Boer sources it is reported that Buller is attacking the Boer position at Vaalkrantz and that the Boers are still holding the position. From Durban comes a report of renewed fighting on the Tugela river. Latest reports from Lord Roberts at Jacobsdal seem to confirm reports that Gen. Cronje's Boer army is in full retreat, with Lord Kitchener and Gen. Kelly-Kenny in close pursuit.

CHICAGO.—Chicago teachers who have made a study of taxation and revenue with special reference to corporations reported their findings to a massmeeting of 2,000 citizens in Central Music hall, specifying tax dodgers and estimating the value of property escaping taxation. They scheduled four "specimen corporations" and estimated the amount of property of the four escaping taxation at more than $100,000,000. PARIS.—Indications are that the Big Three have given up on their "bluff" to President Wilson. The Lloyd George-Millerand row, resulting in Premier Millerand of France revealing the bluff in a newspaper interview, has played into the hands of the President and spoiled the attempt of Great Britain, France, and Italy to stick to the ultimatum to Jugo-Slavia on settlement of the Adriatic problem despite Wilson's threat to withdraw from European affairs. The Big Three now are reported to have changed entirely the tone of the original note replying to President Wilson, which has not been sent, and the new note is understood to point out politely that the allies wish to settle the Adriatic problem with America.

THE LONDON CONFERENCE.

Chicago, Feb. 14.—It is surely a sad spectacle to see how upset and disappointed is your special London correspondent, Arthur S. Henning, at the London naval conference; also your cartoonist, Mr. Orr.

Have Mr. Henning and Mr. Orr forgotten that this naval conference was called to actually reduce armament, and that by common agreement of the nations represented? One nation doesn't do all the reducing. Both the United States and Great Britain are expected to reduce naval armament. The proposal to reduce Great Britain's battleships from 21 to 15 and the United States' from 18 to 15, is a move in the right direction. Although Great Britain scraps twice as many battleships as we do, the ultimate result is that both nations have substantial parity in battleships, each having 15.

Mr. Henning is respectfully referred to the two simple statements of the Briand-Kellogg pact, to which the United States as well as some other forty to fifty nations have solemnly affixed their signatures. Mr. Henning could memorize these two statements easily in less than five minutes. As a good citizen he will undoubtedly want to encourage our own beloved country to live up to its treaty obligations. The peoples of the world expect actual reductions in naval armament—not a mere talkfest with no appreciable results.

L. P. HARPER.

THE OTHER SIDE.

Streator, Ill., Feb. 15.—THE TRIBUNE is to be congratulated on the way its correspondents are covering the naval conference.

While it seems quite obvious that the American delegation to the conference, under the passive leadership of Secretary Stimson, is trying hard to "swap their shirts for a diplomatic spanking" it is a solace for the American people to know that we have at least one potent protector of American interests sitting in at the conference—THE TRIBUNE.

The American people are supposed to be aggressive—supposed to be able to get what they go after. Surely the American delegation, by bowing to the demands of the British—without even putting up a fight—is not truly representing their countrymen. Or perhaps the delegation had orders not to be too aggressive! Ask Mr. Hoover.

THE TRIBUNE, through its brilliant veteran, Arthur Sears Henning, is giving us a true and complete story of the conference. Editorially THE TRIBUNE is voicing the sentiments of every red blooded American.

The next time the nations of the world are in conference and we are invited to enter and give all and take nothing we don't want a bunch of high powered diplomats to represent us. We don't have to be diplomatic to get what we want. We want fighters to represent us, men who are more aggressive than the most aggressive foreigners.

Picture for a moment a man of Al Smith's caliber representing us at the current conference. Al may not be a suave diplomat, but can you imagine him giving in to the British without a fight—I ask you?

JAMES H. BERNER JR.

SAVING EXPENSES.

Chicago, Feb. 14.—Why send a naval delegation to England to arbitrate parity of naval forces? It costs money to send a delegation. I would suggest that the English government simply write out what they want and have the United States sign on the dotted line. This would save expenses.

S. S. BERRY.

WHAT IS LAW!

Sheboygan, Wis., Feb. 14.—Mr. Alford's surprise in today's paper that a officer who shoots down a bank robber is a hero, while an officer who shoots down a bootlegger is a murderer, reminds me: Back in the eighties one New Englander asked another, "What is orthodox?" And the response was "Orthodoxy is my doxy; heterodoxy is your'n."

Does Mr. Alford approve of the Boston tea party? Would he have approved the stamp act? Would he have obeyed the law [1850] which made it a penal offense to refuse to aid in the capture of a fugitive slave? All were laws, or reaction to laws.

Isn't America what it is because our forefathers refused to obey certain laws? A. STOCKS.

EZRA POUND ON BORAH.

RAPALLO, Italy, Jan. 27.—As a native born Idahoan I should like to extend public congratulations to the mayor and councilmen of Mullin, and to express the pious and constitutional hope that the citizens of Idaho will at the next election rise and kick the loud-mouthed Borah so far out of the United States senate that his name will forever disappear from the American press.

It is naturally gratifying that a state should be represented on important senate committees, but Borah on the foreign relations committee has been worse than useless and there are times when a state should concede something to the national interests. EZRA POUND.

NO CHANGE IN 55 YEARS.

Chicago, Feb. 14. — When Senator Bruce turned to the group of the Woman's Christian Temperance union that was attending the committee hearing on the wet and dry question he said "better if they had stayed by their temperance program." I would like Senator Bruce to know that from the organizing of the W. C. T. U., fifty-five years ago, to the present day they have stood by their principles, which read, "The protection of the home, the abolition of the liquor traffic, and the triumph of Christ's Golden Rule in custom and in law," and the abolition of the liquor traffic has always meant to the members prohibition. CHARLES MULLIGAN.

Chicago, Feb. 9.—Some of us who can remember "away back when" were startled to see in today's photogravure section that the statue of Lincoln, the rail splitter, was attributed to George Mulligan. It seems but a few years back that the work of the promising young sculptor, Mr. Charles Mulligan, was delighting all Chicago, and just as success seemed assured after years of struggle his untimely death caused general sorrow.

It may be that George was a second or unused name, but I very distinctly remember Mr. Mulligan saying that he was the sixteenth Charles Mulligan in unbroken succession. Surely his fame should attach to the name he so evidently prized. ANNE E. BRADLEY.

FRANCE FORTIFIES AGAINST ATTACK BY MAGIC OCEAN

Speeds Hidden Defense on Belgian Front.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Feb. 17.—The best defense of northern France against another invasion through Belgium is water, simply water, said Andre Maginot, minister of war, today just before the French cabinet resigned.

Accompanied by Gen. Maxime Weygand, now chief of staff and the late Marshal Foch's right hand man during the war, the war chief inspected the work of a huge defense project on the eastern frontier, which he intended to rush to completion.

He revealed that engineers are studying a plan for flooding the frontier region from Lille to Dunkirk as a defense measure in case of a new invasion.

Ready at End of Year.

"The plans are not completed yet, but they will be in three months," he said. "At the end of the year France will stage maneuvers, opening and closing the sluice gates and dams."

He pointed out that the frontier on the north is harder to defend than any other, not only on account of the terrain but also because it fronts on sea terrain, but also because it fronts on Belgium.

"It would be impossible and away from all decency to construct a massive defense organization in the face of a friendly nation, and besides, it would be difficult to establish a defense line in populous regions," M. Maginot explained.

To Combine Two Waters.

"But north of Lille there are admirable facilities for flooding the country. One could flood it with sea water, but that would render the farm lands sterile for 25 years. However, if sea water was mixed with fresh water in a proportion of one to two, agriculture would not suffer.

"We are planning a system for inundating at any time of the year in any weather and with great speed in case of stress.

"In the regions that cannot be flooded, we are establishing permanent defenses at certain points. The key point is Mont Cassel, where machine gun placements can be constructed, and the second is the forest of Raismes and the forest of Mormal. They would have to be strongly held and would be the chief bulwarks of an enemy advance.

He explained that the chief difficulty in inundation for defense up to now lay in the evacuation of the numerous inhabitants of this industrial region ahead of the flood waters. Experts are working out a plan for a speedy evacuation by districts before the flood gates open.

CHINA SEEKS TO BUY RED SHARE IN MANCHURIA LINE

Seeks Sole Control of Railroad.

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Feb. 17.—Mo Te-hui, president of the Chinese Eastern railway, who has been in Nanking in conference with the Nationalist government, left for Mukden today. He stated that his intention is to attempt to purchase the soviet interest in the Chinese railway at the forthcoming Moscow conference, in accordance with the terms of the 1924 agreement which contains a clause permitting the purchase of the Russian interest in the Chinese Eastern railroad by China.

He declared that in event he is unable to arrange for the purchase of the soviet interest, he would then try to persuade Russia to agree on the joint operation of the railway on a strictly commercial basis.

May Demand Indemnity.

Various anti-Russian organizations presented Mo Te-hui with various resolutions. Among them were demands for the abrogation of the Harbarovsk protocol; that Russia indemnify China for all losses in connection with the recent conflict in Manchuria; that the bolsheviks cease propaganda in Manchuria; and that China be granted equality in personnel and operation of the Chinese Eastern railway.

Mo Te-hui stated that after a few days in Mukden, where he will confer with Marshal Chang Sueh-liang, head of the Manchurian government, he expects to go to Moscow, accompanied by representatives of both the Nanking and Mukden governments.

Civil War Brewing.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 17.—(AP)—Japanese semi-official reports state today that war preparations are proceeding throughout north China. The Shansi and other northern forces are said to have mobilized and to be moving southward against President Chiang Kai-shek. It is reported that fighting occurred Saturday near Kweiteh on the Lunghai railway.

LAKE NEMI GIVES UP GEM OF OLD ROME SCULPTURE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Feb. 17.—What is considered the most perfect example of ancient Roman bronze sculpture yet found was yielded by Lake Nemi today, which is still being drained in order to remove the famous barges of the Emperor Caligula which are lying at its bottom.

The newly discovered piece consists of a gilded bronze pillar originally used to support the railing of a barge. The top pillar represents two heads back to back, one being that of a youthful faun, the other of a bearded satyr.

The bronze piece is about a yard high and is considered by experts to be chiseled bronze work worthy of Cellini.

REPORT AID OF TROTZKY SHOT BY ORDERS OF STALIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Feb. 17.—German followers of Leon Trotzky, former soviet war minister, today announced the receipt of news by letter from Russia that Dictator Joseph V. Stalin had caused a confidential agent of Trotzky's, named Blumkin, to be shot. Blumkin is said to have entered Russia and approached the Austrian born communist leader, Karl Radek, with instructions from Trotzky for intensifying clandestine propaganda for Trotzky's extreme left ideas.

Radek refused to listen and instead ordered Blumkin to report to the desks and tell them all he knew about Trotzky's plans. Blumkin refused, upon which he was shot.

German Trotzkyists also allege that Dictator Stalin is keeping a daughter of Trotzky's in jail despite the fact that she is suffering from a serious illness. Her imprisonment is asserted to have no other justification than a desire for revenge for certain accusations against Stalin contained in Trotzky's memoirs.

Assessor Oliver Faces Trial April 9 for Tax Fraud

Gene C. Oliver, member of the county board of tax assessors, will be brought to trial on charges of income tax fraud on April 9. The date was set by Federal Judge Lindley yesterday. Oliver is charged with failure to file returns and willful evasion of payment in 1926, 1927, and 1928. He owes the government alleges, approximately $42,000 in back taxes.

MOORE, ENVOY TO POLAND, DIES IN LOS ANGELES

Served as Ambassador to Spain Under Harding

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 17.—[Special.]—Alexander P. Moore, American newspaper publisher and diplomat, died here at noon today of tuberculosis of the throat and lungs. Several relatives were at his bedside. The illness which cause his death struck him acutely at Palm Springs, Cal., on Feb. 3, when his condition was first diagnosed as a tubercular infection of the throat. Mr. Moore was brought to the Pottenger sanitarium in Monrovie, Cal., where a physical collapse ensued and last Friday he was removed to the California Lutheran hospital in Los Angeles where his death occurred with bronchial pneumonia as a contributing cause.

Mr. Moore, formerly publisher of Pittsburgh and New York dailies, had arrived in southern California last August en route from his diplomatic post in Peru to Washington. He developed a cold and lingered here to combat it. Neither Mr. Moore nor any of his entourage were aware of the nature of his illness until it became acute.

Appointed by Harding.

Mr. Moore began his succession of diplomatic offices under the late President Harding, his personal friend, when he was appointed ambassador to Spain in 1923. In Madrid he became known as a friend of King Alfonso and Gen. Primo De Rivera, then prime minister.

Ambassador Moore was born in Pittsburgh Nov. 10, 1867, and although his parents were in comfortable circumstances, was advised by his father to make himself self-supporting even in his youth. While working as hustler in a brickyard he attended night school and when 12 years old started his newspaper career as copy boy for the Pittsburgh Telegraph. He succeeded in one newspaper job after another and became managing editor of the Pittsburgh Press, part owner of the Press, editor-in-chief, owner, and publisher of the Pittsburgh Leader. He supported Theodore Roosevelt in the Bull Moose days, but later returned to the party fold. Mr. Moore took over the New York Daily Mirror in 1924, but soon disposed of his interests.

Weds Miss Russell in 1912.

In June, 1912, he married the stage beauty, Lillian Russell. Miss Russell died in 1921.

Mr. Moore held membership in these clubs: New York Lambs, Atlantic Yacht of New York, Washington Racquets, Pittsburgh Athletic, Field and Press.

It is expected the body will be sent to Pittsburgh for burial.

Science's Pet Cow Dies; Had 'Window' in Stomach

State College, Pa., Feb. 17.—(AP)—Pennstate Jessie, the cow with a "window" in her stomach, died today.

For the last four years Jessie had been a walking laboratory. She received wide notice when a permanent fistula was placed in the left side of her rumen, or first stomach. Since then, with the aid of research experts of the Agricultural school of Pennsylvania State College, Jessie has made several important contributions to science.

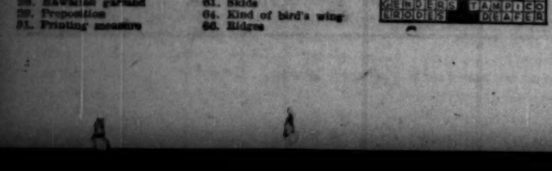
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED



LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Who Cares for Parties?

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.; Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Tribune.

Bassoon Solo Intrigues the Reviewer.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

Radio's offerings last evening were comparatively light.

The "modern concert," over W-G-N from 9 to 10 o'clock included Gaston du Moulin and the Symphony orchestra, Jean Goldkette and the dance orchestra, Walter Pontius and his tenor voice, Lawrence Salerno, baritone, and so on. And since the program ranged from the classical, the operatic, the dance, and even to the sentimental songs of the day, it may be taken for granted that it contained something for everybody.

The New York orchestral concert from New York through W-G-N, from 8:30 to 9 o'clock, had Mme. Maria Kurenko as soprano soloist.

The orchestral and vocal program from New York through W-G-N, from 7:30 to 8:30 o'clock, was well arranged. Radio listeners would do well to make note of this Monday's program; it is never disappointing.

A bassoon solo, the rondo from a Weber concerto for the bassoon, on the Rochester Civic orchestra concert, broadcast through KYW, from 9 to 9:30 p. m., was a novelty as well as being pleasing, lively music.

Leave Poison Gas in Their Sealed House to Guard It

Rome, N. Y., Feb. 17.—(AP)—Poison gas is "the watchdog" which Dr. Sumner B. Kingsley, cancer specialist, has set to guard his home against burglaries during a five months' absence. On all doors of the doctor's home are signs reading, "Poison gas—keep out." Before he and his wife left on a tour of Europe they sealed every possible crevice and crack and released the gas. Police and firemen were notified.

Fear Evanston Girl, 21, Drowned Herself in Lake

Mrs. Louise Schmidt, 600 Sheridan road, Evanston, last night asked the Evanston police to locate her cousin, Miss Tekla Dobaan, 21 years old, who disappeared from her home during the evening. Mrs Schmidt said the girl has been in ill health and fears she may have attempted to drown herself in the lake.

A. A. WORSLEY, LAW INSTITUTE HEAD, DEAD, AGED 63

Ambrose A. Worsley, 63 years old, president of the Chicago Law institute and a practicing attorney in Chicago for 35 years, died yesterday at his home at 2944 Fulton street, of pneumonia after an illness of nine days. Funeral services will be held at the chapel at 3159 Madison street, at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

Mr. Worsley was born in Racine, Wis., and was educated at Valparaiso university. He then studied law in lawyers' offices in Kansas and in Texas, being admitted to the Texas bar in 1890 and practicing for a time in Houston. He later moved to Chicago and was admitted to the bar here in 1895.

He was active in Democratic politics in the city for many years and was once a candidate for municipal judge. Last year he ran as an independent candidate for a superior judgeship as a protest against the coalition ticket. He was an active member of the board of directors of the Lawyers' Association of Illinois and was a member of the Chicago Bar association.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Lenore Lavin of Kansasville, Wis.

GENERAL ORDERS BOOZE INQUIRY AT ARMY POSTS

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 17.—(AP)—Commanding officers of army posts within the Eighth corps area today were ordered by Maj. Gen. William Lassiter to investigate reports of violations of the national prohibition laws by army officers.

The investigations were ordered by Gen. Lassister after receipt of a letter from the adjutant general of the army calling to his attention an anonymous letter which intimated that Fort Bliss at El Paso, Tex., on the Mexican border, was the wettest spot in the United States.

Gen. Lassiter stated the belief that while there might be some drinking by army personnel, the situation was not such as to cause any drastic action on his part.

"There is not anything like as much drinking being done in the army now as there was thirty years ago," he said.

John McMahon Funeral Rites Will Be Tomorrow

Funeral services for John McMahon, president of the McMahon Biscuit company and formerly a director of the National Biscuit company, will be held at 10 a. m. tomorrow in St. Michael's church, Eugenie street and Cleveland avenue, with interment in Calvary cemetery. COPS GET A DRINK AND TEACH GIVER WHAT A SIN IT IS

Edward Hickman, 38 years old, was rejoicing over his reconciliation with his wife on Saturday night when two detectives rang the doorbell of his home at 4260 Milwaukee avenue. Announcing themselves as Detectives Louis Capparella and Michael Casey, they told Hickman that they had been informed that his home was a rendezvous for bandits and took charge of the place.

Hickman was so happy over his reconciliation that he invited the detectives to celebrate with him. He asked them to join in a toast on the reconciliation party and they accepted.

Later Detectives William Nihill and Harry Larson of the state's attorney's staff arrived and they, too, joined in the celebration. They waited three hours for the invited guests and when they did not appear the detectives dcided to lock up Hickman because he had five cases of beer and six pints of whisky for the party.

Judge Herbert G. Immenhausen in South State street court yesterday placed Hickman on probation for a year on a charge of possessing liquor.

MRS. ELLSWORTH GIVEN ALIMONY OF $400 A MONTH

Mrs. Marie C. Ellsworth, second wife of Paul R. Ellsworth, wealthy broker, was granted $400 a month alimony yesterday by Superior Judge Joseph Sabath in her suit for divorce. Master in Chancery Roswell B. Mason had recommended that Mrs. Ellsworth be given $700 a month, but Judge Sabath held that that amount was too much from an annual income of $15,000, which Ellsworth claims.

Mrs. Ellsworth was arrested last March after Miss Mildred Rogers, 28 years old, 1232 Jarvis avenue, had been found in the Ellsworth apartment at 232 East Walton place, suffering from knife wounds on her face and shoulders. Mrs. Ellsworth was in the room with Miss Rogers when the police arrived.

Miss Rogers was confused in her identification, naming Ellsworth's first wife as her assailant. Mrs. Marie Ellsworth had been married to the broker only a few days at the time of the affair.

Miner Union Officials Move to Quash Indictments

Benton, Ill., Feb. 17.—(AP)—Attorneys for Lon Fox, B. B. Cobb, and Ed Loden, former mine union officials, under indictment here for alleged embezzlement, have made a motion to quash the indictments, alleging technical errors.

EVERY EXPECTANT MOTHER SHOULD KNOW THESE FACTS

It's an old saying that a baby costs two of the mother's teeth. Teeth do decay rapidly during pregnancy in part because of the presence of excess acids in the mother's mouth.

But you can protect the teeth of motherhood by using Squibb's Dental Cream. It contains 50% Squibb's Milk of Magnesia. Plenty of this soothing antacid to penetrate the crevices of the teeth and gums and render acids harmless even where the toothbrush fails to reach. To guard The Danger Line, the vital gum margin which prevents pyorrhea as long as it keeps healthy. Surely the dentifrice the expectant mother selects is all-important. Squibb's is the only type of dentifrice that offers these special benefits so valuable during expectancy. At all reliable drug stores.

THIS FIRE GOES TO FIREMEN AND THEN RUNS AWAY

Princeton, Ind., Feb. 17.—[Special.] Princeton firemen go to many kinds of fires, but last night was the first time they ever had a fire come to them.

Arthur Tichenor, a farmer carrying a lantern, went into his garage for some gasoline. He unscrewed a plug in the bottom of the gasoline tank of his car and began draining out the fluid.

Wind blew the lantern over. The gasoline caught fire and flames enveloped the automobile. Tichenor leaped into his car and raced to Princeton, a stream of fire following like a rocket. He stopped at a firehouse. A small chemical tank was insufficient. Firemen went to get a larger tank and flames again threatened the automobile. Tichenor started another ride. As he turned his burning automobile south in Main street police gave chase, not knowing what it was all about.

The chase ended three miles south of Princeton when Tichenor's gas tank became empty.

The car was not seriously damaged and Tichenor was agreeably surprised when he returned home to find his garage had not been burned.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchial and minor forms of bronchial irritation. It is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (Adv.)

GIANT AIR LINER WILL STRIVE TO ENGIRDLE GLOBE

Plane Will Start in June on Flight Eastward.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 17.—(AP)—Eastward into the face of the rising sun, rather than westward, a monster air liner will be pointed in June to girdle the globe.

Harry Husted of Cleveland, while attending the International Aircraft exposition today, outlined changes and further details of the proposed flight in which he expects to out-Magellan the world's few Magellans of the air and shade the wildest fancies of Jules Verne.

Faced with headwinds in a westward flight and incomplete knowledge of air currents, he said the preliminary plans had been abandoned in favor of the more established eastward route.

"We expect to have final details completed in a week," he said. "We have been working night and day studying winds and projecting a trail around the globe that will give us most advantages."

First Hop to New York.

The flight, which, he said, would start "about June 15," will swing under way in a nonstop trip from Los Angeles to New York. The Atlantic ocean would be spanned in a nonstop flight to London, followed by a landing in Berlin.

"The rest of the trail is hazier," Husted said. "We expect to follow the Russian railway over Europe, span Siberia and Mongolia, and point from Japan to the Hawaiian islands. The final leg of the journey would be the flight to Los Angeles."

A giant Fokker F-32 is being groomed for the flight. Husted will be accompanied by five men, whose names he declined to give.

Lindbergh May Attend.

As aviation leaders and educators settled down to solving their problems in conferences, public interest shifted to the possible arrival of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, a nonstop flight from New York to St. Louis by Clarence Chamberlin, and a Guernsey cow which will be carried above the city in an airplane, fed and milked.

Lindbergh, who rode to fame at the backing of St. Louis men, may arrive Wednesday, though the show committee said that "it would make no promises."

Chamberlin departed after the famous flyers' luncheon by air and rail from New York, with the word that "I'll be back Wednesday in a nonstop flight."

Milk Cow in Air.

Claude M. Sterling of Parks Air college will pilot Sunnymede Ollie, Guernsey from Bismarck, Mo., over the city tomorrow in a tri-motored Ford. The cow will be fed and milked, and the milk parachuted down in paper containers.

Weighing more than 1,000 pounds, the cow will be flown to demonstrate the stability of aircraft. Scientific data will be collected on her behavior. Erik Nelson, around the world flyer and sales manager of the Boeing Airplane company, announced that Boeing 18 passenger or 12 passenger and mail planes will be put into operation within 90 days on the Chicago-San Francisco route.

The planes, powered with three motors, will be equipped with special night flying equipment, he said, and will weigh nearly nine tons when fully loaded.

GOV. TRUMBULL FALLS PILOTING A GLIDER; INJURY NOT SERIOUS

New York, Feb. 17.—[Special.]—Gov. John Trumbull of Connecticut suffered slight injuries late today when a glider he was operating got beyond control and crashed at the Newark, N. J., airport. After receiving medical attention he was able to walk.

The governor had gone to the airport to participate in the ceremony which formally opened the $100,000 hangar of the Colonial Air Transport and was the guest of Maj. Gen. John F. O'Ryan, head of the concern. After an expert had made several glider flights Gov. Trumbull expressed a wish to try the stunt.

As it soared it began to wabble and, after fluttering like a wounded bird, dropped several feet to the ground. The governor was helped to the office of the company and examined. There was a cut on his face. He said he felt only a slight pain in his right leg.

A year ago last July Gov. Trumbull narrowly escaped injury when his plane collided with one piloted by Lieut. J. W. Lancto of Wethersfield.

MINER DIES OF INJURIES.

Andrew Kronquist, 52 years old, a miner of Negaunee, Mich., died yesterday in St. Luke's hospital of injuries received last summer when he was crushed beneath a falling load of iron ore in a mine.

ONLY 1 GENERAL OF U. S. DIED IN ACTION OVERSEAS

Two Succumbed to Other Causes in Europe.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 17.—[Special.]—But one American general officer was killed in action during the world war, analysis of war department official records disclosed today. Two other general officers died from non-battle causes prior to the armistice, but only one officer above the grade of colonel is listed in the battle casualties for officers of the American expeditionary forces.

The death of the one general officer during the year's of American participation in the war contrasts with the death of ninety-three generals in the French army during the world war. Forty-one of the French died in action.

Brig. Gen. Edward Sigerfoos of Ohio, who went overseas as a colonel in command of the 153d depot brigade of the 77th division, died of wounds in October, 1918. An infantry officer, he was mortally wounded while fighting with his men at the front.

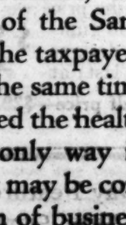
Another officer who went abroad with high rank and was killed in battle was Brig. Gen. Henry Hill of Quincy, Ill. After Brig. Gen. Hill, a National Guard officer, arrived in France at the head of the 65th infantry brigade in the 33d division, he was given the choice of becoming a colonel in the service of supply or a major in the line. Brig. Gen. Hill was killed in action after accepting a major's commission.

The American total battle casualties were 50,475. Of this number 3,014 were officers.

Baby Killed with Scissors Found in Berlin Theater

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Feb. 17.—The watchman of the Nollendorf theater, in making his rounds following the Sunday night performance, found the murdered body of a new born girl baby in a dark corner of a side room just off the auditorium proper, the police revealed today. A pair of bloody embroidery scissors with which the child had been stabbed to death lay nearby.



Help them grow!

Bottled Sunshine makes them plump and rosy

So often in the fast growing years children seem to lack vitality and endurance. Every day takes its toll in vital energy.

For years physicians have used an old time health-builder for children. Bottled Sunshine—good cod-liver oil!

They find that cod-liver oil, taken daily, builds vitality and increases resistance to infections.

It helps your child to grow and gain in weight as he should. When he gets it regularly, the under par, under weight child "picks up" quickly and puts on flesh; takes on the ruddy color of health.

This is because cod-liver oil supplies two vitamins essential for growing children—Vitamin D, the "sunshine vitamin" of which children are largely deprived, shut away as they are so many hours a day, from healthful sunshine.

It is also very rich in Vitamin A which promotes growth and nutrition, and increases resistance to certain infections.

Many physicians prefer one kind of cod-liver oil—Squibb's. They know they can depend on Squibb's because it is vitamin-tested and vitamin-protected.

Ask your physician about Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil as a builder of vitality for your child. Squibb has a new mint-flavored oil which older children will like. You can get it, as well as the plain, at all good drug stores.

These Outstanding Candidates

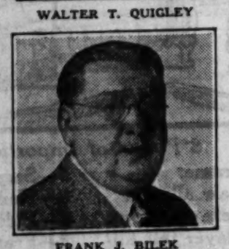
FOR TRUSTEES OF THE

SANITARY DISTRICT

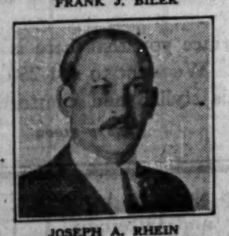
OF CHICAGO

WILLIAM G. TEGTMEIER

WALTER T. QUIGLEY



FRANK J. BILEK



JOSEPH A. RHEIN

ROLAND E. WILCOX

During the year 1929 by careful and prudent management, the Elmore administration of the Sanitary District has saved the taxpayers over $12,000,000. At the same time it has efficiently conserved the health of our citizens. The only way in which this efficient work may be continued is by the election of business men as trustees—men who are actuated solely by the motive of service.

On the Republican Ballot at the April primaries the men whose names appear at the right are offering their services and are soliciting the support of the voters. These men have been successful in the business and professional world. They represent all geographical divisions of the district and are pledged to give the district, as far as within their power, a clean, economical administration.

BUSINESS MEN FOR BUSINESS MEN'S JOBS

These men were suggested by civic and business leaders of Chicago and support is solicited for them on the proposition that to solve the tax problems and to conserve the health of our people we must have a business administration of the Sanitary District.

FREE Mechanical First Aid and Towing Service

Midnight; a long trip home; you step on the starter, a faint buzz, nothing more—a dead battery! Motorists with the very best car that engineering skill can devise may find themselves in this or similar predicaments.

When car trouble comes, it may find you on a lonely country road, far from a garage; it may come when you are near home, as you start off in the morning, or late at night. But no matter when it arrives, it is always unwelcome. It may be a leaking gas line, a stuck starter or a dead battery, but no matter what mechanical trouble it may be you are in need of help, even if it is such a simple mischance as running out of gas.

This help is available. You can use it as 90,000 motorists do. These motorists, members of the Chicago Motor Club, in 1929 sent in 120,000 calls for mechanical first aid.

Eighty-six per cent of the trouble reported was remedied by our mechanics, and these cars were able to continue on their way under their own power. Thus these members were saved the cost of a repair bill as well as the cost of a tow bill. The remaining 14% were towed to garages. Disabled cars are towed to any garage the member may designate within a 5-mile radius of the scene of the breakdown; the club has no interest, financial or otherwise, in any garage. This service, as well as all other services of the club, is free to members. No "nominal charge" is assessed. Membership in the club provides this service.

This service is available at any hour of the day or night. You are as close to service as the nearest telephone. In Cook County you call the club for service, directly, and your call is handled by our own mechanics using club equipment, which is the most efficient equipment money can buy. Club mechanics are all expert, courteous, trouble-shooters. In the sixty-one other counties in Illinois and northern Indiana, which comprise the club territory, carefully selected and approved service stations render this same service free.

Because of the affiliation of the club with the American Automobile Association, members are automatically affiliated with the A. A. A. clubs of the country. This affiliation assures you of nation-wide service.

In addition to mechanical first aid and towing service, the club provides members with such services as these: Home district service, which attends to special conditions around your home, such as seeing to it that refuse is promptly removed; accident prevention work, which seeks to cut accidents, especially among school children by means of safety posters and fostering schoolboy patrols. Travel service, which provides you with maps, logs and the most complete and up to the minute advice on road conditions; and bail bond service, which guarantees your appearance in traffic violation cases, where a bond not in excess of one hundred dollars is demanded.

Insurance, another service available only to members, gives you a valued form policy, which in the event of total loss pays you the face value of the policy. Accessories are insured without additional cost.

Last year the "exchange" returned cash savings to subscribers amounting to $711,332.11. Automobile insurance sales amounted to $3,894,706.04; more than the total sales in Illinois of the next three largest insurers. There is a branch of the club in your neighborhood. Write or call for further information.

K. O. PUNCHES OPEN TOURNEY ON SOUTH SIDE

Third City Team Picked Tonight.

BY FRENCH LANE.

The fighting boys of the south side clashed head-on, like a lot of wild running express trains, in the arena at White City last night.

After the forty-sixth collision had taken place the lights were turned out and 2,500 spectators were forced to go home and get some sleep. More than a dozen will have to be fought tonight before the south side's fighting team will be picked to fight for THE TRIBUNE'S Golden Gloves.

Fight from 7 P. M. and 1 A. M.

Please do not ask any ringsider who has watched the west side sectional meet, north side sectional meet and the start of the south side tournament to say where the greatest fighters in Chicago come from.

It isn't a fair question.

The west side boys showed lots of science and a hefty punch.

The north side boys turned out to be sluggers and they could take it.

In their preliminary skirmishes the south side lads looked like they had everything. And the south side rooters cheered throughout a six hour session. It was 7 o'clock when the first bout started. It was 1 o'clock when the lights went out.

Here's how the south side Golden Gloves tournament opened. There were eleven battles among the lightweights as an appetizer. Six of them ended in knockouts. There were four knockouts in the first six bouts.

Cheney Wilburn Crane from the Lawndale gym scored the first knockout. Frank Bertucci was his opponent. A Chicago Crane with all those candles on the front of his name shouldn't be out on the south side box fighting, native Chicagoans might think. But this Mr. Crane carried an old Mary Ann in his right hand. He clouted Bertucci on the chin with Mary Ann a minute after action started and Referee Johnny Behr counted out Mr. Bertucci.

Eighty Still Stand.

Joe Karias of Paddy Kane's stable came into the ring next. The south siders leaned back in their seats confident they were to see something. Joe Karias from Paddy Kane's stable could hail from no place but the south side. His opponent was Howard Callin of the Cullen A. C. Mr. Callan fought with everything he had for two rounds and had the lad from Paddy Kane's stable worried. But in the third Karias delivered the haymaker. Then more Referee Behr in his baritone voice counted ten.

The south siders couldn't be blamed for passing up a couple of hours of sweaty sleep to watch such combats. There were 270 in the field which started fighting for places on the south section team. Eighty of them are still in the running as the title matches draw near tonight.

The south-siders watched a little bit of every kind of fighting. From flyweights to heavyweights the leatherpushers passed in review. They were a game, hard hitting lot. They will have something to say about where the Golden Gloves will go.

There was the hairy chested boy, Jack Arakalis from St. Rita. The crowd called him "the ape man." He was a tough lad and whipped Matthew Thomas from Collegiate A. C. after three rounds of terrific milling. They were 147 pounders. Thomas was game and carried a punch, but the Greek had had a shade over him all the time after he floored Thomas in the first round.

Smiling Paddy Wins.

The greatest fight of the night also was in the 147 pound class. Two Irishmen were pushing leather at each other. They were Paddy Carroll, a lad with a broad smile which never disappeared from his face, and Bob Roche, a red haired kid from the Visitation parish.

During all the sectional Golden Gloves tournaments there hasn't been a more rip roaring battle. "The red haired kid thought Carroll came from the north of Ireland," Referee Davy Miller whispered to the ring siders after the last round. The fight went three rounds although each kid was reeling away with knockout punches every time there was a mixup. But finally Paddy was knocking McCue

PRO BASKETBALL.

Cleveland, 28; Paterson, 18.

BY HARLAND ROHM.

Minnesota's basketball team found an offense it couldn't stop at Patten gymnasium last night, and the result was a rout. Northwestern, making a heavy percentage of its shots, won, 47 to 17.

For two-thirds of the first half, which ended 21 to 12, the game was fairly close, but when the Wildcats began to hit it was just too bad. Starting with a nine point lead in the second half, they held the Gophers to two field goals while running up 26 more points. The Gophers' passing was good enough but they wouldn't shoot until they got close in, and when they did get short shots they couldn't sink them.

Minnesota Takes Lead.

The Purple's packed defense under the basket after they learned that the Gophers wouldn't shoot from anywhere else had a bit to do with it, but bad pushing of the ball at the hoop also was responsible for Minnesota's low total.

Minnesota got off in front, 3 to 0, when Norgaard outjumped Walter at center, giving them possession of the ball, but the Wildcats soon solved that by sending Bergherm to center and putting Walter back of the Gophers' center. After that a quick tip from Bergherm to Walter and back to the guards gave the Purple control of the ball most of the time.

They made good use of the control, for after the Gophers had scored the first three points Northwestern ran its total to six on baskets by Bergherm and Riel and from then on they held the lead. The Gophers stayed close until the half was two-thirds over, the score then being 11 to 8 for Northwestern. Three quick baskets by Capt. Walter and another by Lockhart put the Wildcats far in front and Minnesota never got close again.

Record Score for Purple.

The second half was a sad story for Minnesota, while Northwestern kept a far less than capacity crowd of Purple supporters cheering with basket after basket. Loose caged one shots from the foul line to bring the Gophers' score to 14, and Northwestern ran on to 31 before Nowotny got a foul toss. With the score 35 to 15, Schoening, the only Gopher who seemed able to hit the hoop, dropped his third basket and from then on the Minnesotans went scoreless while the Wildcats piled up the highest score they've totaled this year.

Capt. Walter played the only first class basketball he's turned in this year, not only in shooting in which he led the 19 men who played in the game but in passing. Walter dropped six field goals and three free throws, but wasn't far in front of Bert Riel and Bob Lockhart. Both sank five field goals, but Riel added three free throws and Lockhart only one.

ILLINI, 26; OHIO, 16

Columbus, O., Feb. 17.—(Special.)—Illinois won its second game of the season from Ohio State here tonight. The Buckeyes were ahead, 12 to 8, at the half.

The Illini were a different team the second half and chalked up 14 points while the Ohioans were getting four. With 11 minutes to play Illinois led, 14 to 13, but from then on it was a romp for the visitors. Lineup:

CARNERA ADDS ERICKSON TO HIS KNOCKOUT LIST

Needs Only Two Rounds for Fifth Victory.

Fight Decisions

At New Orleans, La.—Young Stribling knocked out Joe Packo [8].
At Wilkes-Barre, Pa. — Steve Smith beat Jackie Britton [10].

Oklahoma City, Okla., Feb. 17—(AP)—Primo Carnera, Italian giant, knocked out John O. (Man Mountain) Erickson, Chicago Swede, in the second round of their ten round bout at the coliseum here tonight. The end came after one minute and 45 seconds of the second round.

The big Swede fought gamely during the first round, and the crowd, estimated at 6,000 persons, roared its approval. However, the ambling alp grew furious in the second round, and swinging wildly with both fists, floored Erickson twice in succession, before he took the final count.

Primo knocked Erickson into the ropes and he stayed down for a count of nine. Erickson came up and the vast Venetian rushed him across the ring. A left jab sent Erickson sprawling across the ropes again and he took a nine count. That was followed by a left hook and a right cross to the chin and the big Swede went down, to be helped to his corner.

GRIFFITH WINS AGAIN.

Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 17.— (AP) — Gerald [Tuffy] Griffith, heavyweight title contender from Sioux City, tonight added another knockout to his string by putting Al Costello of Chicago to sleep in the first round of their ten round bout here.

PETROLLE K. O.'S BROOKS.

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 17.—(AP)—Billy Petrolle, Fargo, N. D., knocked out Joe Brooks, 138, Flint, Mich., in the third of their scheduled ten round headline bout here tonight. The Fargo "express" knocked Brooks down four times before the final count.

MILLER LOSES ON FOUL.

Newark, N. J., Feb. 17.—(AP)—Herbert Follins, Newark, 132 pounds, won on a foul from Ray Miller, Chicago, 135½ pounds, in the eighth round of a ten round bout here tonight. Miller had a comfortable lead in points when he struck the blow.

HERRERA WHIPS GROGAN.

Flint, Mich., Feb. 17.—[Special.]—A great left outpunched a mighty right as Tony Herrera, Mexican lightweight, took a decision over Tommy Grogan, Omaha, here tonight.

INJURY HALTS DISPLAY'S MONEY WINNING CAREER

Miami, Fla., Feb. 17.—(AP)—The campaign of Walter J. Salmon's Display for all time money winning honors of the American turf has been halted, at least temporarily.

Jack Pryce, trainer for the Salmon stable, announced today he had made arrangements to ship the 7 year old "iron" horse to the Mereworth stud in Kentucky. There he will be bred to four or five of Salmon's mares and then put back in training for the $100,000 international race to be run at Arlington Park, Chicago, in July.

Harry Dublinsky Wins Decision Over Ted Henry

Harry Dublinsky, west side lightweight, defeated Ted Henry in the feature bout of Promoter Dick Curley's card at the Ashland Boulevard auditorium last night before 1,500 spectators.

In the semi-windup, Paul Pantaleo, local heavyweight, was awarded the decision over Bud Doran of the south side. Tony Lungo knocked out Eddie O'Day in the third round of their scheduled six round heavyweight bout. Jack Collado won a decision over Tommy Kluth; Harry Graham and Frank Boyle went four rounds to a draw, and Nick Clementi took a four round decision over Jimmy Petress.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

WINTER RACING.

WINTER racing is assuming importance in the turf world. Of course, there always has been winter racing, but it never was regarded seriously except at New Orleans, which drew the pick of those stables which did not retire their strings.

New Orleans, under the sponsorship of Col. E. R. Bradley, has attempted sport worthy of modern times and has offered purses and stakes in keeping. Financially, the effort has been a flop. That is because Miami and Tia Juana, now Agua Caliente, offered a climate so superior that New Orleans is under a distinct handicap in regard to visitors and resulting patronage.

Tia Juana gave stakes, notably the Coffroth handicap, out of all proportion, except for advertising purposes, to the caliber of nags competing. With its casino adjunct, Agua Caliente continues this practice and there has been a notable improvement in class. Agua Caliente patronage and purses should increase rather than decrease.

Miami, however, because of its not unmerited, self-assumed title of "America's playground," has the greatest future from a strictly racing viewpoint. If mutuels were allowed there would be almost no limit to the purses and stakes which might be offered horsemen. Even under its present system of wagering, Miami is and will be a great spot.

This assertion is based on the fact that a coterie of sportsmen, headed by J. E. Widener, has secured control with the same slogan as prevails at Arlington Park, Saratoga, and Belmont, "Racing for sport, not profit." Incidentally, it may be stated that a number of members of the Arlington Park group are in the picture but have not come out in the open yet.

Havana attracts only a fair class of horses and its syndicate betting ring, necessary to make the establishment pay, does not appeal to those to whom speculation rather than entertainment is the paramount issue.

What this growth of winter racing means to the turf we may discuss at another time.

Maud Muller.

Maud Muller on a summer's day,
Raked the meadows sweet with hay.
O, yeah? That's what the poets say.
O, how I wish for Maud's dear sake
She might have used a modern rake.

She wore lots more than girls today.

Preparedness.

Dear Harve: Ours is a music store and a few days ago we had a lady customer who announced to the clerk that her husband anticipated going to the hospital for a major operation. The children and some of the neighbors would be present the next evening for a little social diversion before the hospital departure. She thought music might enliven the occasion. So she finally selected "Will My Mother Know Me There," and "Will The Circle Be Unbroken?" O. E. L.

SHELDON, CHAMP, BEATS CLARK IN RACQUETS PLAY

Boston, Mass., Feb. 17.—(AP)—Huntington D. Sheldon of New York, national amateur racquets champion, today advanced into the second round of the title play by defeating Henry C. Clark, Boston, 17-14, 15-6, 15-13, at the Tennis and Racquet club.

Stanley C. Mortimer, Tuxedo, N. Y., defeated Roger W. Cutler, Boston, 15-4, 15-8, 15-6, in their opening match and three other players, Dr. H. W. Leatham, and Peter W. Kemp-Welch, both of England, and Stanley W. Pearson, Philadelphia, moved into the second round on defaults.

SOX USE GIANT CAMP; ABANDON COLLEGE FIELD

3 Players Missing from Advance Squad.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 17.—Old timers on the White Sox squad this afternoon agreed that today's workout was the best opening exercise of their careers. A hot sun was beaming down, and there was almost a complete absence of wind—a perfect day in every respect.

Manager Donie Bush, after a sunrise inspection of the St. Mary's university diamond, which originally was designated as the scene of 1930 spring activities, vetoed the arrangement and ordered his men to the San Antonio Texas league park, the official training premises of the New York Giants. The athletes reported at 1:15 o'clock, just after the Giants had completed their initial workout of the year.

It is said that the Sox will share the park with the Giants at least for a week. At the end of that time the New York second squad will be along, and our boys will be obliged to vacate.

Who's a Pessimist?

It is the understanding of this author that we had been criticized for heralding to the world that the St. Mary's layout was not a desirable place for a ball club to train. It is said we were called a pessimistic old meany—this in view of certain optimistic reports from San Antonio persons to the effect that the field would be a veritable athlete's Eden once the Bermuda grass performed as per the promises in a seed catalog. The university authorities, it should be said, did their best, but found weather and other handicaps unsurmountable.

Today when wiser heads than ours looked over the plat, our sad plaint was given credence with the aforementioned results. This circumstance is not set down in a spirit of boastful satisfaction. But we already have mentioned our experiences with seed catalogs in our rôle as a radish rancher, and we hope this will be a lesson to fellows who write without stint about the infallible character of Bermuda grass or any other kind of vegetation.

Anxious to Work for Bush.

Today's maneuvers, of course, gave little opportunity to size up the talents of any of the newcomers, but observation did reveal a spirit of willingness to perform for the new boss.

Red Faber, Tommy Thomas, and Ted Lyons, who are assured of first string positions on the club, worked just as hard or harder than the rookies and seemed unusually happy to get under way. The three pitchers are in fine physical shape, except that Thomas is suffering from a boil on his left eyelid. He says he feels no effects from the appendicitis operation which he underwent on the final day of last season.

Atoka Ted Blankenship was another of the frisky old timers. Ted, after having decided during the early winter to retire from baseball, reported 19 pounds under his last season weight. Ted is only 28, and Manager Donie has high hopes of bringing back the big fellow. It may be done if the Oklahoma cowboy can stay away from the big steaks.

Three Players Missing.

While the week is supposed to be dedicated to battery men, Bill Cissell and Irv Jeffries, infielders, are on hand for an early start. Cissell, previously thought to be handicapped by his slight build, has filled out 14 pounds worth during the off season. Several pounds of this is fat, which will disappear in a few days, but the most is sound flesh of a maturing athlete, a circumstance that is leading to predictions of better things for the former "Spider."

The only athletes due to report for today's workout who weren't present are Dutch Henry, Sarge Connally, and Johnny Riddle, the catcher purchased from Indianapolis last Friday. All three are expected in not later than Wednesday.

Manager Bush will work on a time splitting schedule with the Giants for a week, after which the Sox will transfer to Van Dale ball park, the grounds of a Cuban semi-pro club. Groundkeepers immediately will be put to work conditioning the premises.

Something's Wrong in Miami; Gambling Colony Petulant

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Miami, Fla., Feb. 17.—Something obviously has gone wrong with the business arrangements in this place, and the unrest among the business men from out of town is such that it would not be at all surprising to hear the low, bellowing moo of the sawed-off shotgun sounding in the stilly night one evening quite soon.

I do not know exactly what the business arrangements were, but it is safe to assume that arrangements were made, because business men of the kind that I refer to are practical, and they would not think of coming into a town to do business without making definite arrangements first. At any rate, these business men are being put out of action by the authorities and their business apparatus, consisting of much delicately balanced machinery and handsome inlaid tables, has not only been confiscated but tossed out of high windows in a very careless manner.

Thus, even if the equipment should be returned to them at once, as always happened in the past when the authorities found it necessary to interrupt business, it would be practically impossible for the boys to resume operations in Miami this season.

Gird for Legal Battle.

There is great indignation over this, and three of the chaps who were put out of business, believing that they have been the victims of unjust discrimination, have hired a lawyer who is the son of the most prominent reform preacher in town and instructed him to see that business be stopped impartially. This lawer is an energetic party and there is an unpleasant possibility that he will proceed to suppress business at the Hileah race track, in which case Mr. Joe Widener, the head man there, would pay off the help, lock up the premises, put the key in his pocket, and go away from here for a long, long time.

I am a bit sensitive in writing about business conditions in Miami, because when I wrote a few dispatches on the same topic last year, telling of the simple amusements of the winter customers, the Florida state legislature passed a solemn resolution denouncing me as a destructive critic, which was no way to reward the best job of advertising that has been done for this coast since Ferdinando De Soto discovered a lithia spring at St. Augustine and called it the fountain of youth, which was a great exaggeration.

Therefore I am refraining from the expression of any personal opinion regarding the nature of the business arrangements between the chaps from New York, Saratoga, Atlantic City, Philadelphia, and Chicago, and the officials in charge of business regulation. For that part of the scenario I shall quote from a powerful editorial penned by Mr. Wen Phillips, the editor of Miami Life and one of the last survivors of the personal school of journalism in this country, published in the issue out today.

Miami Selfish City.

"What a trimming this town is taking this winter," Mr. Phillips exclaims in large job press letters, in blue ink on enameled paper. "And from such an ill assorted bunch of squawkers. Miami has proven itself this season to be about the most selfish city God has ever permitted to exist under American colors. Every person engaged in catering to alcoholic or wagering tastes of visitors has been a victim of shakedowns from almost every public servant, every ex-official, every fixer, real or alleged, every newspaper person, or any one with the five dollars sufficient to get out a search warrant.

We find the son of one of Miami's most prominent ministers engaged by some disgruntled gamblers to close the town. We find the owner of one of the big newspapers of the city, a promoter of the Miami Jockey club, which has violated Florida gaming laws, according to Supreme court decisions, for years, closing the town for the season and perhaps for good. We find the proprietor of a notorious sawdust gambling joint in Miami for many years getting a complex about law and order and declaring war on every hotel and apartment house owner and merchant by driving away the people who came down here to spend money, apparently because he hasn't been permitted to set up his crap tables on the first floor of the city hall or the court."

"Shakedown" is a vulgar term which I would hesitate to use myself, but Mr. Phillips is a young man who gets around a great deal at night and I have come to know him as a well informed authority on conditions in Miami, particularly business conditions affecting persons engaged, as he puts it, in catering to the alcoholic or wagering tastes of the visitors.

Fears for Miami's Prosperity.

Of course, I have been out as late as midnight once or twice myself, and while I would not pose as an authority in these matters, it has always been my observation that whenever a chap wishes to enter any town to do business he must first see somebody and make arrangements. Last year, I ventured the idea that the headman in this place must be very accessible to people wishing to make arrangements because there were at that time more places of business operating at night in the casinos and hotels than ever operated in Chicago, which is a much larger city.

It occurred to me that in time this

CUBS' ADVANCE SQUAD LEAVES FOR WEST TODAY

Joe McCarthy Talks of Another Pennant.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Joe McCarthy is the same fellow who didn't manage the Cubs into a world series triumph last fall, but he doesn't act the part. He's just Joe McCarthy the optimist, and among his pet subjects are another pennant for the north siders and a far more satisfactory outcome against whatever team the American league sends into the next fall classic. McCarthy, of course, expects and hopes that the Athletics are that team.

The above information emanated from Mister Joe's square jaw yesterday when he came to town to lead a small squad of athletes to the Santa Fé station this afternoon for the jaunt to Catalina. It will be Saturday morning before he gives his first 1930 orders at the training field.

Seldom Makes Predictions.

Making pennant predictions is a bit out of McCarthy's line, but certain things have caused him to put excessive caution behind him. The flag achievement of last season convinced him he has a pretty fair club, the world series disaster notwithstanding. To this has been added a third baseman of more than passing worth, not to mention the acquisition of one or two pitchers who may prove of service.

There is only one thing that will cause the Cub boss to drop his confident smile. That is mention of Gabby Hartnett. Gabby was around yesterday to tell his superior that his throwing arm was as sound as ever, but McCarthy merely replied that he hoped it was true. Like a lot of other persons, he doesn't want to get worked up over Gabby's return until the peppery backstop tries to do his stuff under competitive conditions. That will come next week.

Seeks Solution to Batting Order.

Although he hadn't done anything all winter except to figure how to get maximum results from his 1930 edition, McCarthy still is groping around for a solution of his batting order. He has hitters aplenty, but owns only one man for the two top posts of the attacking front. Woody English is the man. If he leads off there is nobody suited for the second notch. If Woody is placed second it leaves the top open. But the Cub pilot says he'll work it out some way.

It remained for McCarthy to point out yesterday that he is going to have about the greatest collection of giants ever taken to a training camp. Thirty-one athletes remain on the list after some delicate pruning during the winter months. Of these there are 17 men 6 feet or more in stature. Twelve of these are pitchers, the tallest being Edward M. Lautenbacher, the hurling bank clerk, who lives up to the length of his name by stretching 6 feet 3 inches into space.

Only Eight in Advance Squad.

There will be only eight players starting from here at 1:35 this afternoon. They are Pitchers Carlson, Grampp, Lautenbacher, McAfee, and Shealy; Catchers Hartnett and Taylor, and Outfielder Heathcote. Nelson, the hurler purchased from Kansas City, will hop on when the train passes through that city early tomorrow morning. He will be accompanied by Catcher Schulte and Coach Burke. Coach Schalk will be with the delegation starting from Chicago. Other members of the first squad will report at Los Angeles or at the island camp Friday.

The main squad, made up of such notables as Hornsby, Wilson, Grimm, Cuyler, Stephenson, English, and Bell, will make its camp getaway from here a week from today under the guidance of Undersecretary Dan Cahill.

Tied After Five Overtime Periods, Teams Try Again

Harrisburg, Ill., Feb. 17.—[Special.]—Galatia and Harrisburg High school teams will meet here tomorrow night to play off a 14-14 tie game, which was declared Saturday night when no decision had been reached after five overtime periods.

Rock Island Alumni Force Coach to Give Up His Job

Davenport, Ia., Feb. 17.—[Special.]—Coach Harry E. Behnamann of Rock Island High school yielded today to demands of alumni that he resign by asking the board of education to obtain some one to take over his duties. The alumni were aroused by a mediocre season.

LEUCITE AND BAD NEWS BOB SCORE AT FAIR GROUNDS

[By the Associated Press.]

Leucite, which has gained a reputation as a flashy sprinter for Harry F. Sinclair's Rancocas stable, entered the mile feature at the Fair Grounds, New Orleans, yesterday, named in honor of W. L. Stribling, and came out with flying colors. In contrast, H. R. Bradley's Bad News Bob, which has been striving to win over the route, returned to the six furlongs class and turned in a sensational victory in the Pine purse.

A sloppy track at Hialeah park, Miami, reduced the starting field in a Beacon Manor purse to three, but an accident soon after the start made it into a two horse affair. Herade, well played to defeat Rapid Transit, the odds-on favorite, unseated Jockey Melvin Knight. Rapid Transit went on to win the six furlong dash handily, finishing ten lengths in front of Dim Ray. Herade was placed third.

The Flagami handicap, secondary feature on the Miami card, for older horses at one mile, had but four starters. Baron King, running in the silks of Miss Charlotte Mulvaney of Chicago, led the quartet home, with Islam second and Conacher third. The winner was quoted at 8 to 5.

THE new Ford flashes bright metal parts of Allegheny Metal.

It finds its way into ornamental work on buildings...into humble, but beautiful, kitchen utensils...

For Allegheny Metal holds its brightness forever. It does not require polishing — wipe it clean, just as you clean your windshield.

It is not subject to corrosion, tarnishing, rust or stain — the enemies of plated metals.

It is tougher and more resistant to denting than steel and twice as strong.

There is no limit to the usefulness of Allegheny Metal. No task is too small for it, no task too great. Who can foretell the vastness of its possibilities?

But this can be foretold. Like sterling silver, it is a solid, pure substance; and like sterling it is destined to please you by its faithful, valuable service.

And if you are a manufacturer, this new metal offers a way to improve your product and your profits. A chromium nickel alloy, Allegheny Metal is available in commercial shapes, sizes and forms.

A note on your business stationery will bring you complete information concerning its use.

BRIEF TECHNICAL FACTS

1. Chromium nickel alloy.
2. Twice the tensile strength of mild steel.
3. Greater resistance to abrasion and denting than steel.
4. May be drawn, stamped, spun, machined, and cast.
5. Unrusting . . unstaining . . untarnishing.
6. Immune to all but a few acid reactions.
7. Immune to chemical reactions resulting from preparation and cooking of food.

CRISLER TO TAKE LUEHRING'S JOB AT MINNESOTA

Gopher Athletic Director Resigns.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 17.—(AP)—Another step towards clarifying the athletic situation at the University of Minnesota was taken today when Fred W. Luehring, director of athletics, presented his resignation, effective June 30, the end of the current school year.

In making public Luehring's action, President Lotus D. Coffman also disclosed that Herbert O. [Fritz] Crisler, appointed head football coach last week, would take over the vacated post as athletic director and coach.

Luehring Will Remain.

Luehring, who has directed the athletic policies at the university during the last eight years, will remain with the school as a professor of physical education. He has specialized in this work and has been taking advanced courses in it at New York university during his vacations.

President Coffman announced a month ago that physical education and intramural athletics would be stressed at the university in the future. He also has appointed a committee of disinterested persons to study the athletic situation at the university with a view to recommending whatever changes are considered necessary. The committee will hold its first meeting March 4.

Dr. Coffman, in accepting Luehring's resignation, made it clear that the athletic director was retiring voluntarily. He praised Luehring's record at the school and gave him credit for advancing the university's athletic program. He especially commended him "for the stand you have taken at all times regarding conference standards."

Crisler Has Background.

Crisler, who is expected to take over Luehring's tasks gradually before the effective date of the resignation, has, it was pointed out, an excellent background in university sports, having made an exhaustive study of athletics since his graduation from the University of Chicago 10 years ago.

Information available today indicated that Crisler would arrive in Minneapolis the week of March 17 to take up his new duties.

K. O. Punches Open South Side Golden Gloves Tournament

all over the ring during the final seconds.

Grant Fortney, the taxicab driver from the south side, a heavyweight, brought down Mike Medosich, unattached, in the second round. It was Fortney's first battle for Golden Gloves. He floored his heavier rival like he might be a real fighter. But, of course, Grant has that coal miner from Springfield, the butcher from Davenport, the brakeman from Streator, and the bricklayer from the north side to lick before he can carry away a title.

An Italian fought a Negro. It was Mike Fendo from Italy against Jimmy Keller from the Jones Athletic club. This was another hard smashing skirmish. They stood toe to toe and slugged away at each other. Fendo knocked the colored boy down in the last round, and the one terrific punch to the chin decided it.

Fighters Forget Science.

It will be a long time before the crowd will forget the battle between Scotty Sylvano of Johnny Coulon's gym and Anthony Stone from the South Shore Athletic club. It was one of the few scraps to go four rounds. The crowd in one end of the arena was yelling for Sylvano. All those on the other side of the house were shouting for Stone.

Both boys knew their boxing, but so many hard wallops went over in the first minute of the struggle they forgot all science, became deaf to cries of the crowd, and from then until the final tap of the bell tried to knock each other out of the ring. Sylvano got the decision on a rally he staged in the last round.

The crowd got a great thrill when the big boys began marching in review. Jimmy Mollitor of St. Rita and Teddy Kostakes, unattached, were the first 160 pounders in the ring. Kostakes had the more followers, but Mollitor tossed the hardest punches, and he got the verdict after hammering Kostakes all over the ring.

Pick Team Tonight.

Two knockouts in the first round then came one after another. Fred Caserio of the Seneca A. C., who received the biggest ovation of the night when he entered the ring, finished Tommy Taylor, a Negro boy, in less than two minutes.

John Jones, Negro, took the seat vacated by the knocked out Taylor and in about a minute and a half he had Marty Martinkus from St. Rita on the floor listening to the count.

So it went all night long. Knockout after knockout. A crowd on its feet cheering most of the time. Boys uncorking punches that not only should carry them to a Golden Glove title but to a world's championship.

The south side team will be picked tonight when the semi-final and final matches are staged. There are so many battlers left in the turmoil more than 40 bouts will have to be fought before the thirty-two members of the team can qualify.

And the troops will start fighting at 7 o'clock.

FOREIGN BOXERS WIN.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Feb. 17.—(AP)—Foreign boxers won two of the first three international amateur matches here tonight. An elaborate program was arranged for the visitors, and the international fights were late getting started because of preliminaries. Leonard Kugler, German welterweight, defeated Stanley Carlson of Muskegon, Mich.; Werter Arcelli, Italian welterweight, bested Izzy Dombroski of Grand Rapids, and Dudley Curtis of Grand Rapids took a decision from Amilcare de Horatis, Italian lightweight. Each of the bouts went the scheduled three rounds.

Simpson Loses Dash; Warne Wins Vault

New York, Feb. 17.—[Special.]—The world's fastest human met his master here tonight. Over the board track in the center of Madison Square Garden floor Jimmy Daley of Holy Cross, national and intercollegiate sprint champion, took the measure of George Simpson of Ohio State, the only runner in the history of track athletics officially to negotiate 100 yards in the astounding time of :09 4-10, to score an almost incredible upset in the sixty yard dash, one of the features of the annual New York Athletic club games.

To the amazement of a gathering of 12,000 Daley not only defeated Simpson but gave him as sound a trouncing as the famous Buckeye has experienced since he rose to world prominence. It was no matter of mere inches by which Daley registered his unexpected triumph, but by the almost unbelievable margin of five feet.

Another glistening silver cup that went out of competition was the Baxter mile trophy, which Ray Conger of the Illinois A. C. captured in the best time of the season. He won in 4:19 3-10.

Another startling upset marked the games. Fred Sturdy, former Yale sensation, finished third in the pole vault duel of Tom Warne, Northwestern university, and Barney Berlinger of Penn.

Sturdy, who cleared 14 feet in the same meet a year ago, failed unaccountably tonight and could vault no better than 12 feet 6 inches. Warne, in a sensational New York début, cleared 13 feet 6 inches, and barely failed in three attempts at 13 feet 9 inches.

FAVOR WHICHONE AND GALLANT FOX IN DERBY BOOK

Whichone and Gallant Fox have been installed as 8 to 1 favorites in the Kentucky Derby winter books, although it is not yet known officially that they have been nominated. Tom Kearney of St. Louis is offering these odds with the provision that money will be refunded if the names of these horses are not on the list of Derby nominees which will be announced shortly.

Desert Light at 10 to 1, is third choice, followed by Flying Heels and Indian at 12 to 1. Spinach, Caruso, and Dedicate are 15 to 1.

Tilden Wins in Final of Southern France Tourney

NICE, France, Feb. 17.—(AP)—Big Bill Tilden held fast to his position as international championship tennis star by capturing the southern France championship. He won his final match against the Irish Davis cup player, Lyttleton Rogers, 4-6, 8-6, 6-2, 6-4.

Washington U. Beats Drake for Second Place in Valley

Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 17.—(AP)—Led by the lanky Ed Meyer, the Washington university basketball team overwhelmed Drake, 32-16, tonight, gaining sole possession of second place in the Missouri Valley conference.

Lon Kenney defeated Ted Trevitt, 50 to 38, last night at Kleckhefer's in a Chicago league three cushion match. They played 57 innings, Kenney getting a high run of six and Trevitt four.

Unrest Grows Among Miami Business Men

expansion would cause unrest in Miami just as it has in every other city where the nonessential industries such as craps, roulette and bird cage were overdeveloped. And the developments of the current time appear to justify my well meant forebodings for the peace and prosperity of Miami, which is a very pleasant town and so warm and loose and generally tropical that a common bum by the railroad tracks enjoys a lazy peace that no man of whatever station can realize in winter up north.

This year the expansion seems to have continued until this sort of business reached a degree that challenged the tolerant morality of one of the leading publishers. He began to crusade against gambling in town and across the causeway in Miami Beach, which is a separate municipality in the same county. Presently, after political ructions marked by the abdication of some key officials of the local administration, the police and sheriff's department began to interfere with those who, to quote Mr. Phillips again, cater to the alcoholic and wagering tastes of the winter visitors.

In the past it was the custom to raid such an establishment strictly by appointment with the proprietor, arrest a colored porter for possessing crap dice, and score purely technical points on the record of law enforcement.

But this year, after the shakeup in the administration, the raiding party showed an alarming lack of tact and I am advised that at this time there is not a roulette wheel turning in the entire county, for the chief reason that most of them have been ruthlessly wrecked by careless or deliberately inconsiderate officers, at a loss of several hundred thousand dollars in actual material, to say nothing of the amounts spent for rent, furnishings and business arrangements.

Business Leaders Petulant.

Naturally this sort of treatment is causing resentment and business men of this type, while they are affable and easy going when everything is going easy, are notoriously petulant when they consider themselves to have been dealt with unfairly.

The three indignant business men who have hired the lawyer are now in a postion to inflict quite serious embarrassment on the city regularly. They have forced one of the dog racing tracks to close temporarily and if they insist upon closing the horse track at Hialeah where wagering, of course, is indispensable to the success of the program, the principal amusement of the town will be put out of business, and the season will end untimely, to the unbounded distress of the whole community.

MARK ARIE WINS FLYER CUP IN SHOOT TOURNEY

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 17.—(AP)—Mark Arie, Champaign, Ill., today won the international flyer cup, feature of the 6th annual interstate trapshooting tournament, with a score of 99 out of a possible 100. The honor carried an $880 prize.

O. B. Franz, St. Louis; Fred Ludington, Wauwatosa, Wis.; Frank Hughes, Chicago, and Charles Etchen, Coffeyville, Kas., tied for second place honor with scores of 98. Each received $550.

Other shooters finishing in the money included: Sam Jenny, Highland, Ill., 97, $320; W. W. Renfro, Dell, Mont., 96, $240; Pete Baggerman, St. Louis, 95, $180;

Referee to Be Sole Judge in Miami Bout

Miami, Fla., Feb. 17.—(AP)—Perhaps on the theory that everything has been entirely too peaceful in connection with preparations for the heavyweight fistic carnival featuring the Scott-Sharkey and Risko-Campolo bouts Feb. 27, concerted efforts were put forth today to develop a series of private fights for public consumption.

Foremost among these verbal controversies was a conference between Boxing Commissioner MacReynolds and the manager of Scott and Sharkey at which ringside details were discussed and final decision reported to make the referee the sole arbiter.

This was the arrangement last year when Referee Lou Magnolia lifted Sharkey's hand in token of victory over Willie Stribling. Magnolia is considered likely to get the job again although no official announcement of the referee's selection will be made until Tuesday of next week.

Jimmy Johnston, representing Scott, yielded to the verdict of Commissioner MacReynolds only after filing a strong demand for the two judges and referee system, used in New York. Johnston also was overruled on a request to have four men instead of three in Scott's corner but won out on a demand to disbar the tossing of any towels as a token of defeat.

Sharkey put in a brisk ten round workout under cover, taking on three sparring mates. Johnny Risko, Victoro Campolo, and Phil Scott were idle.

WHITE PICKED TO WIN IN HIS RING COMEBACK

Charlie White, veteran lightweight, who will attempt to make a ring comeback in the feature bout of Promoter Jack Dempsey's boxing show at the Coliseum Friday night, has been made a 7 to 5 favorite over Harry Perlick, his first opponent in six years. Boxing fans who have seen White in his workouts at the Arcade gym during the last few days predict that Perlick's youth and speed will be more than matched by White's cunning and a strong left.

Emory Cabana, French-Canadian light heavyweight, arrived yesterday to start training for his eight round bout with Herman Perlick, twin brother of Harry. Cabana holds victories over Louis Kid Kaplan, Johnny Jadick, and Irish Jackie Pilkington.

Another eight round bout brings together Al Greenfield of the west side and Midget Mike O'Dowd of Columbus, O. Ernie Peters and Harry Fierro, Chicago bantamweights, will meet in the third eight rounder, while George Kerwin and Jim Lundy will clash in a six round fight. Walter Madey and Joe King, heavyweights, will open the card.

REPORT BEAR RAID ON WHEAT POOL IN CANADA

Chicago Prices Drop in World-Wide Liquidation.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

World wide general liquidation developed in wheat yesterday and sent the Winnipeg, Liverpool and Buenos Aires crashing to new low levels for the season, and prices in Chicago were the same to ½c above the inside figures on the crop.

What was said to have been a concentrated bear raid in an effort to break the Canadian Pool, forced Winnipeg wheat futures off as much as 5⅝c from Saturday's finish to a low of $1.17⅜, that month selling at the same figure as Chicago, with the close on a fair rally with net losses of 4⅛c.

March wheat in Chicago dropped to $1.12¾ and May to $1.117@1.17⅛, showing 3@3¾c under Saturday's finish, and as much as 50¾c under the best figures of the season with the close 2⅛@2¾c lower, March being $1.13¼@1.13⅜, and May, $1.17⅛@1.17⅜.

Liverpool wheat futures finished 2@2¼d lower with liquidation in evidence, while the demand for cash grain was absent. Buenos Aires was 4½@4¾c lower and Rosario, 5⅛@5⅝c lower, with prices in that country down to a point where it is probable that producers received 80c per bu or less for their grain.

Ignore Farm Board.

The finish on wheat futures in all American and foreign markets was the lowest of the season, and there was a noticeable lack of confidence on the part of buyers even on the decline. There was considerable closing of spreads between Chicago and Winnipeg, the selling being in the latter market which helped along the decline, and it was claimed that there was more or less forced liquidation.

Sentiment was extremely bearish throughout the day, the rally from the inside figures on the Chicago Board of Trade being due largely to short cover and buying against bids. Stop loss orders were caught in all markets on the way down. The domestic visible supply decreased 632,000 bu for the week and is 159,052,000 bu against 123,639,000 bu last year.

New Low on Corn Futures.

Liquidation was on in corn from the start with the trade surprised at the rapidity with which prices dropped, the inside showing a loss of 2⅝@2¾c to a new low on the crop on all deliveries, and the finish was at net losses of 1⅞@2¼c, with March, 84⅜c, and May, 88⅛@88⅝c.

All deliveries of oats with the exception of May sold at a new low on the crop, with prices dropping ⅝@1⅛c from Saturday's finish with the close at net losses of ⅝@1⅜c, March being 42⅜c, with May, 44¼c. It is expected that there will be a liberal run of cash grain to terminal markets later in the season.

Liquidation developed in rye with all futures at a new low for the season, and the close was 1¼@2½c lower, March being 80½c, and May, 81@81¼c.

FRESH EGGS DECLINE

A drop of 1¾c in February egg futures, equal to $225 a car, featured heavy trading on the Chicago mercantile exchange. A 3c decline in the spot market was held responsible. Sales were 240 cars and receipts 12,439 cases.

A small decline in butter futures followed a ¼c break in spot levels but was held in check by heavy storage withdrawals in the four markets. Sales were 98 cars and receipts 11,176 tubs. Prices follow:

SMALL LOSSES IN LARD

Strength in the hog market, with an advance of 25c early to a new high for the season, $11.50, had a moderate effect yesterday on the lard market for a time, but weakness and lower prices in grains offset the effect of heavy buying of May and July, credited to one of the largest packers, and the close was 2½c to 5c lower for the day. Warehouse interests who sold early were buyers on the late weakness. Liverpool was unchanged to 3d lower. Bellies' were given little attention and May closed 2½c higher and cash trade was fair.

Export clearances of lard for the week were 10,112,000 lbs. against 9,759,000 lbs. last year. Of bacon there were 7,522,000 lbs. against 3,542,000 lbs. last year. Prices follow:

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Although wheat traders are mainly bearish, those who are short were active in covering, the greater part of yesterday, so that interest was greatly reduced. There were times when prices advanced sharply on buying prices advanced sharply on buying, against several large lines of bids, in which there was good profit, also in which there put out late last week. At one time an operator bid the market up nearly 1c a bu on himself, without knowing it until he was through, when he turned again to the selling side.

Reports from Enid, Okla., to J. E. Bennett & Co. say there are quite a few claims of winter killing in this section, which will take growing weather to give an idea of the wheat killed. Some reports from Grant county say one-third of the acreage is killed. This is one of the largest counties in the state.

PLANS 37 FLAT BUILDING FOR WINCHESTER AVE.

Anthony H. Quitsow Is the Owner.

BY AL CHASE.

Anthony H. Quitsow, architect and builder, has drawn plans for a thirty-seven apartment building which he is to erect at 4710-16 North Winchester avenue. Work is scheduled to start March 15th with completion set for August 15th. The building will occupy a site 100x153 and will contain two and three room kitchenette suites and full four room apartments. Mr. Quitsow states the land and the building will represent a total investment of $225,000.

Louis Gamson has purchased the store and apartment building at 4215 West Madison street, from Anna Rubin for an undisclosed consideration. According to Wolf & Love, attorneys for the buyer, the ground value was placed at aproximately $2,000 per foot. Maurice Alschuler was attorney for the seller.

Beachview Club to Build.

Through an agreement just reached by property owners in the block bounded by East 53d stret, East 54th street, Hyde Park boulevard, and Everett avenue, and the new Beachview club, that organization's building line has been extende deast 51 feet. As a result the club will start work this spring on an extension of the first floor of the building, formerly the Sission hotel, east to the new building line.

This extension will be used for additional dining room space. The Beachview club, which is a combination of the Cambridge and the Midway Athletic clubs, also is contemplating erecting a large addition to the south of the present club building which will house the organization's athletic activities. The club's site fronts 222 feet on East 53rd street and 230 feet on the east.

Buy 6 Flat Building.

The six flat building at the southwest corner of Lockwood avenue and Wellington street, was sold by Herman J. and Helen C. Palmer to John R. and Amelia Johnson for a reported $37,500, subject to a first mortgage of $20,000. Thomas C. Gorey, of the Shodin Realty & Mortgage Co., was broker.

The Edgar N. Ward's Sons company, a subsidiary of the Columbia Steel & Shafting company, will erect a one and two story warehouse and office building at 4834-44 St. Louis avenue. The lot is 124x240 feet. A. Epstein is structural engineer.

A similar warrant entitling the holder to purchase fifteen shares of said stock will accompany each $500 Debenture.

THE CHASE NATIONAL BANK OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK, Trustee.

Mr. Floyd W. Woodcock, President of the Empire Public Service Corporation, has summarized in part his letter as follows:

COMPANY AND TERRITORY: Empire Public Service Corporation, incorporated on February 5, 1929, under the laws of the State of Delaware, operates through its subsidiaries a group of electric light and power, telephone, natural gas and water properties in 260 communities in the States of Maryland, Delaware, Virginia, Ohio, North Carolina, Colorado, Oklahoma, Kansas, Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas. The system serves approximately 39,174 electric, 8,350 gas, 3,456 telephone and 1,012 water customers in these territories with a population in excess of 230,000. In addition, there are 44 ice plants in the system with a combined daily capacity of 2,400 tons, and an interurban railway system in Ohio.

EARNINGS: Consolidated earnings* of the Empire Public Service Corporation and its subsidiaries (irrespective of dates of acquisition), for the twelve months' period ended September 30, 1929, after giving effect to recent acquisitions and present financing, as certified by F. W. Lafrentz & Co., Certified Public Accountants, were as follows:

Gross Income from all sources	$8,118,331.50
Operating Expenses, Maintenance and Local Taxes	5,425,259.10
Net Earnings before Interest, Depreciation Reserve and Federal Income Taxes	$2,693,072.40
Annual Interest and Dividend Requirements on Bonds, Obligations and Preferred Stocks of Subsidiaries, to be Outstanding in Hands of Public upon Completion of present Financing, and Interest on Unfunded Indebtedness of the Company on an Annual Basis	1,872,256.95
Balance	$ 820,815.45
Annual Interest Requirements on $3,500,000 principal amount of 20-Year 6% Gold Debentures, Series due 1950 (this issue)	210,000.00

* The above figures reflect an adjustment to include an amount of $235,019.16, based on the elimination of certain non-recurring expenses, the inclusion of income estimated for the portion of the period during which certain properties were not in full operation and an increase in earnings based on present management contracts with recently acquired subsidiaries, all as estimated by the management.

The above balance of $820,815.45 is 3.9 times the annual interest requirements on the $3,500,000 principal amount of 20-Year 6% Gold Debentures, Series due 1950. Said balance, after deducting depreciation reserve, would be 2.9 times said annual interest requirements.

EQUITY: These Debentures are followed by 1,745 shares of $6 Preferred Stock, 173,266 shares of Class A Common Stock and 372,561 shares of Class B Common Stock with a value estimated by the management to be in excess of $8,500,000.

The foregoing is subject to the more complete information contained in the offering circular.

We offer these Debentures when, as and if issued, and accepted by us and subject to approval of legal proceedings by counsel, Seibert & Riggs, and for the Company by Chadbourne, Hunt, Jackel & Brown. It is expected that temporary Debentures will be ready for delivery about February 24, 1930.

Plan and Agreement
Dated January 15, 1930

Extension of Time for Deposits Under Plan

The Committee is highly gratified by the response which the stockholders have made to the request for the deposit of stocks in support of the Plan and Agreement for the combination of the assets of your Companies in a single corporation. Nevertheless, the Committee is advised that many stockholders of these Companies for various reasons have found it inconvenient or impossible to deposit their stocks within the time originally limited, to-wit, February 17, 1930.

In view of the number of stockholders involved and the desirability of giving all of them an opportunity to assent to the Plan, the Committee has decided to extend the time for such deposits to and including Saturday, March 1, 1930. All stockholders who have not already deposited their stock are urged to do so within the period above specified.

BUSINESS WILL CONTINUE GOOD, INSULL BELIEF

Extends Promise of Future "Melons."

BY O. A. MATHER.

Samuel Insull, guiding genius of public utility and investment companies with aggregate assets of several billion dollars, yesterday expressed a belief that business will continue satisfactory.

And for the stockholders of his two big investment companies he held out promise of future "melons" in the form of stock purchase rights to be given probably this year.

Mr. Insull presided at the annual meetings of Insull Utility Investments and the Corporation Securities company. He presented figures to show that Insull Utility Investments came through last year with an appreciation in the market value of its investments in spite of the November stock market collapse, while its holdings have shown a large appreciation since the end of 1929. He also showed that Corporation Securities has almost recovered the depreciation in the market value of its holdings.

Is Not Worrying.

"I think business is reasonably good considering what we have been through," Mr. Insull told several hundred stockholders of Insull Utility Investments, assembled in the Civic theater. "It is pretty early to make a prophecy but I have the same confidence that I have expressed at different times in the last month or so. I think business ought to go along pretty well. It may not have as big an increase as last year, but I haven't any particular concern about the situation.

"Toward fall, additional common stock will be offered to stockholders. I think we will offer 500,000 shares at some recession from the market price at that time. The common stockholders will have the right to take about 20 per cent of their holdings and the preferred stockholders a little under 8 per cent of their holdings."

Mr. Insull previously analyzed the chief features of the annual report and commented on them.

"The securities held in the investment fund on the last day of 1929 had cost $145,745,773," he said, "but their market value was $148,136,427. The appreciation over cost was $390,654. But between Jan. 1 and Feb. 15 our securities appreciated $28,159,152. We have spent nearly $30,000,000 since Jan. 1 on securities. The total cost of all securities held last Saturday was $170,179,167.

"Gross income last year was $12,[illegible] and net income was $10,360,[illegible], or $4.49 a share on the common stock. The stock dividend on common stock chargeable against earnings, at $3 a share, amounted to $2,828,080. Then we set aside a reserve of $1,000,000. The net surplus on Dec. 31 was $[illegible]."

Mr. Insull explained that 96 per cent of the securities held are listed either on the Chicago or other stock exchanges and that over 88 per cent of securities of the Insull group of public utility and holding companies.

Values Assets.

At the stockholders' meeting of the Corporation Securities company Mr. Insull said that the net value of assets according to market price last Saturday was $80,732,464, giving the common shares a book value of $15.72 a share after assigning par value of $50 a share to the preference stock.

"The original financing of the corporation was undertaken just prior to the slump in the stock market," Mr. Insull said. "The securities owned by the company shrunk so much that the directors made a revaluation based on Nov. 15 market prices. The total write-off was $34,954,153, the securities having been carried at $86,103,103 and reduced to $51,849,950. But there has been a recovery of upwards of $24,000,000.

"However, in the publicity put out in connection with the offering of the stock, the securities were valued at only $80,000,000, so that the company, although still behind some $6,000,000 in its balance sheet, is almost even on its published statement, issued at the time of organization."

Net profits between Oct. 5 and Dec. 31, 1929, were $630,091, which was equivalent after preferred dividend requirements to 10 cents a share on the common stock. Mr. Insull said the company probably will do some financing this year or offer stock purchase rights to the stockholders.

New Construction Vital Influence Upon Industry

BY SCRUTATOR.

Interrelations of the construction industry on the entire fabric of our present day economy, and its influence on the business done by other industries, are so complicated that they are seldom even traced.

We know that 1928 was something like a record year in residential building, with 549 million square feet put up in thirty-six states, as compared to 474 million square feet in 1927. Likewise we know that there was a considerable falling off in such building in 1929—more than 30 per cent.

It is not difficult to see that this decrease had an unfavorable effect on the production and the sale of brick and lumber, and likewise on the employment of labor in the forests, the sawmills, and the railroads as well as on the actual building operations. The figures show that cement shipments also fell off by more than six million barrels last year from the 1928 figures.

Cement consumption's fall, of course, is to be attributed to the drop of paving contracts and other work more largely than to residential. Paving was off about 5.7 per cent from the year previous.

Furniture Trade Concerned.

But the furniture business, which employs about 200,000 persons in the manufacturing end, is also concerned with the loss in residence building. Statisticians have discovered that the volume of residence building contracts is an accurate forecast of what sales of furniture will be a year later. Thus the 1928 building was reflected by large sales of furniture in 1929. Average shipments by members of the Southern Furniture Manufacturers' association rose from $626,000 each to $714,000 in the year. On the whole, this country manufactured furniture to a factory value of a billion dollars.

New buildings bring a demand for new furniture. This does not materialize until the buildings are completed. Hence the assumption that there is a difference of about a year in the determination of the effects of the one index on the other and the further assumption that the sales of furniture in 1930 will be below those of 1929.

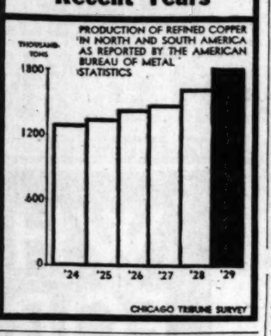
Has Many Tentacles.

The supreme importance of keeping construction moving ahead at a high, steady rate lies in the fact that it has so many tentacles reaching out into other business. It is estimated that every man actually at work in construction requires four others, at least, to supply him with materials and to transport them to him at the place where he is working.

A hopeful sign for 1930 is that railroads and public utilities have pledged themselves to programs that call for somewhat larger expenditures than in 1929. Government, states, and municipalities probably can be depended on for larger works.

Building of residences, particularly of the one family type, is hampered by high costs. If these could be brought down, either by more favorable labor costs or by an increased efficiency, it is possible that a great impetus would be given such building, to the benefit of all workers in a dozen industries that cannot thrive without it.

Production of American Refined Copper in 1929 Was Highest in Recent Years



SET FOX FILM STOCKHOLDERS' MEETING MARCH 5

New York, Feb. 17.—(AP)—The special meeting of stockholders of the Fox Film corporation at which they will vote to approve or reject the plan for reorganizing the company's finances, submitted at a receivership hearing in federal court, has been called for March 5.

Action by Judge Frank J. Coleman on a petition for a receiver for the company is being withheld pending the decision of the stockholders. Judge Coleman has stated that he views as improbable any alternative to the plan other than a receivership. However, he has said that if the present plan is rejected he will be glad to consider any other that may be offered.

CRUDE OIL PRICE CUTS ARE NOW EXTENDED TO PENN. AND KENTUCKY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 17.—The slashing of crude oil prices due to an asserted overproduction of crude petroleum and gasoline was extended today to Pennsylvania and Kentucky and became general in the midcontinent and southwestern fields.

Prices of Pennsylvania grade were cut 25 cents a barrel by the South Penn Oil company to the lowest levels since Dec. 3, 1927. The Somerset or Kentucky crude was lowered 18 cents and the Corning crude 15 cents a barrel.

In the midcontinent, Texas corporation, and Gulf Oil corporation met the prices established on Jan. 16 by Carter Oil company, Standard Oil Company of New Jersey subsidiary. Both companies cut Texas crude at the time Humble Oil and Refining company initiated the price reductions on Jan. 15. Prairie Oil and Gas company met the midcontinent reductions Saturday and Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing company on Thursday last.

Ohio Oil company today extended its middle western reductions, announced Saturday, to Wyoming, Montana, and New Mexico, the cuts ranging from 8 cents to 20 cents a barrel. Midwest Refining company, in the Salt Creek field, dropped prices 17 cents to 20 cents a barrel.

The reductions were initiated by the Standard of New Jersey in an effort to force further curtailment of crude production and a decrease in gasoline before the summer season. Although opposed to the cuts, other refiners have been forced to follow.

FORTY BOOSTERS TAKING TRIP TO PUSH ILL. TRADE

Forty members of the Illinois Manufacturers association will leave Chicago for Washington tomorrow on the Capital limited on a trade extension trip to increase the foreign and domestic trade of the state's industries. The party will be accompanied by F. L. Roberts, district manager of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce.

The manufacturers will be addressed by Secretary of Commerce Lamont Thursday morning and will be received by President Hoover following a luncheon at the United States Chamber of Commerce building. William Butterworth, former president of the manufacturers association and now president of the chamber, will speak at the luncheon.

Senator Otis F. Glenn, Congressman Fred A. Britten, and other officials will speak at a dinner at the Willard hotel on Thursday evening. The trade extension program will be continued on Friday at the department of commerce building.

Foreign Wheat Supplies Imperil American Farmer

BY PAUL POTTER.

In spite of stabilization efforts here, grain prices all over the world hit the toboggan yesterday, wheat being followed by corn, oats, and rye to low levels in a slump strikingly comparable with the stock market crash of last fall.

Canadian holders of large stocks of wheat were especially anxious, as bearish influences, said to have designs on the wheat pool with some 120,000,000 bushels of farmer-owned grain, forced the market down 5¾ cents a bushel at Winnipeg. The close was between 4½ and 4⅝ cents lower than Saturday's closing quotations in Winnipeg, July futures selling at $1.20⅞ cents.

With Chicago grain prices suffering a loss of more than two cents, wheat was almost back to the recent low price level before governmental agencies entered with their millions for cash purchases over a week ago. Corn and oats prices hit new low prices for the season.

Issues Statement.

In the face of this demoralized condition, George McIvor, general sales manager of the Canadian wheat pool issued a statement that the pool had deposits of collateral at the banks valued at more than the required 15 per cent margin, and termed as "either propaganda or mere surmise," the rumors persisting that the pool's margin was being entered.

The situation in world grain trade is unprecedented in its present form. The two great North American countries, which supply more than a fifth of the world's normal wheat supplies, are both backing farmers with funds or pledges of financial assistance. Following abundant crops of year before last, with the present rather light production of wheat last year, both the United States and Canada are being openly discriminated against by European purchasers.

This is made possible in part by the fact that Argentina is constantly underselling Canada, and Canada underselling the United States. What immediate needs are being filled in Europe come from nearby countries with apparently good sized crops, at favorable prices.

Thus, the American wheat grower finds himself in direct competition with Russian agriculture, which has unexpectedly, through action of the soviet government, made available 2,000,000 bushels of a reported supply of 15,000,000 bushels. Proceeds from the sale of this Russian grain is said to be going to pay for American made implements.

Visible Wheat Supply.

An additional item of bad news in American wheat markets yesterday was the governmental report that visible supplies of wheat showed a disappointingly small decrease for the week. This decrease was 632,000 bushels, compared with a curtailment of 3,811,000 bushels a year ago. With lowered prices in Liverpool, Winnipeg, Buenos Aires and Rosario [where farmers seem likely to get about 80 cents a bushel] limited purchases by coöperatives and the Grain Stabilization corporation prevented further break in Chicago prices.

The situation existing in wheat today was said by Chicagoans to be a repetition of the American buyers' boycott on attempts by the British to curtail sales of rubber a few years ago. But the tables are reversed. This so-called Stevenson plan, started in November, 1922, and lasting six years, proved unsuccessful in keeping up high rubber prices for American buyers, who curtailed consumption and reworked old rubber under plans made with Herbert Hoover, then secretary of commerce.

New York, Feb. 17.—Stocks turned on their pursuers in the late trading today and the close found prices booming.

Instances of early losses replaced with substantial net gains were numerous. Some groups were fairly buoyant, the tobaccos, for example. Motor shares were in unusual favor and a number of late bear targets came back rapidly. A half dozen or so of the utilities distinguished themselves and some of the rails were lifted a bit.

Isolated gains were quite sharp. Eastman Kodak finished the session with a gain of 11 points. Columbian Carbon was up 8¾ at the close, Simmons 7, Wright Aero 4, United Aircraft 4⅛, Liggett & Meyers 4⅛. Con-

Top yesterday, $12.00; average, $11.00.
Estimated receipts at Chicago today, 7,000 cattle; 35,000 hogs; and 15,000 sheep.

The substantial reduction in the supply of sheep and lambs yesterday, the result of the ruinously low level of prices last week, strengthened the position of the trade and some good grades finished slightly higher.

Top kinds to packers and shippers sold at $14.75@12.00, while bulk of medium to good kinds brought $10.50 @11.50, and extremely heavy around $10.00. Prevailing quotations are largely 25@50c above the low spot middle of last week. According to reports lamb feeders have curtailed the marketward movement of stock in an effort to stabilize the market.

Receipts at the seven western markets at 63,000 were 20,000 smaller than the previous Monday's supply, but were slightly above normal for the time of year. All market centers have been glutted with lambs during the last few weeks. The year to date total at the seven points is 186,000 larger than a year ago, a gain of nearly 12 per cent over 1929, which was one of the largest years on record for lamb production.

Better grades of light hogs and light butchers sold freely at the early advance of 15@25c yesterday, while medium quality and extremely heavy dragged along on a generally steady basis. Some of the heaviest were slightly below last Friday's level, when the general market finished with most of the early gain erased.

The extreme top and general average prices established new high marks for the season at $11.50 and $10.95, respectively, showing 25@45c gain over the previous Monday. Small packers, shippers, and city butchers absorbed the "cream" of the supply on the upturn.

With the exception of a few "specialties," tendency in the cattle market ruled weak to lower soon after the opening yesterday. Bulk of cattle of mediocre quality changed hands at reductions of 15@25c, some sales at the extreme close showing even more loss.

SINCLAIR MERGER OF PRAIRIE OIL IS DEEMED CERTAIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 17.—Merger of the Prairie Oil and Gas company with the Sinclair Consolidated Oil company is now regarded as a certainty because of the prolonged presence of officials of Prairie Oil in New York. Officials of that company have been here for the last three weeks and announcement of the terms of the merger is expected to be made within the next few days.

It was learned today that the acquisition of the properties of the Rio Grande Oil company in California, has assumed an important part in the conferences that have been held by the officials of the two companies.

EXCHANGES DECLINE ON NEWS OF FRENCH MINISTRY'S FALL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 17.—The decline in European exchanges was given fresh impetus today by the news of the fall of the Tardieu ministry in France. The price of francs reached a new low for the year, as did the quotations for sterling and pesetas. Throughout the rest of the list of European currencies softness prevailed.

The fresh drop in the exchange on Paris today brought the franc to within about three-quarters of a point of the price at which foreign exchange experts calculate gold could profitably be moved from France to this country. At its closing price of 3.91 9-32 cents for cable transfers, the franc showed a decline of 3 11-32 points from its recent high level of 3.94⅝ cents, reached on Dec. 24, last.

The growing possibility of a gold movement from Paris to New York has given rise to conjectures as to whether the Bank of France might not choose to release some of its large stocks of gold held in this market under earmark at the Federal Reserve Bank of New York rather than see the metal leave France.

UTILITY SHARES PROMINENT IN TRADING HERE

Middle West Turnover Is Over 52,000 Shares.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Trading was quiet and price fluctuations narrow on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. Small bulges developed in a few spots but for the most part the list was slightly lower.

The utility stocks were active and soft. Middle West was far out in front in point of volume with sales of more than 52,000 shares, but the price was off a fraction at the close.

Insull Utility sold down to 67½ during the day, following release of the annual report, but recovered most of the loss. Corporation Securities, the other Insull holding firm, yesterday showed some weakness during the session but was unchanged at 70 at the close. A few of the less active stocks in the utility group showed gains. Central Public Service A improved 1¼ on light sales and Central Public Service, Delaware, jumped 10 points on an odd lot transaction.

Auburn Up 4 Points.

Automotive issues fared better than most of the other groups and a few of the stocks registered advances. Auburn was up 4 while Bendix netted more than a point. Houdaille Hershey B improved an even point and Allied Motor Industries finished up a fraction.

Gleaner Combine Harvester sold off following action of directors in increasing the annual dividend rate from $1 to $2 by the declaration of a quarterly payment of 50 cents.

Following a meeting of stockholders at which proposed changes in the capital structure were ratified, directors of the Missouri Kansas Pipe Line company voted to create a voting trust in which will be placed an amount of the newly authorized B stock equal to the present common stock outstanding.

Name Trustees.

The voting trustees of the trust will be Frank L. Parish, president, Francis I. Du Pont and Ralph G. Crandall, directors. Voting trust certificates will be offered to common stockholders on a share for share basis.

Stockholders earlier in the day had approved the plan to increase the common stock from 700,000 to 5,000,000 shares and to create 5,000,000 shares of $1 par class B stock. The number of B shares, to be outstanding is not to be in excess of the common shares outstanding.

The B stock will have the same privileges as the common except that the latter class will have the right to elect one more director than the B class.

R. J. Reynolds Tobacco.

A. N. D.: R. J. Reynolds Tobacco company reported increased earnings for 1929 and during the current year is expected to benefit substantially from the advance in cigaret prices late in 1929. The advance of 40 cents per thousand in cigaret prices will net the company 35 cents additional per 1,000 cigarets of production.

It was stated toward the close of 1929 that the company had shown consistent gains during the year in the sale of Camel cigarets, but that it had made the greatest gain in the sale of smoking and chewing tobaccos, which have afforded a high margin of profit.

Net income in 1929 was $32,210,521, against $30,172,563 in 1928. After dividends there was a surplus of $6,710,521 for 1929, against $4,172,563 the year before.

Earnings were equal to $3.22 per share on 10,000,000 combined common and class B shares [par $10] outstanding, against $7.54 per share on 4,000,000 shares [par $25] in 1928. Figured on the basis of the present number of shares outstanding, 1928 earnings would have been equal to $3.02 per share.

At the close of 1929 current assets were $120,532,496 and current liabilities were $9,776,970. This left a net working capital of $110,755,526, which compares with $126,236,230 a year before.

Profit and loss surplus as of Dec. 31, 1929, was $51,579,859, against $44,869,338 at the close of 1928.

The dividend rate on the common and class B stocks was recently increased to $3 per share.

Both classes of stock are regarded as high grade among common stocks.

Wahl.

A. S.: Directors of Wahl company, manufacturers of pencils, fountain pens, automotive accessories, and other metal products, took no action on the dividend on the preferred stock at their meeting early in February. Dividends in arrears on the preferred from July 1, 1928, are equivalent to 10.5 per cent. Earnings for 1929 in the automotive equipment department were disappointing.

The consolidated income account for 1929 showed a loss for the year of $24,869. Adding $76,503, the amount of preferred dividends paid during 1929, there was a total deficit for the year of $101,372. In 1928 the company reported net profit of $206,782.

At the close of 1929 current assets were $3,168,010 and current liabilities were $681,716. Profit and loss surplus was $942,410.

The preferred stock is speculative and the common is highly speculative.

New York Central Railroad.

ANNOUNCE DEAL WITH BYLLESBY IN LOUISVILLE

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 17.—(AP)—A plan to sell two power plants and all substations of the Louisville Railway company to H. M. Byllesby Management and Engineering company for $3,000,000 and an underwriting of $3,000,000 in refunding bonds by a syndicate of five Louisville investment houses has been announced for the refinancing of $6,000,000 in first mortgage 6 per cent bonds, due July 1, 1930.

In consideration of the plan worked out by James P. Barnes, president of the railway company, the company must sign a contract to buy its power from the Louisville Gas and Electric company, a Byllesby subsidiary. Negotiations on the refinancing have been under way for some time and are declared to be in a fair way to a successful issue.

News and Gossip of Stock Marts

Spurt Attracts.

A spurt in Gulf, Mobile and Northern yesterday attracted attention. The stock turned active last week and yesterday's rise suggested accumulation. Under the Porter plan the road is slated to go into the Coast Line-Louisville and Nashville combination, and the system has been raising a little cash recently.

Moves Up Quietly.

Without attracting much attention, American Woolen common has moved up from the year's low of 7½ to around 20 and the preferred from 19¼ to 44. Tariff hopes are believed to have something to do with the rise.

Style Change Helps.

Changes in ladies' styles, particularly in connection with the return to long dresses, has already had marked effect on earnings of Associated Apparel Industries. Business of this corporation for the first month of 1930 is well ahead of last year, with indications that all sales records will be broken in the next few months. Associated Apparel, the leading manufacturer and distributor of women's foundation garments, earned $6.46 a share in 1929, a gain of about 30 per cent over 1928. The stock, one of the neglected issues on the big board, is yielding 10 per cent around current levels from a cash dividend of $4.

Westinghouse Outlook.

Statistics paint a constructive picture around Westinghouse Electric. Unfilled orders at the start of 1930 totaled $65,000,000, the largest since 1921 and more than 40 per cent greater than at the beginning of the previous year. The company's bookings since Jan. 1 have shown an upward trend compared with the corresponding period of 1929. Westinghouse Electric earned about $10 a share last year. This compares with $8.78 on a smaller capitalization in 1928.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—(AP)—Cotton goods show more firmness in finished lines, notably in printed wash goods and mixed fabrics. Rough weaves in silk goods are in demand for spring and early summer, and Tussah, Doubionia, and china silk going into this grade of merchandise is sold up quite well. Coverts, wool crêpes, tweeds, and fine poplin weaves are much wanted for dress and suit cutting. Rayon for knit underwear purposes continues in good demand.

J. R. Rosenberg Co., involuntary. J. R. Moos, creditor; claims, $1,000. A. Goldenman, attorney.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw declined 1-32c today for duty frees to 3.5c delivered, while Cuban was held at 3.33 by the committee. Price changes in raw futures were irregular, closing net unchanged to 2 points higher. Approximate sales 48,000 tons.

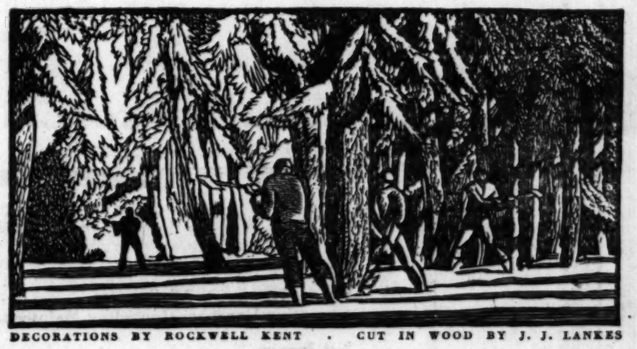
The economic value of Investment Companies



DECORATIONS BY ROCKWELL KENT . CUT IN WOOD BY J. J. LANKES

INVESTMENT companies such as those in the American Founders group must justify their existence by achieving better-than-average results in periods of depression as well as in times of inflation.

The funds contributed by the debenture owners and shareholders are invested and managed with a view to obtaining the highest income consistent with safety—to achieve in "good times" above the average yield and appreciation, and in "bad times" to experience less than an average shrinkage in earnings and market values.

A high average rate of gross earnings of all the five companies in the American Founders group, has been maintained since the first was formed in 1921. Interest and dividends have provided the basic income, while profits from sale of investments have been greater in some years than in others. In 1929 income from the latter source was unusually large.

From the total income the expenses, taxes and debenture interest are paid, reserves and surplus are built up and dividends are distributed to the stockholders. This unified management of the combined funds of many is devised to afford greater safety and income than the average man obtains through his individual operations.

American Founders Corporation, now controlling the other four companies, has consolidated resources exceeding $200,000,000. Copies of the consolidated annual report for the fiscal year 1929 may be obtained from bankers and security dealers or from Founders General Corporation, 50 Pine Street, New York City.

Where Industrial Leaders Seek Counsel

DURING sixty-six years of experience The First National Bank of Chicago has counselled leaders of many of America's most successful business enterprises. When severe tests of business come, when seasoned judgment and an outside viewpoint are essential, the counsel and co-operation of an old, experienced bank are invaluable. Consultation with the officers of this bank is the regular practice of many far-sighted business men.

OUR Divisional Organization meets these needs precisely. The officers in each division are experts in the financial problems of the particular industries and their allied lines. A customer deals with men who are thoroughly familiar with his line of business. Counsel of practical value is assured. Conferences are invited on this and other phases of the complete financial service which is available to individuals, firms and corporations.

The Ace of Spades

By WILLIAM MACLEOD RAINE

SYNOPSIS.

Jim Rutledge, accompanied by Sim Hart, is sent out with a herd of cattle to fulfill a secret trade by his father, Chandler Rutledge. On the trail they are overtaken by some men from the Moss outfit, enemies of Rutledge. The Moss men start a stampede and drive off some of the Rutledge cattle. Jim recovers them, but in doing so shoots and injures one of the Moss raiders. The men of the Moss outfit swear to be revenged for the injury and arrest of him. Jim takes refuge in a ranch house where he finds Ellen Lawson alone in the house. She hides him when the Moss gang comes to the house inquiring for him and sends them off on another trail, even though she learns that he has injured her brother. Jim rides on into the town, after saving Ellen from the unwelcome attentions of Pete Moss. There, the town marshal, threatens to arrest him for the attack on Steve Lawson, but Harvey Pendleton, an old trail driver, arrives on the scene in time to save him from arrest. Shortly afterwards Shear kills Doc Brown, who, he claimed, had threatened his life. This causes a great deal of excitement in the little cattle town. Jim goes into the local gambling joint and is astonished to find Ellen Lawson there. She tells him she has come to speak to her brother Steve. Jim guides her to where Steve is sitting in a poker game with Shear, Buck Roe and others. As they reach the table the lights go out and when the room is again lighted Shear is found crumpled in his chair dead with Jim's knife in his back. Ellen's right hand is covered with blood. She had become separated from Jim in the dark and some one had jostled her. In putting out her hand for support she had touched the crumpled figure. Jim and Ellen are questioned by the sheriff, Manders, and Jim is arrested.

INSTALLMENT XX.

THE RIGHT BOWER.

Jim looked through the barred window, considering the situation. Then he shook his head decisively. "No, Mr. Pendleton, that's not all there is to it. I don't know how to put it exactly, but it's as if the killer had burned his brand into the thing he did. Tell me one thing. What makes you so sure I didn't do it?"

"Because I've known you since you were knee high to a duck. Because you're a white man an' don't stick knives in the dark into yore enemies—if he was yore enemy, which he wasn't."

"All right. Just what I'm trying to get at. The fellow who did this is a certain kind of guy. You or I couldn't have done it. We're not killers—not bad men. But Buck Roe could have done it, if he had a grudge at the marshal. It's up to us to find out if he and Shear had quarreled. Then there's that fellow Black, the tinhorn gambler. He had known Shear back in the old days at Newton. We'll have to look him up too. He's a cold, fishy looking proposition. Either Roe or Black is capable of it."

"Did either of 'em look worried or act nervous?"

"Not a bit." Jim laughed, wryly. "An' both the kids playing did, but there was a reason for young Lawson lookin' scared. He'd seen the blood on his sister's dress and I expect that was a knockout."

"I reckon you'd like to alibi that boy, Jim," the cattleman grinned. "But I'll admit that I've seen a liar on the witness stand who looked like he was tellin' the truth."

"That's it exactly," Jim assented. "I wouldn't expect the fellow who killed Shear to give himself away. Don't forget that ace of spades. The one thing that sticks out is the fact that the fellow who did it is a hardy villain with guts enough to put up a front."

"I reckon you're right. Say, you don't suppose old man Moss could be back of this? He's in town. If he had quarreled with the marshal and had a reason for shutting his mouth——"

Sure I'll treat him right.

"That'll have to be looked into too. According to what that Englishman told me Shear hinted as much the day he knocked me out. And that brings up Sam Moss. The marshal called the turn on him and bawled him out in the restaurant."

Pendleton slammed a hamlike fist down on the table and whispered eagerly across it to his friend. "Why couldn't Sam be Blackbeard?"

Jim considered and rejected this. "I don't think so. Blackbeard was a smoother proposition. Better educated, I'd say. He mentioned his name was Teach. I wouldn't expect Sam Moss to know any more 'n a jackrabbit that Blackbeard's real name was Teach. If I hadn't just happened to have read it somewhere I wouldn't have known it myself. Then the fellow used high-falutin' words—book words that wouldn't be like him. He said 'Zounds!' and 'Sink me!', and he asked Miss Ellen to tread a measure with him."

"Hmp! You're right. That lets Sam out. He didn't do it. We'll duck him off, since he wasn't present."

"Will we?"

"Got to. If he wasn't at the Longhorn, he's out."

"Yes. If he wasn't there."

"If he was there some one would have noticed him, wouldn't they?"

"Maybe not. I've a fool notion some one may have been there who wasn't seen."

"Had an invisible cloak, I reckon."

"Something like that. O, well, it may be a crazy idea of mine. I'll keep it under my hat, so you won't laugh at me. There's another thing you can do, Mr. Pendleton, if you will. Find out for me whether that ace of spades came from a red or a blue deck, and see what kind of design it had on the back."

"All right. Why?"

Jim took from his coat pocket a playing card, the five of hearts. "I helped myself to this while Manders was questioning us. It is one of the deck they were playing with when Shear was killed."

He turned the card over. It had a red back.

"You want to find whether it was from the same deck?"

"Yes. If the ace of spades was from another deck, the killer must have had it in his pocket waiting for a chance. That would cut out even a possibility that some one stabbed Shear impulsively without figurin' beforehand on doing it."

Pendleton's whisper wheezed from excited lips. "Boy, you'll make one of those detectives yet. You're right it would. An' that's not all. Maybe the ace was a kind of a sign. Might have meant something we don't know a thing about."

"That's likely enough too. Wish I could get to work myself checking up on some of these suspects. But I can't—not for a few days. Could you loan me Jerry Denver to do some snooping around? He's the sort of Simple Simon I need, a gabby interrogation mark, but not half such a fool as he looks."

"Sure. I'll send him to you. Well, I'll go hunt up Doc Aubrey. I don't go much on that footprint stuff, but you're the lad in the calaboose."

They called the jailer and Pendleton boomed a request at him. "Hank, you treat this boy right. I know him. He's my friend. Give him good grub an' see he has the makings and anything else he wants."

The jailer nodded dryly. "Sure I'll treat him right. I don't have a lot cases ace-of-spades killer like him in my hotel every day. I've got orders from the sheriff to look after him proper."

"Does Manders think he did it?"

"I dunno what he thinks. Allison lives under his hat mostly."

"He's given me a square deal from the first," Jim said. "That's the important thing. Wouldn't let Roe get heavy and convict me before I had a trial."

"Good. Well, I'll get busy. So long, boy."

The big cattleman went rolling down the corridor.

Jerry Denver came, received instructions, and departed.

Miss Lawson sent a message to Jim that she wanted to see him or some reliable friend of his; she had been twice to The Trail's End looking for Mr. Pendleton but could not find him in. The cattle buyer Dane Sackville visited him to talk over the matter of the delivery of the Circle R herd.

The sheriff himself brought the Englishman to the cell.

"It's right good of you to let me see my friends," Jim said, and his warm smile thanked Manders. "You've given me a square deal from the start."

"So you say. Buck Roe probably has a different idea."

"The idea was to have me hanged first and study the evidence afterward."

"He did seem to be set some against you." The sheriff looked at Jim, with lifted eyebrows that suggested he was willing to listen to reasons if any were offered.

Jim nodded to the cattle buyer. "Take the chair, Mr. Sackville. The law has the first call on my time." He turned to Manders. "We had a difference of opinion down the trail about the ownership of some cattle. He had the drop on him then, but he threatened to bump me off at a later date."

"He's out for revenge, you think."

"Yes, but I have other thoughts too." Jim drawled. "He sat on Shear's left, nearest to his heart."

"Do you know they had ever had any trouble—Shear and Roe?"

"No, I don't. But there's evidence that Shear and the Moss family had a difficulty recently, an' Roe is old Devil Dave's right bower."

"What evidence?"

"There was some talk in the restaurant the day Shear arrested me. I had been knocked cold and didn't hear it. But Mr. Sackville was there."

Good morning!

This film is full of action that you may find suspenseful and thrilling, but to me "Night Ride" was unconvincing and cheaply melodramatic, and it is mine own opinion that Mr. Joseph Schildkraut (usually one of my favorite actors), who as a newspaper reporter has the leading rôle, never saw a newspaper reporter. Certainly neither he nor his director can have observed one at close range.

Joe Rooker, as portrayed by Mr. Schildkraut, is a sort of musical comedy scribe. He flitters and flutters and gestures and, when he talks, seems to not so much speak as prance. Annihilation by laughter is his method of attack, and you are constantly expecting him to step down to some footlights and burst into song—which might go like this:

I'm a blade who reports for a newspa-per.
Yo ho! Ha Ha! Yo ho!
I gather my news in with gay ca-per.
Ha ha! Yo ho! Ha ha!
'Please stay at home!' cries my bride to me,
And I answer, 'Yes, dear, pos-i-tively.'
But, list! The police are calling me!
Ha ha! Yo ho! Ha ha!

Chorus:
Ha ha, ha ha, ha ha, ha ha, ha ha, ha ha, ha HAH!

So I leave her, to capture a killer bold.
Yo ho! Ha ha! Yo ho!
For my blood is hot though the night is cold.
Ha ha! Yo ho! Ha ha!
Though he kidnaps me and bombs my house,
Through fire and water I chase the louse
And when I land him—he's meek as a mouse.
Ha ha! Yo ho! Ha ha!
Chorus:
For a while I think my bride is dead.
O, O! Ah ah! O, O!
And I mourn her deep—with a cold in my head.
Ah ah! O, O! Ah ah!
But the phone it rings, and what do you guess?
My sweetie's safe! Also, yes, yes,
My scoop gets in 'ere my sheet goes to press!
Ha ha! Ha ha! HAH HAH!
Chorus:

You have perhaps gleaned from the above an idea of what the story's all about. If not—never mind.

Mr. Schildkraut is handsome and so lively! Barbara Kent as the bride he is compelled to desert on her wedding night is beautiful and simply the only kind of a wife a reporter like Mr. Schildkraut could have—she being so understanding. The killer is gruesomely portrayed in best ten, twent', thirt' fashion by Mr. Robinson who should enter into a contest with Bull Montana as to who can make the worst faces. Police, other reporters, gangsters, bank messengers and simple home folks perform as the director thought they should perform—in musical comedy style.

The rub that' rubbeth is—"Night Ride" wasn't raised to be a musical comedy or any other sort of a comedy.

THE CAST.

KIND: Just one of those pictures.
QUALITY: Fair of its kind.
PHOTOGRAPHY: Good.
ACTING: Not bad considering the story. The best work is done by the manager of an amusement park dance hall, but the company didn't care enough about him to put his name in the cast, so that is that.
DIRECTION: Well—considering the story . . .!
STORY: Concerns the activities of three sailors on shore leave. They are off dames when the story opens. As it proceeds and when it ends—O, my . . .!
DIALOGUE: The less said about it the better.
REMARKS: "Dames Ahoy" fits in all right with the burlesque show at the Rialto. If you like the latter you may be amused by the former.
See you soon.

To Start New Home for Crippled Children Near Midway Today

Ten years of planning by the trustees of the Chicago Home for Destitute Crippled Children will be realized today. Then ground will be broken on the University of Chicago campus for two new modern hospital units. The new clinics are to rise at a total cost of $600,000, being made possible by gifts of $300,000 each from Mrs. Gertrude Dunn Hicks and Mrs. Elizabeth McElwee.

The two structures, when completed, will take over all the activities of the old home, which for years has been operated at Maypole avenue and Paulina street. The ground breaking ceremony will start at 2 p. m. President Robert Maynard Hutchins and trustees of the home headed by Robert F. Carr, its president, will take part.

The new buildings will adjoin the surgical section of the Billings Memorial hospital. Plans call for 100 beds in the two structures and they will be given over almost entirely to wards, the surgical and X-ray services to be done in the Billings hospital. Features of the new hospitals will include a playroom under glass, a large open air playing space on the roof and a room for the latest therapy equipment.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Question.

Are stout persons jollier than thin ones?

The Answers.

Mrs. Pauline Stout, 1058 Foster avenue, clerk—The majority of them are. I am stout, and I am happy and smiling. I have a good word for everybody and try to make the best of life. Thin people often are irritable.

Joseph Drapekin, 2535 North Parkside avenue, bookkeeper—At one time I was about as thin as a rail, but drank hot water and began picking up weight. But I always had a happy disposition. So I didn't gain anything there.

Charles F. Elliott, 4601 Vincennes avenue, waiter—I believe they are. For they don't worry. In my travels about the country I don't see many of them down and out. You never see a stout man come up and ask you for a quarter.

Mrs. Florence B. Hauptman, 434 Roscoe street, student—My impression is that stout persons are burdened with so many toxins they are disinclined to do anything that involves effort, thus gaining a reputation for being easy going. They seldom champion causes or fight for principles.

Leslie J. Walsh, 6579 Glenwood avenue, secretary—Some stout persons are jollier. Some are not. Thin persons either eat too much or don't eat enough. Perhaps they are too active; at any rate they worry. Stout persons are sounder sleepers. They more easily resign themselves to fate.

Scouts' Career Hailed Curb on Life of Crime

That's Cited as Verdict of Criminals.

If they could start over again they would spend their youthful days, when gang bonds are strongest, as Boy Scouts or in some similar organization. That was the admission from men, many of them notorious criminals, interviewed by an official of the national council of Boy Scouts.

"All of 318 interviewed were agreed that they started to develop habits of crime between the ages of 9 and 18, during leisure time," according to the official's report, made known by the Chicago council of Boy Scouts yesterday. "They agreed that they had not discovered their life work nor had any one helped them to discover it, and all said they were neglected by home, church, school and community in early training when habits are easily formed."

Another example pointed out by the Chicago council was a recent editorial in the New Era, publication of the federal prison, Leavenworth, Kas., which said: "Very few of the men behind these walls would be here if in their youth their desires and interests had been properly cultivated in association with a guiding force like the Boy Scouts."

Scouting in areas of juvenile delinquency will prove a preventive of crime rather than a corrective, in the opinion of the campaign committee led by Silas H. Strawn as chairman, which is attempting to raise $1,250,000 for a four year expansion in the Boy Scout movement in Chicago. The cost of the work on the juvenile delinquency program for the whole four year plan is only $108,600. During four years, based on present available figures, Chicago will spend $6,400,000 to deal with its youthful criminals. It is estimated that 20,000 boys between the ages of 12 and 18 years are brought before the Chicago courts at an annual cost of $1,600,000. Scouting will be pushed in eight areas where juvenile delinquency flourishes.

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

THE comedy that put the word "benedict" into the English language as a label for a wary bachelor entrapped by matrimony, served the Shakespeareans from Stratford-Upon-Avon for a debut at the Garrick last night. These pilgrims from the shrine of the Swan, representing the full strength of the Shakespeare Memorial Theater, are here for a fortnight, with a repertory of nine plays—four of the tragedies and five of the comedies. They may be counted on for a rich and mellow cycle of these ever-vital classics.

"Much Ado About Nothing" is Shakespeare in his lightest mood. It is a comedy of Elizabethan manners in their most graceful and witty style. It charms and dazzles the reader, under a library lamp, with its flow of epigrams, verbal felicities, puns and wise-cracks—and on the stage it falls wide open, revealing thinness of structure and feebleness of action. It is a comedy of dialogue, written, no doubt, for the "sophisticates" of the Elizabethan court; and like all plays of the type its flash and glitter of talk seem rather pale in revival.

It is a favorite of the Shakespeare students rather than the Shakespeare playgoers; and one may easily imagine that it didn't have much of a run when it was a novelty in the roaring, lusty days of man-teasing Queen Bess. Not a strong card for an opener, this "Much Ado," even though its Benedick and Beatrice are rôles that players yearn for. Yet Stratford favors it for a lead, perhaps because it has never been staled by frequent performance.

This company of Stratfordians answers to the roll-call of last year's tour, with a new actress or two to strengthen the feminine wing. So here is Wilfrid Walter, whose personality gives him the rôles of swaggering, soldierly virility, as a jovial Benedick; and here is the well-remembered George Hayes, whose soberness of visage places him in the poetry of Hamlet and Romeo, as "Much Ado's" second juvenile, the suave Claudio. In the Beatrice, however, we make a discovery—an actress of true Shakespearean personality, especially gifted for the major comedy rôles, named Fabia Drake.

Miss Drake has an alert Gainsborough face, decidedly pretty, and a light, swift, expert touch as a comedienne. Her Beatrice is a thorough lady, too fond of her own wit, but always good company. In casual, unskilled hands, Beatrice is likely to emerge, in performance, as merely a sarcastic minx; but Miss Drake gives her the charm of polite breeding. She is an actress of modernized style; and there is something in her sly, bright smile, her quizzical slant of humor, that might be said to suggest the method of the utterly non-Shakespearean Ina Claire.

These seasoned Shakespeareans carry the Memorial theater tradition lightly. There are fifty years of a classic ritual behind them, but their manner is up-to-date. They read the mighty [and often obsolete] lines with a beautiful clarity of vigorous, lucid English speech. They get under the skin of Elizabethan character and bring the old romance to light. Their costuming is gay, decorative scholarship. Taken by and large, they stand for the soundest interpretation of Shakespeare's plays that can be found on the English speaking stage in this era of neglected classics.

"Dear Old England," a comedy with a London vogue behind it, opened a four weeks' engagement at the Princess theater last night under the auspices of the Dramatic League of Chicago. This play is the last of the league's subscription season. The performance will be reviewed tomorrow.

Public Trusting Patent Foods, Physicians Says

Bottled Curealls Called Out of Fashion.

Health foods—so called and recently advocated as cure-alls and workers of miracles—are just foods and the public need expect no unusual results from them, Dr. W. McKim Marriott of St. Louis declared yesterday. He was speaking at the annual congress of the council on medical education, licensure and hospitals of the American Medical association.

Dr. Marriott is professor of pediatrics and dean of the Washington university school of medicine and physician in chief at the St. Louis Child hospital. The meeting of the medical men from all over the United States opened yesterday in the Palmer house, where it will continue in session until Wednesday evening.

Dr. Marriott told his colleagues that the heyday of patent medicines is at an end, but that the so-called health foods have captured the public credulity in their place.

"The public has learned that health can't be purchased in a bottle," Dr. Marriott said. "Shotgun prescribing by physicians is being superseded by a return to the use of drugs of known composition and action. But the food fakers and their products are on the ascendancy.

"Newspapers, magazines and medical journals are filled with food advertisements in which the claims rival or even surpass the most lurid of patent medicines in all their glory."

Dr. Marriott said diets may help or cure persons suffering from a variety of diseases, but he warned that no miracles must be expected from food alone.

"The food fakers have paved the way for an army of patent food manufacturers who would fill our cupboards with health foods guaranteed to make us fat or thin, to give us vigor, vim and vitality, to make us beautiful and to keep us from growing old, to give us 'it,' or to ward off the perils of high blood pressure, Bright's disease, acidosis, diabetes or dyspepsia.

"There are the diabetic foods, the predigested foods and even the brain foods.

"The truth is, a proprietary food is just a food and nothing more. No matter what name it is sold under it consists of one or more of the recognized food constituents—proteins, carbohydrates, fats, vitamins or minerals.

"No proprietary food can accomplish any results that cannot be accomplished by the same constituents fed in the form of ordinary foods."

The St. Louis educator said proprietary foods sometimes have value as a change of diet for patients no longer relishing another food. He charged that there are many food fakes on the market.

"The American Medical association," he concluded, "is now investigating these foods and will publish the facts in its Journal. Physicians need only watch these publications to warn their patients against the wrong use of useless foods. The newspapers may get the facts out of the Journal if they want to spread them generally."

Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the Journal, also addressed the meeting. He attacked certain practices of state boards of examiners and said they must be concerned with who stays in the medical profession as well as who enters it.

While the American Medical association congress met in one section of the hotel the Central Council of Nurses met in another. The meeting of nurses declared there were not enough visiting nurses in industrial cities. Edwin R. Embree, president of the Julius Rosenwald Fund, said that graduate nurses are not highly enough educated generally and that there is consequently an oversupply of them.

On the steps of the University hall at the Evanston campus of Northwestern university yesterday, President Walter Dill Scott of Northwestern presented silver loving cups to 52 sophomores each representing a fraternity or sorority, who had won the highest scholastic average of their individual Greek letter groups during freshman year. Deans of the various schools witnessed the presentation, held in academic robes. The cups were donated by Thomas A. Airth, Northwestern alumnus and president of the Evanston Chamber of Commerce.

Rosenwald Foundation's $10,000 to Aid Negro School

Springfield, Mo., Feb. 17.—(Special.)—The Julius Rosenwald foundation of Chicago will give $10,000 toward the new Lincoln school for Negroes here, the board of education announced today.

'Albright's Paintings of Children Are Real; Shown at Revell's

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The All-Illinois Society of the Fine Arts is sponsoring a charming exhibition of paintings by Adam Emory Albright in the Revell Art gallery. The exhibit opened Saturday with a formal reception in the afternoon, but not until yesterday did it get into its stride of popular haven to the public—the public which likes children and considers beauty in a painting not misplaced.

For thirty years Adam Emory Albright has been painting children. He had two boys of his own and for a long time they were his models. When they grew up the neighbors' children were called into service, and Mr. Albright has never been without a model. The current exhibit carries us back as far as Wales in 1900, where the artist painted a trout stream and misty, barren hillsides, typical Welsh landscapes, softened by the introduction of two bonny children.

The more recent paintings show us California and the countryside around Warrenville, Ill., where Mr. Albright's summer studio is. One or two pictures were painted in Pennsylvania. About them all hangs an irresistible charm. The flavor of happy childhood is on them. They are sunny and bright and eminently satisfying. They are lovable pictures. The children are brisk, natural little creatures, busy with fishing or picnics or digging in the sand. Behind them the canvas is filled with warm colors, picturing hills or beach or sea or wood or stream. The "barefoot boy with cheek of tan" walks here, and so do all his countless brothers and sisters, a glorious galaxy of youth and fun.

"Pelicans" is the exception to the rule of a child per picture. No children are here, but two solemn birds, well painted, against a rhythmic sea. Among the delightful paintings with children are "Hazelnutting," "An Old Log in the River," "High Above the Alleghanies," "The Hills of Capistrano," "The Pond," "A Moss Covered Boulder," "Grandfather's Farm," "Baiting the Hook," and "A Holiday."

The exhibition will be on view for a month.

'Should Divorce Be Easy as Marriage?' Debate Mar.7

Dr. Horace J. Bridges, leader of the Chicago Ethical society, and Prof. Arthur James Todd, professor of sociology at Northwestern university, will debate on the question, "Should divorce be made as easy as marriage?" at the Illinois Women's Athletic club on March 7.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 17.—The marriage of Miss Mair Gwendolen Hughes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Francis Hughes, to Capt. Charles G. Stevenson Jr., U. S. A., will take place tomorrow in the church of the Epiphany in Brooklyn. Capt. Stevenson is the son of Maj. and Mrs. Charles G. Stevenson.

Mr. and Mrs. Archer P. Fahnstock are spending several days at Atlantic City.

Mrs. Gerard Cox and Miss Eleanor Cox are spending several days in Atlantic City.

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

GIRL'S DRESS.

The school girl has taken to fluttering tiers, which are low placed as on her elder sister's frock. The hip is smooth fitting and the tiers are gathered and take a diagonal line, finishing with a bow at the left side hip. The bodice has a pointed yoke of contrasting material, which also fashions the cuffs. Navy blue wool crêpe with red piping and printed rayon crêpe in a geometric pattern of red tones on a dark blue ground are attractive for this dress.

The pattern, 3250, comes in sizes 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. Size 8 requires 2¼ yards of 39 inch material with ¼ yard of 30 inch contrasting and 1¼ yards of binding.

University of Wisconsin Club Gives Play April 14

"Button, Button," the 31st annual production of the Haresfoot club of the University of Wisconsin, will be presented in Chicago at the Eighth street theater on April 14. The Haresfoot club is a member of the Collegiate Musical Comedy league, which includes Black Friars of the University of Chicago, Princeton's Triangle club, the Hasty Pudding club of Harvard, Mask and Wig of the University of Pennsylvania, and the Mimes of Michigan. Robert De Haven of South Bend, Ind., is the author of this year's production.

Plan Swiss Night.

The International Students' Association of the University of Chicago will give a "Swiss night" at Mandel hall Feb. 22. Costumes from the French, Italian, and Germany speaking cantons will be worn, Swiss songs sung, and dances given.

When Pain Comes

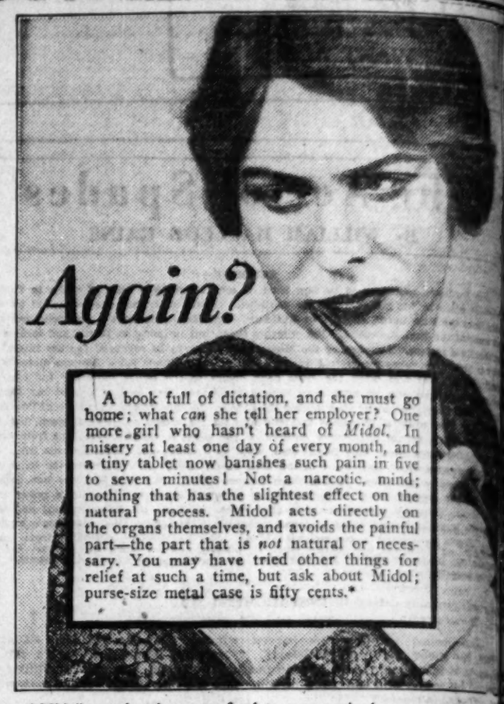
Two hours after eating

What many people call indigestion very often means excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been overstimulated, and food sours. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acids instantly. And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali in water will neutralize instantly many times as much acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use crude methods when once you learn the efficiency of this. Go get a small bottle to try.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drug store.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor, Charles H. Phillips, since 1875.



Again?

A book full of dictation, and she must go home; what can she tell her employer? One more girl who hasn't heard of Midol. In misery at least one day of every month, and a tiny tablet now banishes such pain in five to seven minutes! Not a narcotic, mind; nothing that has the slightest effect on the natural process. Midol acts directly on the organs themselves, and avoids the painful part—the part that is not natural or necessary. You may have tried other things for relief at such a time, but ask about Midol; purse-size metal case is fifty cents.*

* Midol's comfort is not confined to any certain days or age. It relieves at any time of life. Its ease is felt immediately in cases of nervous headache, backache, cramping, hot flashes and all febrile pain peculiar to women.

Squash Racquet Tourney Near; Stirs Society

BY THALIA

The Racquet club should be an exciting place this week-end, as the national squash raquets championship tournament is to be played on Friday and Saturday.

Most of the players from other cities are expected to be here for the play. The Racquet club couldn't possibly accommodate that many, various members will be hosts to some of the visitors. Since the game is the important thing, the social aspect of the affair will not be stressed.

Last year, a group of prominent New York men and their wives came for the tournament, and the Howard Linns, the Barrett Wendells, the Joy Armours, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Reynolds gave parties for them. The list of out of town players this year will come from all parts of the United States will not be received today and plans for whatever entertaining is to be done are waiting. Preston Boyden, James H. Douglas Jr., John Farwell, and Thomas Taylor will probably defend the honors for the Chicago team.

Word has come from the west of the announcement by Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Jameson, formerly of Hubbard Woods, and now residing in Santa Barbara, Cal., of the marriage of their daughter, Katharine, to Richard Tudor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Owen W. Tudor, also of Santa Barbara.

Mrs. William C. Pullman, Mrs. Edgar Starkweather Haskell, and Mrs. Charles S. Peterson are to assist Mrs. William E. Wright at the Drama League's program and tea this afternoon at the Blackstone hotel. Besides Mrs. Untermeyer, who is to speak, guests will include Francine Larrimore and Charlotte Granville of "Is Zat So Gay," members of the Stratford-Upon-Avon Players, and Gladys Hamilton, another New York actress. Miss Helen Tieken, second vice president, is to preside in the absence of the president, Mrs. Marvin E. Hewitt Jr., who has gone south.

The women who are to pour at the tea to open Mrs. Robert Hutchins' exhibition of sculpture at the Chester Jackson galleries on Friday include Mrs. John Rockefeller McCormick, Mrs. Edward G. Brewster, Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, Mrs. Charles H. Swift, Miss Ruth Moeller, and Mrs. John Shapley.

The Arts club has cards out for a recital by Martha Graham of the Dance Repertory theater on the evening of Feb. 25. Dinner is to be served at 7:30. The program will begin at 9 o'clock.

The marriage of Mrs. Albert Acher and Miss Forest to Ernest George Gilkroe took place on Feb. 1 at the American cathedral in Bombay, according to cabled information to the bride's relatives here. Mr. Kilroe is in the Indian Civil service, and the honeymoon runs until a year from next summer. Then he and Mrs. Kilroe will come to live permanently in Miss Forest. Mrs. Kilroe is coming to this country, however, this winter, to join her sister, Mrs. Alma Dickson, who has taken a house at Jamestown, R. I., for the season. With them will be their two youngsters, Mary and Alma Acher, who are now at the Plaza Arms school in Washington, with Mrs. Acher, who is staying with Mrs. Dickson, and the latter's children. Mrs. Kilroe was Miss Frances Forest before her marriage to Col. Kilroe, who died. She is the daughter of the late Maj. Gen. Harry F. Hodges, United States army. Mr. Kilroe is stationed at Jubbulpore, India.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert R. Erskine is having a gay time abroad. She is traveling with Mr. Erskine's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. James Carey Evans of Buffalo. They have been motoring and are now on a boat trip down the Nile. Mrs. Erskine probably will be away until some time in April. Mr. Erskine is just back from a short hello and goodbye with the Erskines' son-in-law and daughter, the Paul Fenimore Cooks of Cooperstown, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Bennett and the new baby Bennett were to return this week from their wedding trip in the south. Mrs. Bennett is the former Mrs. Olive Mead.

Mrs. Louis Ellsworth Laflin of Lake Forest and her son, Louis, are in Egypt to remain until spring. They are now about to the various points and places of interest.

TAKES UP WHERE MOTHERS LEAVE OFF

Yes, PEBECO is a "grown-up" tooth paste—one made for those who have passed ordinary dentifrices selection. For PEBECO takes up where others leave off. It cleans—like a dentifrice. It whitens—without scratching. It is an astringent. And it also stimulates the flow of saliva which checks acid, and thus retards decay. Use PEBECO'S fluoride content with PEBECO'S fluoride basis. In a week you will see why it is a dentifrice for people who think for themselves.—Adv.

Hoover Mountain School Opens Next Monday for Pupils

Madison, Va., Feb. 17.—(AP)—Deep in the Blue Ridge mountains where snow now sifts through the wild oak branches, President Hoover's little school for 30 mountain children will open its doors next Monday. Bad weather prevented its opening today.

Miss Christine Vest will be the school's first teacher. There will be no ceremonies at the opening, for Mrs. Hoover has announced she will visit the school in about a month. Some of the children who will come to the school never have ridden on trains. Some of them never have even seen one. The biggest excitement in their lives has been "hog-killin' time" at their mountain homes.

The last federal census showed 969 illiterates in Madison county where the school is located. This is a much lower percentage than in some of the other mountain counties. Amherst county had 2,351 and Franklin 2,636.

The visit of 12 year old Ray Burcher, who brought a possum to President Hoover in his Rapidan camp last summer, is said to have been responsible for the school. President Hoover personally is financing it. The school is only a few miles from his summer camp. He made plans for it last summer.

Purdue Chemist Says Paint Makers Use Radium Doctors Need

New York, Feb. 17.—(AP)—Cancer and luminous paint divide most of the world's radium and more is greatly needed for cancer, the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers was told today by Richard B. Moore, head of the chemistry department of Purdue university.

"With hundreds of thousands of cancer patients dying each year in the civilized countries of the world," he said, "one of the greatest medical needs of the world is more and cheaper radium.

"The world's total production up to the present probably has been between 500 and 550 grams of radium element. How much of this has been dissipated through luminous paint, especially during the war, is unknown. Undoubtedly the larger part of the radium produced has been used for that purpose.

"Only 25 grams can be accounted for in the British isles for medical purposes; in France there is twice that amount. Although two hospitals in this country possess over 5 grams each there is probably not more radium in this country than in France.

"Using these figures as a basis for estimate of the amount in other countries, it is doubtful if the world's supply of radium for medical purposes is over 250 grams, probably less."

Tony Abele, Pianist, Amalie Birnbaum Give Pleasing Recital

Tony Abele, pianist, and Amalie Birnbaum, violinist, appeared at Kimball hall last night in a program of three sonatas written for their two instruments. One, by Ottorino Respighi, illustrated the trend of modernism as it affects the sonata form; the others, Brahms' in A major and Saint-Saëns' in D minor, are rather more conventional, at least in harmonic and melodic structure.

The Respighi work, speaking as it does, the contemporary idiom, is at the same time a well planned work, developed with a fluency that goes a long way toward concealing the small number of important musical ideas that it possesses. It has its charming moments, like all of Respighi's other works. Like them, too, it has its stretches that deal more with the technic of the studio than the inspiration of the composer. But the two artists had given faithful study to the performance of the piece, and evolved a smoothly running, well belanced ensemble of considerable interest.

Percy Grainger, whose piano recital was announced for last night at Orchestra hall, was ill and obliged to postpone the event. Henry E. Voegeli, manager of the hall and the concert, was unable at the time to fix a future date upon which the recital might be given.

Professionals and students of the dance will be welcomed on the stage of the Civic Opera house Friday morning at ten o'clock for tryouts for the Chicago Civic Opera ballet in the 1930-'31 season. Laurent Novikoff, director, and Mrs. Ina Hagenow, manager of the ballet and the Civic Opera Ballet school, will conduct the tests.

It is likewise told that the ballet school will hold two terms of four weeks each during the summer. The first will run from June 23 to July 19, the second from July 20 to Aug. 16.

Autograph Copy of "La Marseillaise" Is Sold, Bringing $850

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Feb. 16.—An autograph manuscript of "La Marseillaise" was sold today at Sotheby's for $850 to Messrs. Maggs.

The manuscript of this stirring song recently was discovered among the family papers of a Toulouse merchant. When the recent owner of the manuscript was asked today if he had any qualms of conscience about the document's fate he replied, "What does it matter if the manuscript goes to England or America? The words are in every true Frenchman's heart."

The manuscript is of two quarto pages, with the signature of the composer, Rouget de Lisle.

Winston Stirs Protest Against New Method for Rhodes Scholars

James H. Winston, Chicago attorney, and a member of the local selection committee on Rhodes scholarships, yesterday launched an active campaign against the new method of choosing American students to send to Oxford. Letters of protest were mailed by Mr. Winston to eleven senators, several governors and many college presidents. He asked consideration of the revised plan, requesting that they oppose it.

By a special act of the British parliament, Rhodes trustees recently were granted permission to group the forty-eight states into eight districts of six states each, the Rhodes scholars to be selected annually from these districts rather than from each state. The will of Cecil Rhodes provides for selection of one from each state. Mr. Winston and others opposed to the change argue that while a higher grade of students may be obtained in this new manner, it will result in unfairness by depriving the less populous states of their rightful quota of scholarships.

"Parliament acted as it did," Mr. Winston wrote, "because it thought it was carrying out American wishes in the matter. This is not true. Rhodes scholars and college presidents generally are opposed to the plan, for it would deprive many states of scholarships that were definitely bequeathed to them."

Lift Out Your Corns

ICE-MINT
THE NEW DISCOVERY ENDS
Foot Troubles Quickly

This new discovery, made from a Japanese product, is certainly a wonder the way it draws out inflammation from a pair of swollen, burning, aching feet. It takes the soreness right out, then the corn or callous shrivels and lifts off.

Hard corns, soft corns or corns between the toes, just shrivel up and lift off so easy. It is wonderful. Just think! Not one bit of pain while applying Ice-mint or afterwards. It doesn't even irritate the surrounding skin.

It imparts such a delightful, soothing, cooling feeling to the feet that you will sigh with relief.

Ice-mint is the real Japanese secret for fine, healthly little feet. It prevents foot odors and keeps them sweet and comfortable. It is greatly appreciated by women who wear high heel shoes and by men who have to stand on their feet all day.

Just ask in any drug store for a little Ice-mint and give your poor, suffering, tired, swollen feet the treat of their lives. It costs little and there is nothing better.

Ice-Mint Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

AVOID UGLY PIMPLES

Does a pimply face embarrass you? Get a package of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights, if you are like thousands of others.

Help cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

Thousands who take Olive Tablets are never cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition, pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound, known by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c, 30c, 60c.

Daily Exercise Helps to Achieve New Silhouette

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Yesterday we were talking about the new silhouette for the new type of frock. If you doubt that underneath that frock you cannot use your figure of last or several seasons back, just try to make the flat but wide-spread waistline fit into the new scheme of line and lure!

A lot of girls who've been kidding themselves that they really did not look their weight are in for an eye opener with the normally placed waistline. The so-called middle-aged spread is "just nothing but" when it gets itself surrounded by a belt, shirring, or plainly marked line of waist. Indeed, it becomes more obvious daily that the new high-waisted clo' ask more of figures than last year's straight frocks did.

Taking off pounds indiscriminately is not the new ambition in our best figure circles. The pounds must come off the back, for the evening clothes are all of a decolleté. They must come off the hips, thighs, and the waist. A strenuous diet does not exactly meet the current requirements. It is curved slimness—not flat slimness that is needed.

You still must be moderate in what you eat, naturally, but to get yourself in trim in the quickest and most assured way I would certainly suggest that you concentrate on the waist and hip line.

If you manage to get those muscles of waist and hip free of any excess fat burden, you automatically will get the back straightened up and loosed from its weight, too. I should advise not more than six bending movements, but urgently request that these be done five minutes by the clock, morning and night, the first week; then, ten minutes the next week and the weeks following.

Don't get your mind all cluttered up with exercise instruction, nor attempt too difficult muscular feats. Your bending to touch the floor in front of you, to the right side, to the left side is an old reliable. Your wood chopping, just another way of bending to the right, to the left, and directly in front of you is another good movement.

And finally, with arms outspread, fling the body around from the waistline, stretching the waist to the right with the help of the arms and back to the left. Feel that diaphragm flatten as you exercise.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Frying a Pork Chop.

Once upon a time I heard a neighbor frying pork chops. I was at least thirty feet away with several obstructions between, yet the sound was like that of an exhaust from an engine.

The forty per cent of water in a pork chop can make a great commotion. The water in the lean part of a pork chop is not protected to any great extent with fat, as the lean of beef is protected, so too hot a fire dries out a chop in about two minutes with this engine exhaust noise that I have mentioned. With all that water lost the chop necessarily shrinks and the meat cannot be finished to make it fully wholesome.

In planning to use pork chops we need to choose a butcher that will cut them so that they will not vary as much as a third of an inch in thickness. With a good board and a cleaver one can profitably do the slicing at home, buying a junk.

Pork chops need trimming at least at home, and the weathered edges and ends of bones need as much attention as the fat to make them immaculate. Therefore, a heavy board is most suitable and convenient for this purpose.

One tablespoon of fat in a pan is enough for cooking six chops. This amount does not supply anything to fry them in, but merely enough to protect the meat. Use home tried out lard or butter, have it genuinely hot in the pan when the meat is put in and you may add all the necessary seasonings to it, if you choose. The meat rapidly cools the pan for a minute or two, and after that the heat should be lowered under it so that a reasonably thick chop may cook eight or ten minutes to a side without a sign of burning. The seasonings added may be salt and pepper. Some people like to add a tiny bit of vinegar.

When ready to turn the chops, raise the fire for half a minute and then quickly turn it down again. Every one who has cooked a chop will remember what the fried out juices look like, if they were allowed to cook out and set, as they can do with an extremely slow heat as well as when the heat is too strong. These juices will look almost like the white of an egg, and are a good sign that the chop is being cooked in the wrong way, which as we have said may be one of two ways. They must be kept in the meat for good success.

Gloves Hark Back to Renaissance Days

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Fortune telling has a universal fascination for femininity. Palmistry will always be more popular with the girls than psychoanalysis, and the hand is certainly the most characteristic feature of our anatomy. Beautiful hands are more than ever important with our new styles. Hands calloused by too many mechanical pursuits might pass muster with the manly tweeds of garconne days, but the smooth and shining textures of the feminine mode show up relentlessly any manual defects. And lovely hands mean more and longer gloves, for the more you protect them the whiter they'll be!

The great Paris couturiers who think of everything naturally did not neglect this point and, as you know, Suzanne Talbot, Chanel, Worth, Jane Regny, and Maggy Rouff all set about designing gloves to complete their creations, with the consequence that not since the days of the renaissance, when glovers were perfumers and poisoners, too, have there been so many pretty and diverting gloves as you can see in Paris today.

Cross the gypsy's palm with silver and she will discover the future hiding in yours. The 1930 devineress can tell your sartorial fortune by your gloves and, believe me! You need a fortune to successfully practice glov'istry, nowadays, when you wear different costumes for every hour of the day and when you must have several pairs of gloves for every costume if you are always to be turned out impeccably.

Suzanne Talbot has put a new line in glov'istry with her gloves of material to match the costume, the furs or the hat. In this accessory ensemble long gloves of burgundy and beige chevron ribbed silk match the sou'wester, pert bow scarf, belt and envelope bag. Such an outfit will add chic variety to any foundation.

Below are two views of Mauboussin's new clip watch, which clings like a little limpet to any vantage point of your ensemble. Here you see it clutching the left cuff of a tailored jacket to attract attention to a slender wrist, but you may clip it on your lapel, your belt, your bag or the left side of your decolleté, if you prefer. This one had a square platinum face mounted on an oblong frame of blue enamel set with oblong cut diamonds. The wearer's initials appeared in enamel below the face. A lovely conventionalized fruit design in pale sapphires, diamonds and pink topaz crowned the top in Mauboussin's best manner.

Treat Your Child as Intelligent Being; Prevent Stubbornness

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Yesterday part of a letter on the stubborn child was published. There is so much to say, even in generalities, on the subject that this threatens to develop into a series.

Yesterday two general but practical and fundamental suggestions were given for the curing of stubbornness—and also for the prevention of it, because the child with whom these methods are used from the beginning is not going to be stubborn.

One suggestion was, treat your child as an intelligent human being. The other was, grant him the gratification of every possible desire that you can, within the range of reason and understanding of his needs.

For the mother who may not have thought much about the real needs of children, both of these statements need explaining. We might be orderly and take the first one first—the suggestion that one step toward preventing and curing stubbornness is to treat your child as an intelligent human being.

Now, to treat your child in a way to develop his intelligence—instead of merely his obedience—you must feel convinced that a little child is an intelligent human being from the beginning. Respect that intelligence and you will soon find yourself doing things which automatically develop it.

Here are some of the ways in which you will show your respect for your child's intelligence:

1. You will ask him or her to do things—not order or command. And your voice and manner will be that of one friend to another—not that of a superior officer.

2. You will make clear, wherever reasonable, why you ask it. After a while your child will have faith in the reasonableness of your requests. And in time you will be able to require unquestioning obedience where it is vital—but only where it is vital.

3. You will answer your children's questions about everything and anything you possibly can. This is a new world to them and you are one of their keys for the unlocking of its mysteries.

All through the night she cried after Jim broke the engagement. She had loved him so! And now he was gone . . . At the office, too, there was trouble. Another girl, far less capable, had been promoted to the position she, herself, had been promised. She was in despair—at the end of her rope.

It's unforgivable

Don't let a case of halitosis jeopardize friendships, love affairs, and business relationships, as so many have done.

The intelligent and fastidious precaution is to use full strength Listerine every day as a mouth rinse. It ends bad breath and improves mouth hygiene.

Kills germs—destroys odors

Full strength Listerine ends halitosis because it is an active germicide*, which attacks the germ conditions that produce odors. Then, being a powerful deodorant it destroys the odors themselves. Even the scent of onion and fish yield to it.

Mediterranean

A Spring Cruise . . . visiting the Western Mediterranean when it is really at its best. The weather is fine . . . the countryside resplendent . . . and the ports less crowded.

Sailing April 8, the "Carinthia" visits Seville, Malaga and Barcelona, Algiers, the Balearic Islands, Carcassonne, Riviera, Naples, Pompeii, Malta, Tunis, Palermo, Cattaro, Ragusa, Venice, Sicily — Southampton, Cherbourg.

Oberammergau — Venice — the Riviera

You may leave the cruise at Venice and reach Oberammergau for the first of the Passion Play . . . or you can enjoy a week or two on the Riviera before proceeding to Paris for the season. 20 days to Naples . . . 35 to Southampton and Cherbourg. The rates ($725 & up) include return—but you may return home at any time during 1930.

North Cape

Sailing June 24 . . . the ninth annual Raymond-Whitcomb Cruise to the North Cape is an ideal summer holiday. It has always been particularly popular with young people . . . just as schools and colleges have closed and the heat of summer sets in, this cruise sails away to the Land of the Midnight Sun.

Russia

To remote Iceland, the impressive North Cape, the Fjords of unrivalled beauty, to Trondhjem, Bergen, Oslo, Visby, Stockholm, Copenhagen . . . to these are added visits of two days each in Leningrad and Moscow.

35 days to Southampton on the "Carinthia"—newest of the great Cunarders. Including return passage, rates $800 & up.

the sunshine vitamin

is important to general health, say scientists, because it favorably affects the amount of calcium in the blood.

Calcium is a vital need in your diet

CALCIUM helps build sound nerves as well as sound bones and teeth. Foods prepared with Rumford Baking Powder afford the body a generous supply of calcium in the form of calcium phosphate.

Then too, cakes and hot breads baked with Rumford have the added advantage of being easier to digest because they are perfectly leavened. With the use of Rumford superior results are assured because Rumford leavening always takes place in the perfect Two-to-One proportion; two-thirds in the mixing and one-third in the oven.

Why not give your family the advantage of these health-building elements and give your cooking the advantage of this perfect Two-to-One leavener? For better results use

Wife Complains That Husband Won't Converse with Her

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"Curious man—or curious woman, rather! I'm willing to be told. My husband never will discuss with me current events. He seems to think a woman should not engage in conversation about the news of the day. I am interested—and miss terribly a mental companionship from him. In fact, he is totally disinterested in anything I do—charitable work, club, house (for I'm tired, too).

"He has no vocabulary for our hours together except when it comes to love making. Justly enough, perhaps, then, he accuses me of being cold and unresponsive. It does seem to me that if he were a little more companionable at other times my feelings would be different. I do want to get along with him. We have been married nine years and, unfortunately, have no children with whom we might unite upon a common ground.

"His friends think he is marvelous. He makes a fine impression—so maybe I am wrong. R. L."

I suppose there are men of the old school, so-called, who cannot and will not recognize the right of a woman to mental life. It is too bad they do not pick out one of the pretty little dumbbells whose greatest mind exercise is over new dresses and the latest makeup. But I suppose if you do draw one of this in the matrimonial grab bag you have to train him. But how, O, dickens, how!

When you look around, though, at the remodeled mates on exhibition, nothing seems impossible of accomplishment. If wives can train jealousy out of their husbands' natures, surely the problem that confronts R. L. is not hopeless. But the way to go about it is not to quarrel because your mate is not talk politics or stock crashes or have parlays with you. Quarrelling only will make him more stubbornly resistant to woman's education. But if you're wise to act (with this type of man, and, of course) as if you couldn't quite understand what it is all about and wouldn't the great-big-wise-old-thing explain it so you wouldn't seem so dumb, you would have him hashing you dry law appeals and Filipino freedom issues before you knew it.

The trouble with the female brain (and a husband) often is that it is superior, high-hat tone used to the detriment of its functioning. It may be the cast at all with R. L. But, if he instead wants to change her husband to make a go of her marriage, it is worth drawing on some of the tact and feather-beaten wiles that have been successful their advantages so apply in the past.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Favorable Impression Helps.

"Dear Miss Blake: I love a girl, but her parents will not let her go out. What can I do? "TONY."

Be it you can't induce the parents to change their minds. If you make a favorable impression, winning their confidence, they may give their consent.

"Robbing the Cradle."

"Dear Miss Blake: Is it right for a girl of 15 to be going with a boy two years her junior? TULIP."

I'm sure she'd find more pleasure associating with boys her own age, and she wouldn't be accused of "robbing the cradle."

Will Discuss Drama.

Mr. Herbert Valentine Burrows, chairman of the production committee of the Playwrights' theater, is to preside at a round table discussion on "Drama" tomorrow evening at the Drama club in the absence of Miss Ida Gerstenberg, president. Mrs. Burrows has returned from a four months' trip in the east and south, and is to play the leading rôle in Miss Gerstenberg's comedy about numerology, "Try-It," to be given at the Illinois Women's Athletic club in March. Richard Carry of the "Let Us Be Gay" company is coaching the play.

A FRIEND IN NEED

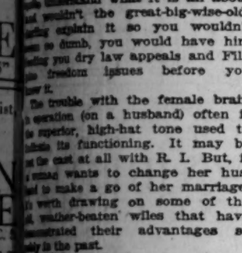
BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

For Motherless Children.

I am writing in behalf of two motherless children whom I have taken into my home. They are in need of shoes, stockings, and clothing. Their mother died a short time ago and as the father was out of work he has been unable to take care of them. I have a difficult time caring for my own family, so I cannot do much for these children. The boy is 7 and the girl is 6, though large for her age.

N. S."

The woman is to be commended for the admirable piece of work she is doing for these children and for her kindness in providing them with a comfortable home. Won't you help her a bit by supplying the clothing they need?



Don't let SORE THROAT get the best of you . . .

Five minutes after you rub on Musterole your throat should begin to feel less sore! Continue the treatment every hour for five hours and be astonished at the relief.

Nothing like the trained hands of a mother, this famous blend of oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other ingredients brings relief naturally. It penetrates and stimulates blood circulation and helps to draw out infection and pain. Used by millions for 20 years. Recommended by doctors and nurses. Keep Musterole handy—jars and tubes.

To Mothers—Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $5 for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, The Tribune, Chicago.

My youngest daughter goes to and from school in a bus. This morning a large bus replaced the usual small one. Eager to tell of the great number of passengers it accommodated she exclaimed, "O you should have seen all the people that got on that we had to leave behind before."

C. R.

Junior, 3, was just beginning to notice things, but often found difficulty in telling others what he had seen. Across the road lived a child who could only crawl about and had not yet attempted to walk.

Junior often went over to visit Robert. One day he came home, his eyes gleaming with excitement, and cried: "O, mother! Bobby just got up on his hind legs and walked." M. F.

MEN—FOUR PRESENTATIONS PER DAY of the patented specialty we are selling will make you a minimum of $2000 per week—$10,000 per year in commissions.
There are twelve basic patents on this specialty. This will show you that the article is revolutionary. There are few articles today on which one basic patent can be secured. One patented feature alone has one of the strongest sales appeals of any specialty ever sold. A man who will learn the demonstration covering each of the twelve patents can sell this specialty almost anywhere. Four demonstrations a day which is a reasonably good day's work will make $10,000 per year for the salesman.
No investment is required in this business for samples or merchandise of any kind. If you want to sell an article of wonderful merit, if you are willing to learn the demonstration of a specialty and to work in order to make $10,000 per year, do not fail to call. This is real. 1250 Fullerton, 1st floor, near elevated.
